Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.], revealed in a senate speech today that the Tennessee Valley authority is subsidizing, through sale of its electric power, four great industrial corporations and one private utility system to the extent of $875,000 a year.

Bridges accused the Roosevelt administration of blowing hot and cold, blaming the business recession on monopolies and private utilities on the one hand, while fostering and subsidizing monopolies and private utilities on the other.

Cites Five Companies.

Senator Bridges based his charges on contracts for the sale of electric power entered into by the TVA with the following companies:

1. The Monsanto Chemical company, contract dated May 15, 1936.
2. The Aluminum Company of America, contracts dated July 17, 1936, and July 7, 1937.
3. The Electro-Metallurgical company, a subsidiary of the Union Carbide and Carbon corporation, contract dated Aug. 23, 1937.
4. The Victor Chemical Works, contract dated July 21, 1937.
5. The Arkansas Power and Light company, contract dated June 16, 1937.

Company Saves $400,000 a Year.

The saving to the Aluminum Company of America alone, Senator Bridges declared, is approximately $400,000 a year. He pointed out that this is one of the concerns which was most frequently denounced by spokesmen for the Roosevelt administration in their radio and Jackson day denunciations of monopoly.

Senator Bridges said that President Roosevelt's proposal last summer to create seven regional experiments in socialism along the lines of the TVA prompted him to make an exhaustive investigation of the TVA during the recess of congress.

The result of his investigation, he said, was this:

"The authority was selling a great bulk of its power, not to groups of citizens but to corporations. It was enriching not the people of the area but the wealthiest stockholders of the country.

Asserts Purpose Is Defeated.

"Its great source of electric energy was in effect not helping to build up farms along the Tennessee valley, but helping to build swimming pools in Hawaii for eccentric millionaires and helping to add to the wealth of Wall street capitalists and speculators.

"Even in the case of sale of its power to a privately owned company, I found that the authority had not insisted upon reduction in rates to ultimate consumers. The authority was not passing the benefit of its lower power rates to the general public; it was not even forcing the other contracting party to state its resale rate to the general public.

"I found in brief that the TVA had arbitrarily sold out and contracted away the investment of taxpayers' money, not to further a social purpose, but to benefit a few corporations, and large ones at that—the same type of corporation that the President and administration spokesmen have spent part of their time condemning."

$1,000 Kilowatts Pledged.

Senator Bridges said the TVA had pledged to the four industrial com-

Windsor Gets an Old Pal Out of Madrid Jail

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Don Xavier de Bermejillo, a former Spanish diplomat, was freed from a Madrid jail through the direct intervention of the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain. This was disclosed here tonight.

The disclosure was made after the theft of a wallet from Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador to Spain. The wallet, which was taken from the diplomat's pocket in a movie theater, contained a letter written in the duke's own hand urging Chilton to use his influence to get Bermejillo out of jail.

Envoy Tells of Theft.

Chilton returned to London recently from Hendaye, a French town on the Spanish border, where he has been stationed since the beginning of the Spanish war. He explained tonight that he carried the duke's letter around for "sentimental reasons."

Bermejillo at one time worked in the Spanish embassy in London and became a close personal friend of the duke of Windsor.

"Somehow the duke heard that he was interned in Madrid," Sir Henry said, "and fearing for his friend's life asked me to see if he could obtain his release. This I was able to do with the coöperation of the British consul in Madrid and of the Madrid authorities."

Loses Documents on Reds.

Sir Henry said the stolen wallet also contained £50 [$250] in currency, a blank check signed by Lady Chilton, photographs, medical prescriptions and documents said to relate to communist activities on the Pyrenees frontier.

"It was stupid of me to carry so much money," the diplomat said. "I did not need it and can ill afford to lose it."

He discounted the theory that the loss had any diplomatic significance.

"The papers were not of such importance as to encourage secret agents to follow me," he said.

PUPILS IN ITALY MUST THANK IL DUCE FOR EACH NOONTIME MEAL

ROME, Jan. 18.—Italian school children henceforth will follow this formula for saying grace before the midday meal, which is eaten in school:

"Duce, I thank you for what you give me to make me grow healthy and strong. O, Lord God, protect the Duce, so he may be long preserved to Fascist Italy."

This prayer forms part of regulations issued today by the secretary general of the Fascist party. They were in connection with a new plan under which school children from poor families receive the noon meal free.

HIS WIFE ILL, SO FASTING PASTOR CALLS OFF TRIP

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Very Rev. Israel H. Noe tonight canceled plans to attend the opening session of the state diocesan convention of the Episcopal church at Knoxville tomorrow because of a sudden illness of his wife, who fainted in the deanery. She suffers from high blood pressure.

The last week has placed a strain on the dean's wife, as well as the dean. The deanery has been flooded with telegrams and letters since news of the pastor's fast in search of immortality was announced.

The dean, appearing pale but no weaker than several days ago, was packed and ready to go. He said he hoped to attend Thursday's session in Knoxville if Mrs. Noe's condition improves tomorrow.

3 Feet 7 Inches Tall, He Takes a Bride 6 Feet 4½

Miami, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Billy Curtis, height 3 feet 7 inches, and Lois de Fee, who stands 6 feet 4½ inches, explained "size doesn't mean a thing when you're in love" as they were married today. The marriage license gave the age of the groom, member of a traveling troupe of midgets, as 29 and that of the bride, a former showgirl, as 19. Both said they were from New York.

One Man Petting Patrol to Enforce Spooning Ban

Chester, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A one man petting patrol will supervise spooning in this town's three parks—at a salary of $1,200 a year. William Pollock, a former tractor driver, will patrol the parks on a motorcycle and enforce a ban on automobile spooning parties. Couples may occupy park benches or wander among the shrubbery, however. Pollock is to be sole judge of what constitutes proper behavior.

Bar Magazine with Photos of Co-Eds in Bath

Northwestern university authorities learned yesterday that co-eds had photographed unsuspecting sorority sisters who were taking baths and furnished the pictures to The Purple Parrot, campus humor magazine, for publication.

The authorities seized the issue, which was to have appeared tomorrow, and destroyed a two page supplement of pictures showing university girls in their baths. The magazines from which the supplement was removed will be distributed Monday.

Girls Happy to Coöperate.

Summoned before the faculty board of publications, the students in charge of the magazine admitted that they had supplied sorority girls with candid cameras and asked them to photograph other girls in their sorority houses. The girls who were given the cameras, said the magazine heads, seemed pleased to coöperate.

Kyle R. Morris of Des Moines is the editor. Rodney Daly of 9554 Longwood drive is business manager.

They explained that they had instructed the photographers to take pictures of girls who were concealed as much as possible by soap bubbles.

Editors to Escape Discipline.

The board of publications, headed by Prof. Ward V. Evans, took no disciplinary action against the magazine heads. There was no indication that any would be taken against the photographers. The girls who were photographed, however, were understood to be indignant over what had happened.

Morris and Daly said after appearing before the faculty committee that they had obtained the committee's approval before proceeding. It was known, nevertheless, that the supplement was printed with greatest secrecy.

NEW ANGLE PUTS THE SQUEEZE ON FISHING WORMS

This'll teach angleworms to stop complaining about working conditions: Frank J. Peters has invented an artificial angleworm you squeeze out of a tube like tooth paste, and if it's as good as he says it is, they'll all be out of work.

A tube of Mr. Peter's bait arrived from his home in Portland, Ore., yesterday for the inventors' congress, to be held at the Stevens hotel April 5. The note with it said the amount to be used depends on the size of the fish you're trying to catch. The bait doesn't taste so good, the note explained, but it's too late for that to matter when the fish finds it out.

Vet Corrects Prewar Error; Repays $5 to Treasury

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A world war veteran today sent $5 and the following letter to the state treasury: "Enclosed find $5 refund on account of error in purchase from state arsenal of officer's equipment before the war. Very respectfully, A Commissioned Officer." The treasurer received the donation gratefully and placed the money in the state's "conscience fund."

U. S. AGENTS SPRING TRAP AT RACES; SLAYER OF ROSS LANDED IN ST. PAUL

Ransom Cyclist Is Closeted with Operatives.

Racing eighty miles an hour to meet the kidnapers of Charles S. Ross, a messenger clad all in white carried the $50,000 ransom tied to his motorcycle last Oct. 8. And at their signal he tossed the fortune in bills into a roadside ditch five miles east of Rockford.

That fantastic story of the payment of the ransom came last night from George Kukovac Jr., 26 years old, of 1161 19th street, the ransom messenger.

Kukovac, who vanished yesterday, telephoned home to his mother last night that he was staying in a downtown hotel. It was understood that the young man was coöperating with department of justice authorities and that he would remain with them until the arrival of Peter Anders, the confessed kidnaper, that he might help in completing the investigation.

Acts for Boss' Lawyer.

Kukovac, in telling of delivering the ransom, said he acted under orders of Edmund S. Cummings, the Ross family lawyer, and mysterious men introduced by Cummings whom Kukovac described as Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5.

The kidnapers' letter, which he said was produced by these men, directed him to be on the watch for these signals: Flashing lights of a car, a flashlight blinking in the bushes along the road, and a pistol shot.

In case he was stopped by any one bearing orders signed "Albie," the messenger was to disregard previous instructions of the kidnapers and obey Albie's.

No Denials Made.

The story ascribed to Kukovac and not denied by officials was this:

On the recommendation of Joe and Rudy Dolezal, owners of a motorcycle agency at 1661 Blue Island avenue, he was engaged by Cummings after William Gagenworth of 5043 South Western avenue had been considered for the task. Kukovac said the attorney told him at their first meeting the kidnapers had demanded that the money be delivered by a man riding a Harley-Davidson motorcycle.

On Oct. 8, the second of two mysterious newspaper advertisments, evidently published to let the kidnapers know who would deliver the money, appeared. It read:

Kukovac said Cummings told him to make excuses if any one called to see the car. Later that day Kukovac was summoned by Cummings for final arrangements.

Final Instructions Given.

Kukovac was shown the kidnapers' final letter, postmarked Savanna, Ill. It gave instructions for the motorcycle rider to wear a white uniform and white helmet, and to proceed to Rockford over a course laid out by the kidnapers. The ransom bearer was to leave Washington and Austin boulevards at 6 p. m. that day, pass through specified towns at given times, and be in Rockford at 8:45 p. m.

The package containing the money was to be carried in plain view on the motorcycle at all times.

Kukovac donned the white uniform in Cummings' car at Lombard avenue and South boulevard, Oak Park, a few blocks from Washington and Austin boulevards, and, with the package containing the money on the buddy or tandem seat, rode off. To keep up with his schedule he rode 80 miles an hour out of Melrose Park.

Coupé Races Past Him.

When he stopped in a gasoline station, he carried the money with him. Once he passed a coupé whose driver switched on the bright lights and then raced past him.

"If I observed any of the signals," Kukovac said, "I was to throw the money in the package quickly to my right in the ditch, continue on 300 feet, and crash my motorcycle in the ditch on the left side of the road. I was not to look behind at any time and was to get up on my feet and walk in the direction I had been riding on the left side of the road and continue walking west until they [the kidnapers] passed.

"Exactly five and one-tenth miles east of Rockford I got the light signals once, the quick flashing of the

MRS. ROSS IS GLAD SHE PAID RANSOM, THOUGH IT FAILED

Three months have passed since Mrs. May Ross gave up hope that the kidnapers to whom she paid $50,000 would keep their bargain and return her husband, Charles, unharmed.

Through a succession of gray days Mrs. Ross, seeing only a few close friends, has kept vigil in her apartment at 2912 Commonwealth avenue. She has not been outside more than a half dozen times in the whole period.

Ransom Payment Comforts Her.

The news that Peter Anders had confessed in California to the kidnaping and murder of Ross reached her early yesterday morning. It created no shock. Her friends said that she had not felt, since she gave the government's forces permission to go ahead untrammeled in their search for the kidnapers, that she would ever see Mr. Ross again.

"She takes comfort," said one of her confidants, "in the realization that she did everything possible to get her husband back. Now that she knows he is dead she is more firm than ever in the conviction that the payment of the ransom was right."

Prevents Trap for Kidnapers.

As soon as the kidnaping was reported Mrs. Ross made her decision. Nothing should stand in the way of the safe return of her husband. She it was who entered into negotiations with the kidnapers. She raised the money and insisted to the government men in charge of the case that the payment be made. She even saw to it that no trap was laid for the kidnapers when the money was paid.

"Let me get my husband back first, if I can," she pleaded. "Then the search can begin. I will take orders when I am sure that I have done my part."

This thought comforted Mrs. Ross as she sat last night with Miss Florence Freihage, Ross' former secretary, who was with him when he was kidnaped. She was thankful that she had not permitted any interference with the kidnapers' plans and had carried out their demands to the letter and that therefore no blame could attach to her for her husband's death. She was satisfied with the part she played.

Keeps Agreement with G-Men.

Mrs. Ross kept her agreement with the G-men to take orders after the ransom payment failed to accomplish its purpose. In mid-October she issued a statement warning the kidnapers that, since Ross had not been sent home, she would give them no further consideration. Thereafter, obeying the investigators, she said nothing for publication. She sat and waited for a message—and she dared expect nothing less gloomy than the one she received.

HOW RANSOM WAS PAID.

Turn to the back page for picture story of the payment of $50,000 to Ross kidnapers; also pictures of the killer and ransom messenger.

G-men tightened their grip on the Ross kidnaping and its two murders yesterday with these developments:

1. J. Edgar Hoover, chief G-man, landed in St. Paul with a squad of operatives bringing Peter Anders, the confessed kidnaper and killer. It is expected Anders will be brought to Chicago today.

2. The search for the bodies of Charles Ross and James Atwood Gray, both killed by Anders, is expected to complete the case against Anders.

3. Details of how the G-men traced Anders to the betting window of a race track were told in Los Angeles.

In St. Paul Hoover said the destination of the party on leaving Los Angeles was Chicago, but that a turn northward was made when weather unfavorable for flying was encountered. It was suggested that G-men planned to take the killer to the vicinity of Rockford, to aid in the hunt for the bodies of his victims. Hoover refused to talk about this.

Tell of Race Track Trap.

Pari-mutuel clerks at the Santa Anita race track outside Los Angeles, however, talked freely of the details of the trap which the federal investigators laid for Anders. They were stationed at the track all last week. By agreement with the management 20 of them were placed behind the ticket selling and cashing windows as "inspectors." Their real function was to spot any bills of the $50,000 ransom that was paid to the Ross kidnaper—and to watch for the passer.

Many of the regular ticket men and cashiers were taken into the confidence of the G-men and they also looked for the bills, the numbers of which had been published last October when it became apparent that Ross would not be returned to his home.

In addition to the "inspectors," other federal agents were constantly wandering through the betting sheds. Those inside were to signal them when one of the ransom notes was passed. Only a mixup that included the failure of an outside man to catch a clerk's sign prevented the capture of Anders on Thursday.

Watch Race; Miss Signal.

"The man came right up to my window," the clerk was quoted as saying, "and I gave the high sign. There were several of the G-men outside, but they were so busy looking at a race that they couldn't see me."

Luck broke for the government, however. The next day Anders appeared at the same window to place a bet. This time the agents made no mistakes. At least ten of them converged on Anders, who is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 135 pounds. He surrendered without a struggle and a little later told the strange story of his cruel crime.

He admitted that he and Gray had kidnaped Ross. After the money had been collected—he conducted negotiations with Mrs. Ross for the payment—he killed the eldery retired greeting card manufacturer [he was 72 years old], "so he couldn't identify anybody," and then rid himself of Gray with a bullet. That prevented the necessity of a split of the profits.

Murder Scene Near Rockford.

The double killing took place outside Rockford. The place where the bodies were buried was not disclosed. Hoover said vaguely that it was known to be somewhere outside Illinois, and one guess is that the graves are somewhere in southern Wisconsin.

There is a possibility that the G-men will take Anders today to the scene of the crime and persuade or compel him to lead the way to the bodies. Hoover would say nothing about this, but the likely spots are between St. Paul and Chicago, and the change to the northern route by the flying G-men may have had its reason in this fact.

At any rate, the operatives took no chances on Anders' escape. When the plane landed at the St. Paul airport it was taxied immediately into a hangar. Fifteen men with machine guns, all operatives of the St. Paul office of Hoover's bureau, surrounded it. The prisoner, with hands and feet shackled, was lifted from the ship and placed in an automobile. He was then taken to the bureau offices in downtown St. Paul and locked up there for the night.

Has Record as Bank Robber.

Nothing more has been disclosed of Anders' background. He is a former logger in a lumbering camp on the Pacific coast and, according to Hoover, has a police record, having been a bank robber at one time. Of the slain Gray nothing beyond his name has been divulged. Neither has it been made public whether the pair seized Ross after careful plotting or kidnaped him on impulse.

After the double murder Anders went to Washington, D. C., to the Maryland race tracks, to New Orleans, and finally to California. The government men found traces, they said, of the ransom money in all these places. Anders either was a race track plunger or he figured that the tracks were the best spots to trade off the dangerous ransom bills for money that did not have incriminating numbers.

Seize Suspected Aid.

There is some evidence that he was not entirely a lone wolf. At New Orleans some weeks ago the G-men arrested a colored man, John B. Threalkill, who has a record as a counterfeiter. The city's police said they had been informed the Ross kidnaper had made arrangements, through a go-between in Chicago, to have Threalkill meet him in New Orleans and help dispose of the money.

Threalkill was willing, but the kidnaper failed to appear. It was reported that the government's investigators kept Threalkill in custody and started an unsuccessful search for the supposed go-between.

When Anders was arrested he had only $14,400 of the ransom money with him. The investigators are trying to determine if he cached some of the remainder in his travels or if he lost it all in bets. Hoover said Anders was accompanied from New Orleans to California by a woman, but that she did not know of his crime. She was not held.

Place of Trial Undecided.

Whether the kidnaper-killer will be tried in the state or the federal courts was undecided yesterday, with the balance inclining slightly to the state on the basis of the known facts.

A. Bradley Eben, acting United States attorney, said that the government might keep jurisdiction, even though the kidnaping and killing both took place in Illinois. He added, however, that it was probable the trial would take place in the state courts if it is proved Ross was not transported alive across a state boundary.

"The government," he said, "which has sovereignty in case of jurisdictional conflict with the state, may decide to prosecute Anders on the presumption that he took Ross outside of Illinois. It would then be up to Anders to prove he did not."

Faces Death in Any Event.

In any event the criminal faces a death sentence. State's Attorney Courtney said that if Anders is tried for murder the county in which the crime was committed would take venue. However, he could be tried in Cook county on a charge of kidnaping for ransom, which carries the death penalty.

"But," said Mr. Courtney, "I know nothing at all about this case. We have not been given any information by the government."

The similarity of the pictures of Anders and an artist's drawing of the kidnaper of Charles Mattson, 10 years old, son of a Tacoma physician, led to the belief that Ross' slayer may also have carried off and killed the boy. Young Mattson was found dead Jan. 11, 1937, and Anders is known to be familiar with the territory near Tacoma. The only comment of Hoover on the hypothesis that the same man committed both murders was: "We are not taking Anders to Tacoma."

The Mattson case is the only much publicized kidnaping of recent years that is still unsolved. Ross was abducted Sept. 25 and was slain about Oct. 10.

Berwyn Council Boosts Mayor's Salary $1,500

The salary of Mayor Anton Janura of Berwyn was boosted $1,500 last night by the suburb's city council, which voted him that amount for his duties as liquor commissioner. He gets $2,500 a year as mayor. The vote to establish the new salary carried, 9 to 5. As liquor commissioner Mayor Janura is sole judge of the license qualifications of Berwyn's eighty-six tavern keepers.

WHITE BOY, REARED IN CHINA AS A CHINESE, IN CITY ON WAY 'HOME'

Fung Kwok Young, a white boy with a Chinese name, who has lived so long in China that he has forgotten his native American, was in Chicago for a few hours yesterday on his last lap to his new home in New York City.

Fung Kwok Young.

The youth, now 19 years old, was born Joseph Rinehart in Inwood, N. Y., was adopted by Kung Kwok Young, Chinese restaurant owner in New York, to save him from starvation and mistreatment and given his adopted father's name. He was sent to Fung's old home, upriver from Canton, when he was 4.

His emotions, language, mannerisms, and choice of food are all Chinese. He begged recently to be allowed to return to America. Old Fung sent for him. He said yesterday in New York that the boy's choice of a future livelihood will be entirely his own; he will not force him to help with the restaurant business.

2 Gunmen Rob Churchill Apartment Hotel of $768

Two gunmen entered the fashionable Churchill Apartment hotel at 1255 North State parkway last night and forced two employés to hand over $768 of the hotel funds. The employés —Walter Johnston, the elevator operator, and Fred Norvicki, the night clerk—gave the bandits $21 from the cash drawer and then were compelled to open the office safe and turn over $747 more. The gunmen fled after warning the employés against making an alarm.

Sweden Nabs 2 for Selling Steel Secrets to Russia

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Police today arrested a foreman and another worker in Sweden's Avesta steelworks on a charge of spying for Russia. The two were said to have photographed and described the production of Avesta's specialty-hard steel, important in armaments manufacture.

MICHIGAN JURY FREES MINISTER OF RAPE CHARGE

Paw Paw, Mich., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A jury comprised of one married woman and eleven middle aged men decided tonight that the Rev. Harold Meland, pastor of the Baptist church at Bloomingdale, near here, was not guilty of a charge that he raped a 14 year old girl. The jury deliberated less than an hour.

Reta Ehlerts, a member of his congregation and a former domestic in his home, had testified he assaulted her three times—once in an automobile and twice in the parsonage. She said the pastor came to her upstairs bedroom while Mrs. Meland, a cripple, was sleeping downstairs.

The minister, 38 years old and once credit manager for a Chicago furniture firm, contended the charge against him was trumped up by a small faction in his church who sought his ouster. Mrs. Meland supported her husband throughout the controversy and testified she never had noticed any affection between the pastor and the girl.

INQUIRY ECHOES HAROLD LLOYD KIDNAPING PLOT

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Echoes of a five year old kidnap threat and extortion plot against Harold Lloyd, film comedian, and his three children were heard here tonight.

It was learned that federal bureau of investigation operatives had recently obtained copies of several threat notes demanding $6,000 of Lloyd in 1932 to compare them with similar notes in other cases, including the kidnap-slaying of Charles Mattson at Tacoma, Wash.

"I have thought for the last five years that this affair was dead," said Lloyd tonight. He and his wife, the former Mildred Davis, are parents of three children, Gloria, 13 years old; Peggy, 12 years old, and Harold Jr., 7 years old.

Identifies Two Brothers as Purse Snatching Pair

A father and his two sons were held by the Fillmore police last night after the sons had been identified by Mrs. Rose Gerrick, 1555 South Kedzie avenue, as the pair who snatched her purse containing $1.45 Monday night. Those held are Miles Liska Sr. and his son, John, 20 years old, who live at 1342 South Avers avenue, and Miles Jr., 24, of 1302 Komensky avenue.

bright and dim lights of an automobile 25 or 30 feet behind me. Then I got the signal from the car when it was about 50 feet to the rear. They gave me the lights on and off in a hurry and pulled up to within 10 feet of where I was and again gave me the light signal. I threw the package hurriedly to my right.

Crashes His Motorcycle.

"I was going between 30 and 40 miles an hour and I shifted from third to second speed and shifted to the right running board of my motorcycle and crashed it on its right side on the left hand side of the road.

"I stumbled, but immediately picked myself up and shut the motor and the lights off. I heard a car's brakes scream in the road behind me. The car made a U-turn. I turned around and saw there were no lights on it and I could not see its color."

A man, presumably, leaped from this car and seized the ransom, and the car sped away to the east.

Kukovac said he took off his gauntlets and walked until a policeman in a car gave him a lift. The policeman took him to a filling station, whence he telephoned Cummings' home. A car was sent to bring Kukovac back to Chicago. The ransom bearer later collected $200 pay from Cummings.

ROW OVER BARN FIRE LEADS TO SLAYING OF SIX

Durand, Wis., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A nine months' quarrel between two brothers over the burning of a barn on their farm was held today as the motive for the mass killing of six members of their families. Lawrence Leflay, who did the slaying, had accused his brother, Marvin, of setting fire to the barn.

Lawrence killed himself last night after shooting to death his wife, their daughters, Virgie, 8 years old, and Beulah, 7, and two of Marvin's children, Phyllis, 8 years old, and Virgil, 5. Lawrence also wounded Marvin and felled the latter's wife by a blow with the butt of his revolver.

Sheriff Victor Seline said Lawrence apparently had planned to kill his own family by carbon monoxide poisoning. A hose connected to the exhaust pipe of his automobile had been extended through a bedroom window. Lawrence left a note, the sheriff said, the contents of which were not disclosed.

PRESBYTERIAN GROUP ORDERED TO ALTER NAME

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Common Pleas court today ordered that the Presbyterian Church of America discontinue the use of the name because of its similarity to the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

The Presbyterian Church of America was organized in Philadelphia in June, 1936, by clergymen and laymen who separated themselves from the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. Dr. J. Gresham Machen, who died a year ago, was the first moderator of the new group.

The suit was brought by the Rev. Henry B. Master, then moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., the Rev. Lewis S. Mudge, stated clerk, and the committee of the general assembly.

Mrs. Margaret Guenther Groesbeck, 6200 Kenwood avenue, yesterday was awarded a judgment of $12,564 against her former husband, Daniel Sayre Groesbeck, artist and illustrator, now with a Hollywood movie studio.

Attorney Leo D. Schein told Judge Charles A. Williams that Groesbeck never paid the $12 a week he was ordered to provide for his wife when she obtained a divorce in 1917. Only recently, he said, Mrs. Groesbeck learned where her ex-husband was living.

U. S. COURT HELD IN AUTO; G-MEN GET THEIR MAN

Fly Mail Fraud Suspect from Arizona to N. Y.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The story of how a federal judge in Phoenix, Ariz., held court in a parked automobile in an alley to give force to a federal writ which a local judge had refused to honor, came to light tonight with the arrival at Newark, N. J. airport of Boies Heed, alleged confidence man, in the custody of G-men.

Heed's arrival also served to set at rest reports that the prisoner was Peter Anders, confessed kidnaper and murderer of Charles S. Ross, wealthy Chicago greeting card manufacturer.

Five Will Face Trial Monday.

The story of the Phoenix court action in an alley, involves an alleged effort by Heed, who had been sought by postoffice inspectors for the last five years, to bribe a district attorney of Phoenix, and a battle of writs from which John C. Walsh, assistant of Lamar Hardy, United States attorney here, emerged the winner.

Hardy learned last week that Heed had been arrested in Phoenix after offering District Attorney John W. Corbin a $12,000 cut of what a group of confidence men planned to take from tourists in return for Corbin's protection.

Prosecutor Is Notified.

Corbin ordered the arrest of Heed and a former sheriff, whom Corbin alleged had helped the confidence ring for two years. When postoffice inspectors learned of Heed, they notified Prosecutor Hardy, who appeared before Federal Judge William Bondy and obtained a writ of habeas corpus, directing the present Phoenix sheriff to produce Heed in New York for trial.

Phoenix authorities agreed to the surrender, but before Heed was scheduled to leave for New York, a Phoenix attorney obtained a writ from Superior Court Judge G. I. Rodgers staying the sheriff from removing Heed from Phoenix. Judge Rodgers decided—illegally, according to Mr. Hardy—that Heed should remain in the custody of the sheriff in Phoenix.

Walsh arrived in Phoenix last Monday. He found District Attorney Corbin eager to help. Corbin arranged for Heed to be released from jail. By prearrangement a judge of the federal court in Phoenix was waiting at the jail in a parked automobile. As Heed stepped out agents of the department of justice arrested him, whisked him into the car and the federal judge ordered his immediate removal to New York, after conducting a "hearing" in the car.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

Penalty Is 1 to 5 Years in $6,200 Fraud.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Charles McDonald, larceny, sentenced to one year in the Bridewell by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Patrick J. Billings, quondam movie extra and sleek shoe salesman, lost his dapper assurance yesterday when the jury in Judge Rudolph Desort's Criminal court found him guilty of conspiracy to defraud the Securities Service corporation. The verdict carried a penalty of one to five years in the penitentiary and a fine of $1,000.

Miss Rose Marie Gennarelli, who pleaded guilty to the charge and will learn her fate today, smiled happily at the verdict. As the state's chief witness she said she took $6,200 from her employers, the Service corporation, and gave it all to Billings to further the movie career he boasted to her about.

New Trial Motion Today.

Billings' immediate motion for a new trial will be heard today. At the same time a charge of embezzlement pending against him, and growing out of the same set of circumstances, will be set for trial or dropped. His bond was doubled to $5,000.

Miss Gennarelli, a pretty little brunette whom Billings called "Toodlebug," according to the testimony, told how her love for him had led her first to lend him her own money, then to steal for him when he threatened to tell her parents of her earlier aid. She also was vehement in protestations of hatred for him now.

"Only a Friend."

Billings in his own testimony said he considered the girl only a friend and took the money only as a loan, not knowing where she obtained it. He said he was much surprised and deeply shocked when he learned she stole it.

LEAVES SCENE OF ACCIDENT; GETS TEN DAYS IN JAIL

Albert Graham, colored, of 327 East 56th street, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail yesterday for leaving the scene of accident and his driving privileges were suspended for ninety days for reckless driving. Sentence was passed by Judge J. M. Braude in Safety court. Others sentenced were:

JOHN SHANKS, 31 years old, 6907 Emerald avenue, driving while intoxicated; thirty days in jail, suspended because he already had spent that time in jail, six months' suspension.

THEODORE WILLIAMS, 35, of 3037 Washington boulevard, driving while drunk; $30 fine, sixty days' suspension.

WALTER SMOLINSKI, 30, of 4333 North Marmora avenue, reckless driving; $25 and costs, six months' suspension.

JOHN McMILLAN, 33, of 2245 Winona street, reckless driving; six months' probation, six months' suspension.

PLEADS OWN CASE AND LOSES HER SUIT FOR $50,000

Miss Margaret Marie Fischer, 2821 Cermak road, who acted as her own attorney, yesterday lost her $50,000 damage suit against the Chicago Surface Lines. Judge W. W. Damron discharged the jury and dismissed her suit when she refused to answer a question he ruled was proper.

Miss Fischer, who is 49 years old, alleged her left foot was injured six years ago when she was compelled to walk after being refused a transfer by a conductor on a street car.

Miss Fischer refused to say how many injury claims she has filed with the street car company since 1932.

City Vehicle License Sales for Day Decline to 13,773

City Clerk Peter J. Brady said yesterday's sale of city vehicle licenses dropped to 13,773 from the 17,000 daily average maintained since the first of the year. A total of 377,307 licenses have been issued. Police Commissioner Allman said that unless the number of daily applications increases he will widen the scope of the drive against tardy motorists. The police now have orders to issue about 2,000 arrest slips a day.

Miss Farida Zulfikar, who is to marry King Farouk of Egypt in Cairo tomorrow, will make the trip from her father's house to the palace veiled and in a closed automobile. Plans for a public procession have been canceled in deference to Moslem piety.

EDITORS MUST GIVE INSPIRATION, SAYS OURSLER

The proper rôle of the magazine journalist of today is to portray the great things that have been done under difficulty in the past so that Americans may obtain inspiration to go on living and advance to new heights, Fulton Oursler, editor of Liberty magazine, told a group of Chicago guests at a luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Oursler said "damn the word daring" in connection with criminals. He told of a dinner meeting with Attorney General Homer S. Cummings while Dillinger was the big news of the day—a hero to many.

Mr. Oursler told his audience that at the dinner meeting it was decided that American youth needs a new hero. It was decided then to begin the glorification of the "G-man," to give the youngsters a new figure to revere and emulate.

The subject of Mr. Oursler's address was "The Press in a Democracy," and it was his theme that journalism of the future must function as a useful force in the improvement of human relations under that form of government.

RUMANIA CALLS NEW VOTE ON JEWISH ISSUES

BUCHAREST, Jan. 18.—(AP)—King Carol dissolved parliament tonight and ordered new elections for March 3 to enable Rumania to express approval or disapproval of the anti-semitic, semi-Fascist policies of Premier Octavian Goga. The premier and his National Christian party controled only 9 per cent of the votes in parliament. The king and Goga agreed that it was futile for a "9 per cent premier" to work on a constitutional basis.

The king's election decree changed election procedure in a manner which oppositionists charged would favor Goga. Heretofore parties had characteristic symbols—such as a circle or a square—at the top of their ballots. Rumania's hundreds of thousands of illiterate voters balloted only by those symbols. The king abolished the symbols and government candidates will head the ballot.

Seek Kindling for Wood St. Flat; Cops Put On the Heat

The Brothers Naggo—Walter, Michael, and Frank—went out last evening in their truck to get wood for fuel to heat their flat at 527 North Wood street. They'll keep warm for a few days at least. West North avenue police seized them in a vacant building at 2042 Hubbard street and locked them up after neighbors complained that they were tearing up the floor of the building.

RICH GIFTS POUR IN FOR EGYPT'S ROYAL WEDDING

Bride's Drive in State to Palace Canceled.

BY ALEX SMALL
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 18.—Moslem piety is going to rob the Egyptian people of their one, and perhaps last, chance to see their new queen. The only public feature of Thursday's wedding ceremony—the queen's drive in state from her father's house to Koubbeh palace—has been canceled, it was announced today.

Instead, young King Farouk's bride, Miss Farida Zulfikar, will make this short trip veiled and in a closed automobile. The hour of her departure from home will not be announced.

Thus, Farida's friends lost their battle to introduce some modernity into the ceremony in the hope that thereafter she would escape part of the traditional harem discipline.

No More Photographs.

Conservative religious sentiments governed the decision. Farouk, despite his European upbringing, accepted the wishes of the ecclesiastics, called ulemas, and the powerful Sheik el Maraghi, head of Islam's most powerful institution, El-Azhar university of Cairo.

The ulemas were displeased that Miss Zulfikar is so modern as never to have worn a veil before and more scandalized that she had been photographed. Pictures of the young couple are displayed all over Cairo. Farida is said to have promised that she will never face a camera again.

Farida's adolescent beauty rouses little enthusiasm among the citizens who hold the Moslem idea that a bride does not count except as a prospective mother of sons and heirs.

Farida does not look Egyptian for the good reason that she is of Circassian descent—from a people who furnished the Moslem harems with most of their beauties. She is an accomplished woman, having studied in a French convent here and traveled in Europe. She speaks Turkish, Arabic, English, and French.

Receive Magnificent Gifts.

Gifts of tremendous value are being showered on the couple. Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany is giving a magnificent Mercedes Benz car. The Italian government has given an alabaster statue of the Roman emperor Diocletian. King George VI. of England is giving Farouk a complete sports outfit.

King Leopold III. of the Belgians sent sports guns from the Liege arsenals and valuable tapestries and Sevres porcelain. President Kemal Ataturk of Turkey is giving a set of table linen embroidered from old Turkish works of art.

Among Farouk's gifts to Farida is a necklace with three rows of white diamonds and a clasp clustered with diamonds. It was exhibited at the Paris exposition last year under a price tag of $120,000. Another of Farouk's gifts is a diamond tiara with one enormous emerald in the center. The Egyptian cabinet is giving Farida a necklace of pearls and rubies.

Gold Coffee Services.

The Suez Canal company is giving Farida a silver table service and Farouk an antique Turkish watch. His hobby is collecting watches. Princes of the royal household are giving one large solid gold coffee service and a smaller service of gold studded with gems. The gift from Aly Zulfikar Pasha, the bride's grandfather, is a priceless Koran, centuries old.

The marriage ceremony will be quickly over, in the Moslem custom. At 11 a. m. Thursday the king and his court will gather at Koubbeh palace, the royal residence outside of Cairo, for the signing of the marriage contract. The guns of Cairo citadel will boom out the royal salute and that is all. Only the closest relatives will see the bride, even veiled, and no description of the bridal costume or traveling dress will be made public.

MOORE NAMES FRIEND TO SEAT IN SENATE HE QUIT TO BE GOVERNOR

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A. Harry Moore resigned from the United States senate today, just before his inauguration as governor of New Jersey. Then he appointed John Milton, Jersey City Democrat, to succeed him in the senate.

John Milton.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Moore's senate term has three years to run, but the appointee will serve only until next January, when he will be succeeded by a senator elected for the remainder of the term.

Milton, a member of the port of New York authority, is a friend of the new governor. He was legal adviser to three Democratic governors. Although Milton has been in public life for a quarter of a century, he never has run for public office. His name did not appear in the speculation about Moore's successor until yesterday.

COMPLETE JURY TO TRY WRIGHT AS KISS SLAYER

Raise Issue on Mental State of Defendant.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A jury of nine men and three women was completed this afternoon to try Paul A. Wright, former airport manager, for the slaying of his wife and best friend.

Selection of the jury in the court of Superior Judge Ingall W. Bull was marked by strenuous verbal battles between defense and prosecution attorneys over the value of Wright's signed statement before Glendale police. The statement was given after he shot to death his wife, Evelyn, and his friend, John B. Kimmel, when he assertedly found them kissing on a piano bench in the Wright home.

That Wright's mental state at the time of the crime, as well as several hours later when he signed the purported confession, will be a vital issue in the trial was apparent from the legal bickering.

Emphasize Mental Factor.

Throughout the earlier part of today's session many prospective jurors paraded to the box—some to remain for hours or the duration of the trial, others to stay only a brief time.

"You must consider the state of mind of the defendant on the day of the crime in weighing the statement made to police," Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler told the prospective jurors as he argued with Prosecutors N. Ernst Roll and J. Miller Leavy. "His mental condition at that time is a vital factor in weighing the worth of his statement."

"You must weigh the statements of Wright on the stand in this court with his confession signed in Glendale," Roll countered, "to determine for yourselves if he was not sane both when he committed the crime and when he signed the statement."

Home Diagram to Be Shown.

The first witness tomorrow among the twenty-three scheduled to take the stand for the state will be Fred Kohl, deputy county surveyor, Roll said.

Kohl will exhibit and explain diagrams of the Wright home and the positions of the victims' bodies in the living room when police arrived.

Mrs. Maureen Mitchell Kimmel, wife of the slain man, will take the stand to identify photographs of her husband. Following Mrs. Kimmel will be Mrs. Edith McBride of Detroit, Mich., mother of Mrs. Wright, who will identify her daughter's body from exhibits.

18 NAVY PLANES FAR AT SEA ON WAY TO HAWAII

Largest Mass Ocean Hop in Aviation History.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Eighteen navy patrol bombers tonight were roaring far out over the Pacific on the largest mass oceanic flight in aviation history, a nonstop formation trip from San Diego to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The planes were expected to complete the 2,570 mile journey in eighteen to twenty hours. They took off around 11 a. m. [Chicago time] today and are expected to reach Honolulu at about 7 a. m. tomorrow.

The bombers were 1,067 miles from here at 9 p. m. [Chicago time], radio reports to the naval air station said. The flyers reported good weather and helpful tail winds.

Hundreds of spectators, including families of the flyers, watched the takeoffs. The first of the giant twin motored planes entered the water for its start at 10:40 a. m. All of the ships were in the air at 11:37 a. m.

Seven Aboard Each Plane.

Each of the bombers carries a crew of seven officers and men. The planes met at a point more than 100 miles at sea, as in former mass flights, and arranged their formation.

The aircraft tender Langley is stationed midway between here and Pearl Harbor to provide emergency service. The destroyers Reid and Litchfield are spotted 500 miles east and west of the Langley.

While the navy described the flight as merely routine, it was expected to be watched with interest in Europe and Asia. The navy said it was a delivery by air of new aircraft in conformity with naval policy.

"Such flights," navy spokesmen said, "save transportation charges and afford valuable training in long overseas flight to naval personnel and, in addition, are the best test of materials and engine equipment used in this long distance patrol type of plane."

First of 42 to Be Flown.

The bombers making the long trip today are the first of forty-two the navy has announced will be flown to Hawaii this year. In July or August twelve more will make the flight, to be followed by another twelve around Thanksgiving.

The navy first started this transfer of equipment between the mainland and Hawaii in 1933, when six planes flew from San Francisco bay to Pearl Harbor.

In 1937 five long distance flights were made from here. Twenty-four planes flew the 1,200 miles to Seattle, there were two 12 plane flights to Hawaii, another 12 planes hopped the 3,080 miles to Coco Solo, Canal Zone, and 14 bombers flew to the Canal Zone on Dec. 8, then the greatest long distance mass transfer of aircraft.

Hawaii Asks Approval for New Seaplane Base

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Delegate Samuel King of Hawaii asked the project committee of the national rivers and harbors congress today to recommend early expenditure of $5,000,000 for establishment of an international seaplane base at Honolulu. The congress already has approved plans for the project.

William McGinty, 8 years old, died in Frances Willard hospital yesterday a few hours after he was struck by an automobile while playing in the street near his home at 5243 Lexington street. The driver was Joseph Kelly, 35 years old, 4300 Washington boulevard.

Mrs. Hazel Townley, 33 years old, 4534 North Wolcott avenue, died last night in the Chicago hospital from injuries incurred early yesterday when the automobile driven by her husband, W. F. Townley, struck a safety island in the Outer drive at 47th street. Townley received minor injuries.

Peter Schmidt, 75 years old, was killed last night when he was struck by an auto on route 20, near Elgin. The driver did not stop. Schmidt lived above a tavern a mile east of Elgin.

Stanley Korbas, 20 years old, 3351 West 38th place, was fatally injured last night when his automobile collided with a truck at Kedzie avenue and 37th street. The truck driver, Joseph Thiry, 29 years old, 4806 Chase avenue, Lincolnwood, was held by the Brighton Park police.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 59 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these forty-five were killed in Chicago, where 782 were injured in the same period.

Ice on Plane Is Described at Quiz in Crash Killing 10

Bozeman, Mont., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Testimony that ice forming on the tail fin may have caused the crash of a Northwest Air Lines plane, fourteen miles northeast of Bozeman, Jan. 10, with loss of ten lives was presented before a department of commerce board of inquiry today. Bert B. Castellano, Western Air Express dispatcher at Butte, testified he noticed ice on the ship when it landed at Butte, but said the ice melted before the plane took off.

DEFENSE ARGUES OIL MEN SOUGHT TO AID INDUSTRY

Charges Prosecution with Injecting Prejudice.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Defense attorneys began their closing arguments to the jury today in the conspiracy trial in which sixteen major oil companies of the central west and 36 of their officers are being prosecuted on charges of combining to raise gasoline prices in 1935 and 1936 at an alleged cost of $70,000,000 to the consumers.

While the young prosecutor, John H. Lewin, painted the defendants, many of them presidents of big oil companies, as a pack of shrewd, crafty, unscrupulous men, exercising the power of organized money to squeeze the little jobbers, the defense pictured them as men of honor and brains who had come to the aid of their government and the oil industry at a critical time. It was the familiar black and white of courtroom argument, out of which the jury of farmers and small business men is expected to find the gray line of truth.

Two Million Spent by Defense.

More than 2 million dollars already has been spent by the defense in this case, in which possible penalties are a year in jail and a $1,000 fine for individuals and $5,000 fines for the companies if found guilty. Most of the defendants were in court today, sitting with rows of their lawyers.

The government has spent about $100,000 in the prosecution, which was started soon after the Supreme court declared the NRA unconstitutional and under which the oil men had coöperated with the government in a code and stabilization program. They contend that most of their troubles began in this way, trying to do what the government wanted, and that the department of justice has turned on them in an unfair manner.

Charges Prejudicial Tactics.

Attorney T. W. Brazeau of Wisconsin Rapids, counsel for the Cities Service company, who opened for the defense, accused the prosecution of seeking to inject poison and prejudice into the case from the outset.

"They have called these defendants pickpockets and cut-purses," he said, quoting, presumably, from "Hamlet." "They have talked about millionaires and billionaires, referring to these men who have worked their way up to positions of responsibility and honor. They have sought to arouse your hate.

"I prefer the philosophy of Judge Patrick T. Stone [presiding], who said at the opening of this trial that no references to wealth would be permitted. All are equal under the Wisconsin law. In Russia they may punish and condemn by wholesale because the prosecutor so wills, but here we have an old fashioned American doctrin that specific charges must be made and proved beyond reasonable doubt. They have proved nothing of the material allegation of price fixing in this case."

M'NUTT SEEKS FACTS IN CHINA FOR ROOSEVELT

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt, United States high commissioner, hurried to Shanghai aboard an American warship today on his second trip within a week to gather information to lay before President Roosevelt in Washington, D. C., early in February.

He will confer with Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the American Asiatic fleet. His Manila office indicated McNutt would seek the opinions of Admiral Yarnell, an expert on the far eastern situation, relating to the Philippine Islands.

McNutt returned to Manila yesterday from a "sightseeing" tour of Southern Philippine provinces, particularly Davao, where Japanese control the archipelago's hemp industry. He is expected to return from Shanghai about Jan. 25, four days before he boards a plane for the United States.

The parolee, Prince Kirkpatrick, 22 years old, colored, 4237 South Michigan avenue, named Mansfield Bright, 20, also colored, of 6507 Rhodes avenue as the actual slayer. The two men were arrested Saturday. Kirkpatrick was paroled from Pontiac reformatory two years ago.

Abandons Baby

ESTHER KJOSTED.

The personable young woman who left her baby boy with a beauty shop operator Saturday afternoon, then disappeared, walked into the Central police station yesterday seeking information about him. She identified herself as Esther Kjosted, 26 years old, and said the baby's father, Thomas Fiore, alias Parker, had tricked her into what she though was a marriage ceremony. Judge John T. Zuris of Domestic Relations court issued a warant on a morals charge against Fiore.

Miss Kjosted said she left her baby, Freddie, 18 months old, with Mrs. Scott Pocahontas, owner of a beauty shop at 23 East Harrison street, while she sought work, and denied any intention of abandoning him. The boy was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

Miss Kjosted faces a technical charge of disorderly conduct and will be arraigned before Judge Zuris this morning.

CLAIM LOYALISTS NEARLY ISOLATED IN EASTERN SPAIN

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Spanish insurgent authorities announced today their artillery had isolated government troops at Teruel, in eastern Spain, except for a small corridor leading from that strategically important provincial capital to Valencia. For the first time in three months, the insurgents said, government soldiers fled "hysterically" before rebel attacks at Santa Barbara and Mansueto, government defense positions north of Teruel.

The government forces were reported by the rebels to have been driven across the Alhambra river when insurgent columns advanced from Concud to take the last loyalist held heights north of Teruel.

Government authorities earlier had acknowledged their lines were forced back a short distance. Government communiques reported successes over the insurgents on the Guadalajara front, northeast of Madrid.

British M. P.'s Perilled.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Six British Laborite members of parliament, forming the third British delegation to visit government Spain recently, were caught today in a rebel air raid at Valencia. One of their automobiles was damaged, but no one was injured.

U. S. JAP POLICY SAME, COMMENT AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt reiterated today that America's neutrality policy with regard to the Sino-Japanese hostilities still was considered to be on a 24 hour basis.

He indicated, however, that no immediate action with respect to the situation was contemplated by the government as a result of a Tokio announcement that the Japanese ambassador was being recalled from Shanghai and that the Chinese ambassador to Japan shortly would return home.

Questioned on this point, the chief executive said he had been informed by the state department that the contemplated action in connection with the ambassadors did not constitute a severance of diplomatic relations.

JAPS TO BOMBARD HONGKONG ROAD; CUT OFF CANTON

Warn British; Seek to Stop China's Supplies.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Jan. 19 [Wednesday].—Japanese are preparing to bombard the highway from Hongkong to Canton, it was learned here today.

This is the road over which, the Japanese assert, thousands of tons of munitions and supplies have been flowing from foreign countries through the British colony, Hongkong to Canton and then to South and Central China.

The Japanese intention to keep the road under air bombardment was told to the British ambassador at Tokio and was transmitted to British officials here. The Japanese said British subjects would travel the road "at their own risk." A bridge connects Hongkong with the New Territories [British leased land] on the mainland.

Hankow Isolated from Coast.

Hongkong in recent days has seen increasing evidence that a Japanese attack on Canton, metropolis of South China, is imminent. There have been many air raids on railways leading to the city. Japanese warships and troop ships have been near the shore of Bias bay [east of Canton] for some time. Sunday the Japanese troops attempted a landing at Chungshan, sixty miles south of Canton, but met strong Chinese resistance.

I arrived here yesterday after being marooned for two weeks in the confusion of Hankow, the temporary Chinese capital in the interior of central China. Train and highway connections between Hankow and South China now are blocked. There is a lone airliner a day and passage is booked for two months in advance. It was only with difficulty that I was able to get out.

Chinese civil and military officials at Hankow were as cautious as the Japanese military at Shanghai about giving information and actively impeded the obtaining of news.

Control One Rail Line.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19 [Wednesday].—The Japanese army today had completed occupation of a principal railroad in Shantung province, North China, but other units were hard pressed to hold occupied territory in the Nanking-Wuhu region of Central China.

The railroad is the Tsinan-Tsingtao line. The Japanese, after capturing Tsinan, capital of Shantung, sent detachments eastward along the railway and pushed beyond Weihsien, an important junction. After Tsingtao was occupied by the navy a week ago without firing a shot, detachments of marines were sent westward. Yesterday the east and west columns met and now Japanese troops patrol the whole line.

The fighting in Central China was in the same area where the United States gunboat Panay was sunk by Japanese bombing planes on Dec. 13 and in towns where the Panay survivors were sheltered.

200 Villagers Killed.

The Chinese sent two strong columns to attack Wuhu, which is sixty miles upstream [southward] from Nanking. The Japanese sent four boat loads of troops to Wuhu and sent two river warships to bombard Chinese forces near Wuhu.

A Japanese tank unit occupied Hohsien, the little town three miles from the river, where Panay survivors first took refuge. The Japanese then advanced on Hanshan, another refuge of the Panay victims. The Japanese reported they killed 200 Chinese and drove 500 others from Hohsien.

Southeastward from the Wuhu region, Chinese continued their battle to wrest control of Hangchow from the Japanese. [Hangchow is the capital of Chekiang province and is 120 miles southwest of Shanghai.] The Japanese, who entered Hangchow on Dec. 24, today declared they hold Yuhang and Fulang, towns fifteen miles to the west and admitted that the Chinese are in control of Linan and Sinteng, three miles farther on.

The Japanese met their fiercest opposition from Chinese guerrilla bands roaming the area. The Japanese so far have not been able to cross to the south bank of the Chientang river [at the head of Hangchow bay] for an advance eastward along the bay shore toward Ningpo.

The Japanese claimed advances in two sectors of the campaign to gain control of railways of North and Central China. The column moving southward from Tsinan occupied Tenghsien, the Japanese declared. Tenghsien is 150 miles south of Tsinan.

The northern column is now about 70 miles north of Suchow, the important junction of the Tientsin-Pukow [Nanking] and the Lunghai [east and west] trunk railways in northern Kiangsu province.

A second Japanese column, driving northward from Nanking, was said to be attacking Linhwaikwan, 85 miles north of Nanking. That town is about 110 miles south of Suchow.

Apologize for Sailor Incident.

TSINGTAO, Jan. 19 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A Japanese action against two British and one American sailor for which Japanese Vice Admiral Toyoda quickly apologized was disclosed today.

The incident took place Jan. 11 when Japanese marines, occupying the city, forced the sailors at bayonet point to leave their posts on the pier where they were stationed as signalmen for their warcraft in the harbor.

KINSMAN OF WOMAN ADMITS SLAYING HER AND GIRL NEIGHBOR

John Rylowicz.

Mineola, N. Y., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—John Rylowicz, also known as Reo, confessed today that he killed Mrs. Celinda Waite, a distant relative by marriage, and Jeannette Schuellain, her young neighbor and friend, after a quarrel over a $15 board bill.

Rylowicz, 40 years old, a metal lathe worker of Lyndhurst, N. J., promised to tell the truth if police would let him talk to his sweetheart, Mrs. Florence Termond, in whose Lyndhurst home he once was a roomer. Mrs. Termond, a short, blue-eyed, brown-haired woman of 40, dressed in brown, was brought in and detectives closed the door.

An hour later Mrs. Termond rapped on the door. Detectives led her out, and sat down beside the stumpy metal worker. Rylowicz then admitted tying the two women with silk stockings last Wednesday and shooting them to death in upstairs bedrooms of the Waite home in Elmont, on Long Island.

Rylowicz later waived a preliminary examination and was remanded to jail for grand jury action.

PRO-JAP REGIME TO BE FOUNDED SOON IN NANKING

Tokio Calls Envoy Home from China.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 19 [Wednesday].—A new Chinese government willing to coöperate with Japan will be established soon in Central China with the capital at Nanking. This became a certainty as developments in Tokio since yesterday indicated the future direction of Japanese policy.

The new government will have active administrative control over the entire region now under Japanese military control in Central China. It was regarded as likely that eventually the Nanking government would take in the autonomous régime in North China.

The method in which the Nanking government will be brought about has not been decided, but it will not be like the setting up of the Manchukuan government after Japan seized Manchuria. It will be purely a Chinese affair, but Japan most likely will insist on supplying advisers.

Call Envoy Home from China.

The Japanese government recalled Shigeru Kawagoe, its ambassador to China, as the first step in launching its new Chinese policy. The Chinese ambassador to Tokio, Hsu Shih-ying, is leaving today.

A government spokesman explained that the refusal to deal with Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China, goes beyond a declaration of war. Japan maintains that the national government of China no longer represents anything.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe explained that by "cease to deal" is meant that hitherto the Japanese government regarded the national government of China as another party in possible peace negotiations.

"It means we shall look to the establishment of a new régime," Premier Konoe said.

When asked if the new Nanking régime ultimately will be of the same character as that of Manchukuo, Konoe said:

"It may happen that about the same process will be observed until the government is established. When the foundations are consolidated the new government will be different. All Japan expects of the newly risen régime in coöperation with Japan."

NEW CHAUTEMPS CABINET FORMED; REDS LEFT OUT

French Regime Made Up of Radical Socialists.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 18.—Camille Chautemps, Radical Socialist leader, tonight announced the formation of an all middle class cabinet to succeed his Popular Front government. He thus ended the political crisis which he created last Friday by breaking with the communists and resigning the premiership. He also ended the Popular Front which had ruled France for about a year and a half.

More important than the composition of the new cabinet, which is the same as the old one except that the Socialist members are replaced by Radical Socialists or Socialist Republicans, is the fact that the Socialists, while refusing to enter the government, have undertaken to support Chautemps by their votes in parliament as long as he follows the Popular Front program.

Communists Are Hostile.

The communists, on the other hand, are hostile and probably will enter the opposition, or at least abstain in important votes, thus opening up a fissure between them and the Socialists.

Yvon Delbos, foreign minister.
Albert Sarraut, interior.
Cesar Campinchi, justice.
Paul Marchandeau, finance.
Edouard Daladier, defense and war.
Guy Lachambre, air.
William Bertrand, navy.
Henri Queuille, public works.
Fernand Chapsal, agriculture.
Paul Ramadier, labor.
Pierre Cot, commerce.
Theodore Steeg, colonies.
Fernand Gentin, communications.
Marc Rucart, health.
Robert Lassalle, pensions.
Paul Elbel, merchant marine.

The composition of the cabinet implies continuation of the internal and foreign policies of the former Chautemps government. Its big task will be to try to reconcile labor and capital or, failing that, to coerce them both into cooperating for the general interest of the nation.

Fear New Strike Wave.

Seemingly assured of a decent majority on its first appearance in the chamber, the new government will meet its real test when it begins to bear down on labor and the communists support the workers—particularly if the comunists' resentment at the breakup of the Popular Front is reflected by a new wave of strikes.

This situation, which is expected, will strain severely the loyalty of the Socialists, or more likely former Premier Leon Blum's hold over his own party. This hold was not sufficient to obtain Socialist participation in the cabinet at the party's parley.

Flight of Capital Halted.

The cabinet obviously is a fragile one and does not seem destined to enjoy long life. The mere fact that Chautemps has formed a government, however, apparently has checked the flight of capital, and the external situation makes it imperative for France to have at least a makeshift government until the political atmosphere has improved sufficiently to make the formation of a really strong one possible.

Disqueting rumors of an unspecified nature, but coming from Berlin, have played a big part in appeasing the political broil, it is understood, and particularly did they inspire Blum to promise Chautemps support which purely partisan considerations hardly seemed to justify.

Marriage License Drop Traced to Hygienic Law

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Attributing the decline to the Saltiel hygienic marriage law, the public health department reported today the number of marriage licenses issued in 94 downstate counties the last six months of 1937 was 74 per cent under the same period in 1936. In Cook county the decline was 49 per cent for the last half and 19 per cent for the last seven months. The law became effective July 1.

MEN'S CLOTHING STYLES TURN TO PASTEL SHADES

New Models Shown at Clothiers' Meeting.

The trend in men's clothes, as revealed by a style show held yesterday at the 24th annual convention of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers in the Hotel La Salle, is toward dusty pastel shades. No provisions are being made for the man of conservative tastes, stylists said.

"The man of 48 or 50 who isn't set in life can't afford to go conservative," said Jerome Giuseffi, a designer. "He has to stay young."

Coats Longer and Looser.

The lines of men's clothes will be cut more on the lounge type, with coats longer and looser. White suits will be used for semi-formal evening wear, and the tendency is strong for acceptance of the white formal dinner jacket.

A plan called "balanced wardrobe merchandising" developed by F. B. Todd, director of men's wear promotion for the Associated Wool industries, came in for a large share of attention from retailers.

"This doesn't mean buying more clothes," Todd said, "but planning ahead in buying the way a woman does."

His list for a moderately-priced balanced wardrobe includes three suits, a sport outfit, formal evening wear, three hats, four pairs of shoes, and ties and shirts to meet personal taste.

Wider Brims for Hats.

Hats this year will be lower-crowned and wider-brimmed, and pajamas, unless something is done to prevent it, seem to be heading toward shorter sleeves and knee-length legs. And your single breasted tux of a few seasons ago is back, satin lapels and all.

The convention will end this afternoon with a general session presided over by Peter B. Juster, president of the association. More than 1,000 clothiers are in attendance.

ALDERMEN MEET TODAY ON CITY RELIEF SITUATION

The first meeting of the subcommittee of the city council appointed to investigate the relief situation in Chicago will be held this morning in the finance committee room in the city hall. Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], is chairman of the subcommittee. Rowan said he has invited Leo M. Lyons, commissioner of the Chicago Relief administration, and S. N. Geal, CRA superintendent of shelters, to appear before the committee. Geal suggested recently that half the inmates of the shelters would leave if their fingerprints were required. Corporation Counsel Hodes is preparing an opinion on the legality of doing this.

17 DIE, 27 MISSING AS FIRE LEVELS CANADIAN SCHOOL

Students Jump 4 Floors in Subzero Cold.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 18.—Seventeen persons were known to have died and twenty-seven others were reported missing tonight in a fire which destroyed the College of the Sacred Heart early today at St. Hyacinthe, thirty-five miles east of Montreal. Thirty-one teachers and 80 boy students in the institution, a boarding school, were asleep when the blaze was discovered at 2 a. m.

A St. Hyacinthe editor said the fire apparently started about a half hour before it was discovered.

The rambling T-shaped brick building, which was 37 years old, was in smoking ruins tonight. Firemen said the heat would not permit further exploration for bodies for some time.

Jump Four Floors to Ground.

Twenty-one persons incurred burns, broken bones, and other injuries. Many, finding escape cut off, leaped from upper windows of the four story building to the ground.

Residents of St. Hyacinthe, a town of 14,000, rushed to the school when the alarm was given. Farmers and townspeople took uninjured and slightly injured to their homes.

Two faculty members and a student from the United States were among the teaching brothers and students missing and four others were among those with serious injuries or burns.

The teaching brothers from the United States who were missing were Brother Joseph, 75 years of age, and Brother Xavier, whose name in civilian life was Letourneau. Both were of Woonsocket, R. I. The missing student was William O'Connell, 14 years of age, of Westport, Conn.

Injured Americans Listed.

The injured Americans were Brother Alexis, 27 years of age, formerly named Tessier, of Woonsocket; Brother David, 26, formerly Bergeron, Pawtucket, R. I.; Brother Blaise, 32, former Gignac, of Woonsocket, and Roland Manseau, 14, of Winooski, Vt.

One observer said that when the cry of "fire" awakened the students and teachers all exits were blocked. Those inside could not get out in many cases, except by jumping, and firemen and others could not get in.

Many of the students who fled in their night clothes suffered from exposure in the subzero weather. Fire trucks, ambulances, and cars were hampered by deep snow.

Firemen were unable to determine how the fire started. They said the furnace was thought to be in good condition. The blaze began in a new wing of the structure, they said.

N. Y. PAIR HELD IN SPY INQUIRY, RUSSIA ADMITS

Name Husband in Plot; Wife Quizzed.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Soviet Russia today broke its long silence in the Robinson-Rubens espionage mystery and admitted that Adolph Arnold Rubens and his wife, Ruth, of New York City, are prisoners in Lubianka prison in Moscow.

Rubens faces trial and execution as a spy, and his wife also is suspected of espionage, although no formal charge has been made against her pending further questioning.

The admission from the Russian foreign office that the two are prisoners brought swift action from Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who ordered American attachés in Moscow to demand an immediate interview with Mrs. Rubens in an effort to clear up the mystery.

Gist of Russian Report.

The gist of the soviet report, as telegraphed to Hull by Loy Henderson, American chargé d'affaires in Moscow, follows:

"Early in November a couple bearing passports in the name of Donald Louis Robinson and Ruth Norma Robinson registered at the National hotel, Moscow. Their activities were so unusual they attracted attention of the soviet internal authorities.

"In the middle of November the husband disappeared from his hotel. The wife informed internal authorities he had gone to a hospital, the name of which she did not know. A search of all hospitals in Moscow and suburbs failed to reveal his presence.

Numerous Passports Found.

"In early December a suspicious person was detained for examination in Sverdlovsk [a town among the Ural mountains]. He was found to have numerous passports from various countries, including an American passport in the name of Donald Louis Robinson.

"Investigation revealed he was the missing man from Moscow and gave rise to the suspicion that he was engaged in espionage.

"Authorities decided to take the wife also into custody in the hope that by questioning her more information regarding the activities of the couple could be obtained. Therefore she was arrested in Moscow several days after the arrest of the husband."

The report was given by the soviet foreign office in response to an American note of Jan. 6, demanding information of the woman's whereabouts and status.

AMERICAN BANKER DIES IN LONDON OF WOUNDS FROM RAZOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Henry Augustus Koelsch, formerly general manager of British branches and assistant vice president of the National City Bank of New York, died in London hospital today of throat wounds. Koelsch, who was 48 years old, left a widow and three sons.

Last night he locked himself in the bathroom of his London home. Police, who were called, forced open the door and found him dying from apparently self-inflicted razor wounds.

K. W. Banta, present assistant vice president in London of the National City bank, said Koelsch gave up his position in November and planned to return to New York to assume another position with the bank.

STENCH BOMB'S MAKEUP CLOUDS NOVOTNY TRIAL

The fate of Gus Novotny, business agent and organizer of the Upholsterers and Furniture Workers' union, No. 18, is expected to be placed in the hands of the jury in Judge Joseph Sabath's Criminal court today. Final arguments in Novotny's trial on malicious mischief charges will get under way this morning.

Two chemists, Walter Guthman and George Borrowman, testified yesterday in behalf of Novotny, who is accused of having windows smashed and stench bombs thrown to speed his unionization drive. The chemists said stench bombs cannot be made from the materials named in Novotny's confession, which was read Monday to the jury over the defendant's protests that it was obtained by police threats.

BRIDGES REVEALS TVA SUBSIDIES TO CORPORATIONS

Charges Contracts Defeat Purpose of Program.

panies not less than 91,000 kilowatts of firm power [power that is continuously available], almost four times the amount of its present load, 23,000 kilowatts, to municipalities and cooperatives.

He said that 91,000 kilowatts amounted to 797,160,000 kilowatt hours of firm power annually, more than enough to light every street light, run every street car, every interurban car, and every electrified railroad in the United States for a month.

"These contracts cover more besides a disposal of firm power," Senator Bridges said. "I have not even mentioned the secondary power which is pledged under these contracts, but there is such power to the extent of 120,000 additional kilowatts. Secondary power, so-called run of the stream power, need be available only 300 days out of 365. But it may well be that if the TVA continues to build its facilities far ahead of its municipal and coöperative load, this secondary power will be available practically all the time."

Prices Lower, Says Senator.

The chemical companies, Senator Bridges said, are getting their power 31 per cent below the cost of what they would have to pay in Tacoma, Wash.; 43 per cent below what they would pay in Buffalo, Cleveland, or Los Angeles; 51 per cent below what they would pay in Pittsburgh, Charleston, Detroit, and Chicago, and 61 per cent below what they would pay in Newark, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, or Cincinnati.

"To get down to figures, take the Aluminum company," Senator Bridges continued. "Under its contracts with the TVA it has the right to 876 million kilowatt hours at the price of $2,174,000. That is, on the basis of a continuing demand—on the basis of a 100 per cent load factor. Assume a 90 per cent load factor, which reduces the kilowatt hours and the cost by 10 per cent. The cost works out at 2½ mills per kilowatt hour.

Not Bound to Rate.

"In testifying before the house military affairs committee in 1936, the Aluminum company stated that the average cost of power at its plants in New York state, Pittsburgh, and Tennessee was 3 mills per kilowatt. Half a mill is not very much, but multiplied by 788 million odd it's just about $400,000 a year.

"But besides that the Aluminum company is not even bound to that rate. If it finds in the next few years that fuel fired furnaces are cheaper still, it can cancel these contracts. It has risked no capital in electric plants. TVA—a government authority—has carried the investment for it."

Figuring the other contracts on the same basis, Senator Bridges found that the total saving from the government subsidy was $875,000 annually.

Senator Bridges demanded a senate investigation of the TVA scandal instead of an investigation by the federal trade commission proposed in a resolution by Senator George Norris [Radical, Neb.], so-called father of the TVA.

"Suppose the treasury department should start giving away government bonds to a few favored corporations," he declared. "Would not there be an immediate call for an investigation? Yet, what is the difference? The savings which these companies can realize as the result of this subsidized power, provided at the expense of the taxpayers, is equal to the interest on $29,170,800 of government bonds."

Senator Bridges said the contract with the Arkansas Power and Light company provided for the delivery of 15,000 to 35,000 kilowatts of firm power, with the TVA agreeing to stand by in the event of a breakdown on the private company's system.

Senator Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] was infuriated by Senator Bridges' charges. He asked whether the people of New Hampshire would not benefit and the power companies lose if the TVA yardstick rates were applied in that state.

Dirt Throwing Charged.

"No, if the same yardstick should be applied, the big corporations would benefit," replied Senator Bridges.

McKellar heatedly accused Senator Bridges of trying to throw dirt on the TVA, and Bridges acknowledged that he had done just that.

"The TVA has done a wonderful thing reducing these rates," McKellar said. "This was just a lot of secondary power for which the government had no use and the Aluminum Company of America offered to buy it at a splendid price."

"I never expected," said Senator Bridges, "to see the senator from Tennessee defending the Aluminum Company of America."

Policeman Reinstated

Judge Harry M. Fisher ordered yesterday that Joseph P. Coane, 2147 North Kedzie avenue, be reinstated on the police department. Coane who joined the force in 1926, was discharged Jan. 1, 1937.

A motorist charged that Coane stopped him for questioning, then sold him a pamphlet entitled "A Labor Party for the United States" which bore on the fly leaf. "Compliments of a Chicago policeman who will not raise his club against a striker."

Judge Fisher held the sale of this pamphlet did not constitute engaging in another business, the specific charge on which Coane was tried. Coane's wife, Catharine, his daughter, Mary, and 100 neighbors congratulated him on the ruling, which the city will appeal.

HOUSE BRUSHES ECONOMY ASIDE; VOTES 1½ BILLION

Democrat Charges Plot to Cause Deflation.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The house today swept aside impassioned economy pleas by Democratic leaders and passed the second big appropriation bill of the session providing more than a billion and a half dollars to run the treasury and postoffice departments in the coming fiscal year.

The total appropriated for the treasury department was approximately 761 millions, for the postoffice department approximately 784 millions. The house thus far during the thirteen working days of the session has approved expenditures in excess of 3 billions.

The sizzling debate was climaxed by a charge by Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] that certain members were engaged in a deliberate plot to increase the public debt to a point where inflation of the dollar would be necessary.

"I have heard at least two distinguished gentlemen say they were going to vote for all increases in this bill and all bills, thus piling up the public debt until recourse to inflation of the currency was made necessary," Woodrum declared.

Committee Overridden.

On five separate votes on amendments increasing the total of the bill, the members overrode the appropriations committee handling the measure. These amendments added hundreds of jobs to the postoffice department at a cost of approximately $2,300,000 annually.

The main test came when a record roll call was held on an amendment creating a number of new clerical positions in the postoffice department at a yearly cost of $1,000,000. Despite the pleading of Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] and other leaders, the house approved the amendment, 262 to 97. Only 67 Democrats and 30 Republicans voted against the amendment, thereby recording themselves for economy.

On the four other votes, the members recorded their antipathy to economy talk by majorities of approximately 3 to 1.

Leader Rayburn Aroused.

"From now on," he told the house, "when appropriation bills are up for consideration, I am going to call the attention of members again and again to the condition of government finances. Some of these days, whether we want to or not, we have got to do what any sane individual—any corporation—must do if it wants to continue operations. That is, some time this government must balance outgo with income."

At the moment the house was considering an amendment sponsored by Representative Chester Thompson [D., Ill.] increasing by $1,125,000 the $11,250,000 allotted in the bill for rental of structures for postoffice purposes.

Assails All Amendments.

"What have we been doing in the last few years but building postoffices in every district in the United States?" asked Rayburn. "Certainly, under such condition our rental costs ought to decrease instead of increase. Of all the amendments offered, this one seems the most unjustified and unjustifiable.

"I appeal to the house to lay aside this and all other amendments. Especially do I appeal to my Democratic colleagues, because when the credit of the government is injured, the responsibility will be on the majority party where it belongs."

The Thompson amendment was defeated, but the majority refused to follow Rayburn on the job amendments.

From the Republican side of the aisle came an expression of sympathy with the Democratic leadership.

"These raids upon the treasury come from Democrats who profess loyalty to the President," Representative J. W. Ditter [R., Pa.] declared. "I charge every one of you with tying the hands of the head of your own party who has at length begun to try to balance the budget. By every extra dollar you are spending today you are hampering the President."

338,055 UNEMPLOYED IN ILLINOIS, FEDERAL COUNT OF IDLE SHOWS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Illinois' unemployed at the time of the federal unemployment census last November totaled 338,055, or 4.3 per cent of its estimated 7,878,000 population, a preliminary report on the nation's jobless showed today.

In addition to the jobless, there were 121,688, or 1.5 per cent, listed as working at WPA, NYA, CCC, or other emergency work, and 162,606, or 2.1 per cent, partly employed who wanted more work.

The report listed 185,562 as totally unemployed in Chicago, 4,197 in Joliet, 1,709 in Aurora, 1,239 in Waukegan, 1,000 in Elgin, and 998 in Kankakee.

Why take needless chances with

Coughing Colds

Relieve their misery this PROVED way

YOU don't have to experiment. Use the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

Here's What To Do: It's best to keep the patient in bed and see that she gets lots of rest. Be sure she eats lightly, drinks plenty of water, and keeps elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

NO LONG WAITING FOR RELIEF TO BEGIN

VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upsets. You simply massage it on throat, chest, and back.

Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working.

NOTE: If the cough is very annoying, or the air-passages feel clogged with heavy mucus or phlegm, even stronger vapor action is helpful. Pour boiling water in a bowl, melt a teaspoonful of VapoRub in it, and inhale the steaming vapors for several minutes.

Mr. Bobbitt represents the "aristocracy" of tobacco experts. He judges the tobacco that the growers grow. He's impartial, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer.

ROOSEVELT PATH WITH BUSINESS STILL SHROUDED

Advisers He Called In Not So Reticent.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Members of the administration's business advisory council were flocking into Washington today to advise Mr. Roosevelt how to end the new depression, but the White House press conference this afternoon only served to deepen the fog enveloping the President's intentions. The conference with the business advisers is tomorrow.

So far as could be determined by his evasions of questions put to him, Mr. Roosevelt is still groping for a policy. Apparently he is oscillating between more anti-trust legislation for the purpose of preserving competition and a measure establishing industrial production control under government supervision somewhat on the order of the NRA under which the anti-trust laws were suspended and monopoly fostered.

Holding Company Stand.

Mr. Roosevelt was questioned as to just what he meant last Friday when he asked why any holding companies in any field of enterprise should be allowed. Inasmuch as holding companies constitute half the business structure of the country the President's suggestion to wipe them all out stunned the business world and the stock market has been declining ever since.

When asked today whether he meant all holding companies, the President replied that the dictionary definition of a holding company is extremely vague, that there are all shades of meanings—he had looked up the definition since Friday—and these meanings embrace much territory to the right and to the left, so that just what he meant would depend a good deal on just what paper you were writing for.

Questioned as to what he intends to discuss with the business advisory council tomorrow and with the automobile manufacturers on Friday the President said he had nothing in mind, that he would discuss anything they want to take up.

Evades Offer to TVA.

He didn't know whether Wendell Willkie's offer to sell the Commonwealth and Southern Power company to the TVA had furthered solution of the utility question, that again would depend on what paper you were writing for. The offer was revealed here today.

One of the TVA directors, David E. Lilienthal, however, who conferred with the President earlier, issued a formal statement saying that TVA cannot and will not buy anything but useful physical assets. He belittled Mr. Willkie's lament that his companies are being put out of business by TVA, asserting that the companies made more money last year than in 1933.

Cities establishing municipal power plants with TVA loans were negotiating with one of Mr. Willkie's companies for purchase of transmission lines but the negotiations were interrupted by litigation initiated by the utilities, said Mr. Lilienthal.

Lilienthal Ultimatum.

"Unless negotiations between the companies and the cities themselves are promptly renewed and are successful there is no way to prevent a duplication of the distribution systems," he added.

"These problems cannot be worked out through press statements but only by businesslike discussion and negotiation. Of course, any arrangement negotiated by the parties must be approved as reasonable to the utilities and the public after a hearing by appropriate state and federal agencies.

"If pursuant to his expressed desire to sell, Mr. Willkie resumes negotiations with the municipalities in question and with TVA, I am confident that TVA, and probably every other branch of the federal government concerned will be glad to cooperate in working out this problem on a fair, equitable basis."

Willkie Issues Reply.

The Lilienthal statement brought a reply from Willkie, in which the utility executive pointed out that he has for four years made repeated proposals for solution of the problem created by the TVA.

"Insofar as I am able to understand Mr. Lilienthal's statement, it is proposed that we should resume negotiations with municipalities in order to sell the distribution systems to them at prices to be determined under the threat of duplication with federal funds," he said.

"If the investment in this business is to be saved, these utility systems must be bought as systems. I know of no fairer method of arbitrating such a transaction than to submit it to three men—one to be named by the President, one by the Supreme court, and one by the utilities.

"If the federal government thinks it should not buy the utility systems as systems, then I urge, on behalf of these investors and employés, that it advance the money to the states in the Tennessee valley for that purpose. It seems to me that in the interest of these investors we should have either an acceptance or a rejection of this proposal, instead of a mere resumption of negotiations which have been going on fruitlessly for several years."

Urges Advisory Council.

Creation of a national advisory council, composed of the country's most intelligent and forward looking elements, to give expert counsel to the executive and congress on economic questions was proposed today by Senator Robert J. Bulkley [D., O.].

Senator Bulkley said the senate manufactures committee, which he heads, and about 100 private citizens have been studying the idea for months.

KELLY AND NASH SEE ROOSEVELT ON SENATE RACE

Would Like to Bury Ax—in Dieterich's Back.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt this afternoon canvassed the coming Illinois senate race in a conference with Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Pat Nash, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois.

Presidential interest was turned to the contest by the announcement of Senator William H. Dieterich yesterday that he will be a candidate for reelection on a pro-Roosevelt platform.

Dieterich was a stanch supporter of the President's ill fated plan to pack the Supreme court and cast the deciding vote for Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], the administration's successful candidate for majority leader against Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.].

White House Concerned.

Interest turned to concern at the White House when Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois, who is at war with the Nash-Kelly forces, asserted he would oppose Dieterich. Gov. Horner has been invited to a dinner Thursday night at the White House.

As Kelly and Nash left Mr. Roosevelt after a fifteen minute conference, the mayor said: "We went over the political situation, but no conclusions were reached and none was asked for."

At his press conference in the afternoon Mr. Roosevelt dodged comment on the conference. Asked what had taken place, he asked what Nash and Kelly had reported. Told they had labeled the conference a political discussion, Mr. Roosevelt laughed and said they had agreed to say something else.

Agreement Is Forgotten.

He said he had forgotten what the agreement was, but he was not going to break it.

Reached at their hotel, Nash and Kelly confessed themselves bewildered when questioned about an agreement with the President.

Asked what the political situation is in Illinois, Kelly replied with a broad grin: "The present senator is being opposed by the governor."

Asked whether he would oppose Dieterich, Kelly said: "We don't know. We have nothing against the senator, but we have not decided."

After the conference on Capitol Hill reports were that Kelly and Nash would not support Dieterich under any circumstances, regarding him a weak candidate.

According to the Illinois delegation, Nash and Kelly would like to bury the hatchet with Horner, in the middle of Dieterich's broad back, by finding a candidate acceptable to both factions of the party. This would save both factions the cost of a primary fight and also would tend to heal the breach occasioned when the Nash-Kelly machine ran Dr. Herman N. Bundesen for governor against Horner.

Gov. Horner is considering three men as possible candidates against Dieterich at the April 12 primary. They are Representative Scott Lucas, who was chairman of the state tax commission before he came to congress; Louie Lewis, speaker of the state house of representatives, and Attorney John E. Cassidy of Peoria. Kelly would not say whether any of the three would be acceptable to him.

No Support Asked, Says Kelly.

The mayor said that the President had not asked him to do anything. No request was made for support of Dieterich, he said.

Dieterich fought the administration on the death sentence against utility holding companies and for this fight once was anathema to the White House. Last year, shortly after President Roosevelt named an old friend of the senator, Judge Earl Major, to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago, Dieterich became a leader on behalf of Roosevelt's plan to pack the Supreme court. On the death of Senator Robinson he gave his vote for Barkley after, according to reports, he had promised it to Harrison and again the White House became indebted to him.

LAKE DIVERSION FIGHT RENEWED; FOES ASK DELAY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The fight over Lake Michigan water was renewed today before the house rivers and harbors committee.

Foes of the Parsons bill, under which the Chicago sanitary district could divert an annual average of 5,000 cubic feet of water a second from the lake, demanded a sixty day delay in a committee hearing on the measure. It would take that much time, attorneys general of lake states protested, to prepare a proper defense.

Proponents of the bill, including the author, Representative Claude V. Parsons [D., Ill.] agreed to a short postponement, but not sixty days. "That," Parsons said, "is just filibustering tactics to delay proceedings." The committee will settle the question tomorrow.

Early meeting of the house today allowed time for only Attorneys General O. S. Loomis, Wisconsin, and R. W. Starr, Michigan, and T. F. Cohan, New York assistant attorney general, to plead briefly for the delay. William S. Erwin, attorney general of Minnesota, and F. J. Myers, assistant deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania, probably will present their views tomorrow.

Refusal of State Charter to Trade Group Is Upheld

Judge Harry M. Fisher yesterday upheld Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes in his denial of a certificate of incorporation to the Allied Federation of Labor. The court ruled this group is a trade organization and not a labor organization. Issuance of the charter, Judge Fisher held, would confuse the public because the name indicates the federation is affiliated with national labor organizations.

SOAP AND STORES

By CALEB

A WOMAN paused here long enough the other day to say that she takes special delight in shopping here for soap. "I never see a new soap, either imported or domestic, that I do not want to try it."

We fell to talking about soaps generally and the fact that good soap is a fairly modern development. We can hardly realize what the world must have been like before soap—and others of our more hygienic and cleanly common factors of life—prevailed.

The first bath-tub in America is reputed to have been that which was imported from England by Eli Whitney of cotton gin fame, about 1820. The people of that time were so concerned over the innovation that when the tub was not in use, it was on exhibition.

But the bath-tub did not become common at a rapid rate. A Cincinnati man named Thompson, when traveling in England, saw a bath-tub which appealed to him so much that he had one just like it built in his home. It was made of sheet lead, and the story goes that in December 1842, he invited a number of gentlemen to come to his house "for dinner, followed by a bath." The affair was attended by the guests with the greatest of interest and their experiences were recounted in press stories which had wide news value.

The local authorities, however, condemned the bath-tub—as authorities in Massachusetts are reputed to have condemned the first bath-tubs there. They considered that the new device would imperil the public health.

Business assigns itself the task of winnowing what is meritorious from that which is not meritorious. What merits public sanction and attention is, through the machinery of distribution, given its place in the public eye.

The part department stores play in giving repute and good character to many innovations can hardly be measured. When it comes to cleanliness, domestic sanitation, and personal hygiene, the department store plays a stellar role in the interest of the public.

We have over 160 kinds of soap on our first floor and many other kinds in our basement. Ninety-five years ago Mr. Thompson and his friends might have considered a fine modern toilet soap an interesting adjunct to their bathing party. But they would never have dreamed that a department store—or some one else—would some day sell soap to every one who enters its doors.

VAST NAZI SPY SYSTEM KEEPS GERMANS IN LINE

Agents Keep Track of All Moves of Citizens.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ARTICLE FOUR.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen in Germany are acutely aware of the Nazi theories of government. They cannot say, "Let the politicians do as they please—we'll step out and do as we please." Before they can do that they must comply with all the rules and regulations set up for them for the sake of the fatherland.

Prof. Huber, one of Germany's outstanding constitutional experts, in his book, "The Constitution," said: "The bill of rights laid down by the Weimar constitution has not been abrogated temporarily, but finally and definitly. Restrictions of personal freedom, of expression of opinion, of the right of meeting, of property are self-evident necessities where the general interests require it."

Nazi Surveillance Explained.

When Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen return to the block of flats in which they live they see a black bulletin board, put up by order of the Nazi party, on which all instructions of the party's local representatives are listed.

Whether Average Citizen belongs to the Nazi party or not he must heed the instructions. He is watched by "block leaders" and "cell leaders" appointed by the Nazi party. The block leaders are assisted by block wardens and by local representatives of the Labor Front, of the Nazi Welfare organization, and of "Nazi Womanhood"—all appointed by the Nazis.

A block is composed of 40 to 50 households. Between 4 and 8 blocks form a cell. Several cells form a "local group."

Guard Against "Backward Step."

In the days of the Nazi struggle for power the block and cell leaders were active Nazis trying to win votes for the party. Now, according to their chief, Dr. Robert Ley, they are officials to whom Hitler has entrusted the job of "continually educating and watching the German people. The purpose of the educating is to introduce us all more closely into the world of the Nazi idea, and of the watching to see that nowhere will there be a step backward or decay."

Dr. Ley, who is chief of Germany's Labor Front, is responsible for the national organization of Germany's blocks and cells. About 1,500,000 block leaders and wardens and cell leaders and wardens act as "advisers, guardians, educators and supervisors of the German population."

Dr. Ley in a recent interview in the official newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter, explained:

"The effect of the new cell and block system is multifold. It enables the responsible political leader to contact every citizen. It gives the party the possibility of getting an accurate picture of the life of every household, of every citizen. It enables it to see how its organizations [welfare organizations, Labor Front and Nazi women] work and how they could be developed. Furthermore, it is now possible to decide what should be done for the mental and material guardianship of the people.

Cover Many Fields.

"The block and cell officials are powerholders appointed by the Nazi party, responsible for the block or cell. Under their disciplinary orders, as coöperators and advisers, they have women block leaders of Nazi womanhood, block officials of the welfare association and Labor Front. They form a work community. In constant personal contact they inform each other of everything that should be known to understand the general situation."

Through block authorities the different Nazi organizations can reach citizens who fail to show the proper faith in them.

Social-political guardianship, health measures, legal advice, professional education, home management, interior decoration, sports events, the Strength Through Joy movement, mother and child, fight waste, Nazi nursing, Nazi welfare, advice to mothers, household courses and hygienic courses are among the movements and courses appealing to Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen by way of the bulletin board in the front hall or in personal visits of the Nazi powerholders.

Take Dr. Ley's figure that 1,500,000 block men and cell men are working for him, add the same number of block and cell officials for the Labor Front, the welfare organization and the Nazi womanhood, and you find 6,000,000 men and women engaged in this supervising work—not to speak of the vast organizations controling them and the equally overwhelmingly strong German police, Storm Troopers and Schutzstaffelmen seeing to it that everybody does his duty in Germany—to say nothing of the army.

Nazi Court to Try Pastor Who Defied Church Decrees

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, leader of the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] movement for "freedom of creed," will face an extraordinary political court in Berlin on Feb. 7, it was learned today.

The Rev. Martin Niemoeller.

The pastor, who has been in prison since July 1, will be charged with "insidious attacks on the state and party, abuse of the pulpit for political purposes, and open incitement to disobedience against state laws." It was the longest bill of indictment ever seen in a Berlin court.

There is no appeal against the court's decision.

Submarine Chief in War.

The Rev. Mr. Niemoeller, a submarine commander in the world war, was the active leader of the Confessional movement of pastors who object to Nazi domination of church affairs.

The organization of Confessional pastors is composed of Evangelical Lutheran and Old Prussian pastors of the smallest sects who dropped their theological dogmatic differences to join forces because they felt that control by a state church minister interfered with the freedom of their religious teachings. They feel that the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller's fate will decide the fate of the freedom of the Protestant creed in Germany.

The Rev. Mr. Niemoeller's trial had been set for an earlier date. It was postponed while friends of his, who enjoy the sympathy of military and conservative circles close to Reichsfuehrer Hitler, did everything they could to induce Der Fuehrer to pardon the pastor, whose church is in Dahlem, a Berlin suburb, for his own sake and that of his wife and eight children.

Refuses to Sign Compromise.

His friends tried to induce him to sign a compromise with the government agreeing to accept all the orders of the church ministry. The Rev. Mr. Niemoeller refused to compromise.

Twenty-six prominent members of his parish, including three generals and one rear admiral, volunteered to testify that the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller was a loyal German who is not opposed to the state.

Dr. Ernst Brandenburg, a former war ace, who was decorated with Germany's highest decoration, Pour le Merit, in the world war, was among the first to volunteer as a witness for the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller. He is a high official in the trafic ministry. He flew to America in the Graf Zeppelin on its maiden voyage in 1928.

CENSOR BOARD'S BAN ON NAZI FILM TO BE PROTESTED

A protest against the banning by the police censor board yesterday of a film showing Nazi activities in American and abroad will be made to Police Commissioner Allman today by representatives of several organizations.

The film was barred from Chicago, according to Lieut. Joseph Healy, acting chairman of the board, because it criticized the Nazi government to an extent which the board members felt was unfair. Three women and a man were present and voted unanimously against permitting the film to be shown. Lieut. Healy had no vote.

Told of the proposed protest, Lieut. Healy said: "I was expecting something like this, so I called in an expert on that sort of picture, Lieut. Make Mills of the bomb squad. He was asked what he thought would be the effect of showing such a picture and he said an ill effect."

BRITISH AND IRISH FAIL TO AGREE; END TALKS TODAY

Experts Will Continue Discussions.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—British and Irish government ministers will finish their series of talks in London tomorrow without having reached any agreement, they announced tonight, and without disagreement.

Two days of talks, which will be followed tomorrow by a third, have been devoted to what Malcolm MacDonald, British secretary for dominion affairs, called a "preliminary canter over the ground." They will be followed by a technical examination by experts on both sides.

Future Course in Doubt.

Whether anything comes of the meeting cannot be known until the experts finish their work and it is time for a new meeting of the ministers.

John W. Dulanty, high commissioner for Ireland in London, said tonight that may be in two weeks or two months—"not months, we hope."

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera headed the Irish representatives in the conversations. When the talks were first announced it was indicated he would bargain for British support for the unification of the six counties of Northern Ireland with the twenty-six counties of the former Irish Free State [now Ireland, or Eire]. The new Irish constitution, which became effective in the twenty-six counties on Dec. 29, contained a clause under which Northern Ireland would be considered in the territory of the southern counties. Britain warned Ireland on Dec. 30 that such unification would not be recognized.

Observers voiced the opinion that De Valera is too practical to let the talks be wrecked by intransigent demands for a united Ireland. Diehard Republicans said De Valera is going back to Dublin empty handed.

The more general view, however, is that he has again shown himself a shrewd bargainer and that, having won English assurances of sympathy for Irish unity as an ultimate goal, he is ready to make some concessions before asking more of the English.

Sir Thomas Inskip, British minister for the coördination of defense, participated in today's session, showing that the defense question, which is one of those nearest to British hearts, was not slighted.

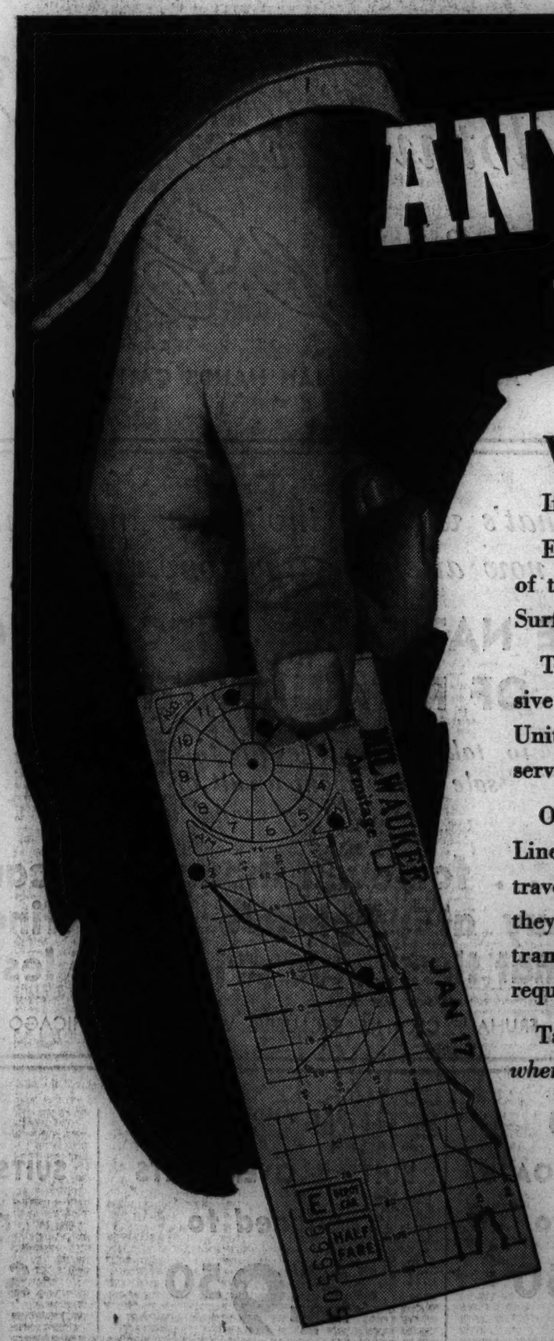
ANYWHERE IN CHICAGO



Where to?

If it's in Chicago you can go by Chicago Surface Lines.

Every business center, every industry, and 98 per cent of the homes in Chicago are convenient to one or more Surface Lines routes.

The Chicago Surface Lines provides the most comprehensive city-wide service operating in any large city in the United States. It has the most liberal transfer system. It serves ALL Chicago.

Of the total of 2,000,000 daily riders on the Surface Lines, only 15 per cent enter the Loop area. Most of them travel from one point to another in outlying centers and they find the gridiron of car and bus routes and the liberal transfer system exactly suited to their transportation requirements.

An Authority Speaks

"Every (business) center is served by at least one street car line, the majority are served by two and several are served by three such lines. This gives transportation access in from two to six directions both to and from each center. Further, these street car lines are joined by connecting lines which together form a gigantic double-tracked rectangular net, so complete that few inhabited city blocks of the 211 square miles of municipal Chicago are more than ½ mile from this means of transportation."

MALCOLM J. PROUDFOOT,
Research Geographer, Census of Business, 1935.

Puck ADVERTISING GAINS

and NO SPINACH!

In 1937 advertisers put one million dollars more into Puck-The Comic Weekly than ever before... And more advertisers used Puck-The Comic Weekly than ever before

★ A 42% gain in one year! Obviously there is a direct relationship between this tremendous increase and the sales results obtained by advertisers from the space they used in Puck-The Comic Weekly. Actual direct returns are primarily responsible for these increased schedules.

★ What is the secret of this unusual sales effectiveness?

The greatest single factor is the way people read Puck-The Comic Weekly. It's just human nature to start at the beginning and read to the end. The cast of characters in Puck-The Comic Weekly is tops in entertainment... an All-Star Cast beloved by millions. As each page is turned the curtain is raised on another favorite character. That's why each advertiser's message enjoys preferred position. That's why each advertiser's message gets read.

★ Surprisingly, the All-Star Cast wins the attention of twice as many adults as juveniles... delivers an audience of 12,702,000 adults and a circulation bonus of 6,900,000 juveniles!

★ Each week in six million homes Puck-The Comic Weekly is eagerly read by 4,688,000 housewives and 1,680,000 other female adults; 4,524,000 husbands and 1,830,000 other male adults; 3,660,000 male juveniles (under 18 years of age) and 3,240,000 female juveniles. (Authority: Daniel Starch Survey.)

★ Across America in the best retail markets, Puck-The Comic Weekly gives advertisers whole-family coverage of every fifth family... the greatest reader-audience in the world.

★ Puck-The Comic Weekly has one editorial policy... one cast of characters... one make-up... one printing standard from coast to coast. The number of advertisements per issue is limited, assuring each advertiser spotlight visibility. In 1937, Puck-The Comic Weekly led all so-called "groups" in advertising volume.

RELATIONS WITH JAPAN.

Good judgment might question the wisdom of the build-up which is being given the legend in occidental countries of Japanese military invincibility. The folly of a cocky attitude toward Japan or any other nation is transparent, but it is not therefore proved intelligent to cultivate a myth of inferiority in nations which must deal with Japan and carry negotiations peaceably through all the delicate situations which may arise in the course of events.

For America it can be said that it has seldom long sustained a prejudice against any other people and has not been in the habit of being afraid of them. We haven't had much of anything that could be regarded as a permanent foreign policy, but there has been a feeling that the United States could get along peaceably with almost anybody, although there may even have been too much confidence that other nations had few objectionable designs against this country.

Nationally we have been able to enter the world industrial and mercantile competition without feeling that we had to train a hundred sailors for every traveling salesman or back up our foreign markets with an enormous army. To avoid this has been the good fortune of a resourceful and wealthy nation.

Such racial difficulties as we have had with Asia have yielded to the natural adjustments of time and each year has brought a better understanding. We believe the crime of arrogance cannot justly be charged against the American. The Japanese may still feel that to make themselves respected they must make themselves formidable. Most Americans think that there has been in Japan a misconstruction of the meaning of our immigration laws. It is certainly true that in times past there has been the greatest admiration in the United States for the virtues of the Japanese people, and over a long period of years it has produced the friendliest feeling.

The legend of Japanese invincibility can't do any good, whether it is cultivated in Japan or the United States or in any of the other countries which assume they have democratic governments if not democratic social orders.

In 1914 there was a myth of German invincibility which, when it was joined up with the idea that the American democracy was timid and negligible in war, had memorable consequences for the two peoples. The German army was everything that had been said of it, but what the Germans thought of the United States turned out to our own disadvantage and to their own disaster.

THE RIGHT OF BARGAINING.

An interesting decision has recently been handed down by the Appellate court of this district with respect to the right of picketing. The facts are these:

An automobile agency and service station, employing four mechanics and two mechanics' helpers, had not been unionized. Two organizers of the Machinists' International undertook to unionize the station. The employés did not wish to join the union, asserting that they were satisfied with their wages, hours, and conditions of work. The union organizers demanded of the employer that he should sign a closed shop agreement, thus forcing his employés to join the union or leave his employment. He refused to do so, whereupon the organizers picketed his shop.

There was no allegation that the employés were coerced by the employer to refuse to join the union. On the other hand, there was no question of violence or intimidation on the part of the pickets. The employer obtained a restraining order against picketing from the Superior court, from which order the union organizers appealed. The Appellate court reversed the lower court on the ground that the picketing was peaceable and therefore lawful as a means of informing the public of the claims of the union engaged in the suit—in short, was a proper exercise of the right of free speech.

We will not go into the legal reasoning or the precedents cited in support. Let it be conceded that they are sound in law as the law now stands. But the practical result attained is a reductio ad absurdum. It still further narrows the liberty of the citizen to work under such conditions as he prefers and to enter a voluntary organization or to stay out of it. The picketing in this instance was orderly, consisting of the familiar display on the back of a picket of the charge that the station was unfair to labor. But the employer considered it injurious to his enterprise, which, if true, involved injury to his employés. This injury the court finds damnum absque injuria — that is, damage without injury which the law will redress. But it was in fact coercion engaged in to compel both the employer and his employés to do what they did not wish to do and are not required by law to do. The right of employés to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing is now fully established in our law. No one denies it. In this case the employés had freely decided to bargain individually and to be their representatives respectively.

Is this a right now abolished in the United States? Is the right to bargain collectively not only a right but a legal duty overriding the right to bargain individually?

The advantages of collective bargaining in appropriate circumstances are generally conceded. The laws now protect the worker in this enjoyment as far as the law is able. But is it a policy conducive either to the welfare of the worker or that of the public that our law shall be such that in actual operation it not only enforces the right of collective bargaining but in effect compels it?

In this case the workers were satisfied and for reasons which many conditions in organized labor make reasonable they did not want to be bargained for by a union. Their employer was unwilling to force them. This is a situation which the law and policy of a free country ought to recognize and protect.

TO THE SUPPORT OF LOYALISTS.

The proposal of the Union League club to enlist the interest of citizens and citizen organizations throughout the nation in the active support at the polls of senators and congressmen who have opposed recent assaults upon the constitution is in the tradition of the club. The parent club was founded in New York City in 1863 to assist in the defense of the Union. There is need of defense today. The court packing proposal, the persistent efforts to discredit and weaken the Supreme court, the repeated invasions or attempted invasions by the federal power of the sphere of the state, the rapid extension of government responsibilities and centralized power, all this constitutes a progressive deterioration of our constitutional system. Men who have demonstrated, often at considerable political hazard, their determination to defend that system should be returned to office.

This is vital to the preservation of American liberties. Support of loyal candidates should be systematically stimulated and effectively organized or it will not prevail against the highly organized influences, vast resources, and plausible appeals of those bent upon changing the American system of government. We hope the Union League club will carry on its proposed campaign with all the energy a great task may inspire and that it will be able to enlist the active coöperation of all organizations and individuals who are loyal to American principles and institutions.

YACHT HARBORS.

Five United States district army engineers have now under consideration plans for building or improving twelve harbors for small craft in the Chicago area. These extend from Zion, Ill., on the west to New Buffalo, Mich., on the east. Every one of these projects has merit.

As THE TRIBUNE has so often stated, Chicagoans do not use their lake to the extent that easterners use the bays and harbors of the Atlantic ocean. The reason is not hard to find. The enthusiast may desire a yacht in the worst way—but where will he keep it? A harbor is necessary, and the few that are available are badly crowded.

Contrary to a widely held opinion, yachting is not a rich man's sport. It is far more invigorating than motoring and the cost is not nearly so high. To the natural pleasure of "going somewhere" is added the exhilarating opportunity for racing, which, in the case of yachts, depends to a greater extent on the efficiency and judgment of the sailor than on the boat itself.

The project should have the active support of every Chicago citizen and institution.

Editorials of the Day

SALUTE TO SWEDISH-AMERICANS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

At Upsala, Sweden, in 1840, a young government official, Gustav Unonius, pondering a venture into the new world, thought [according to his memoirs]:

I can take such a step; I have heard about America. Its rich soil and its industrial possibilities invite just at present thousands of Europeans. . . . Work, in any industry only that it is honorable, in America is no shame. . . . Conventional judgments, class interest and narrow-mindedness do not hang to your coattail nor trample on your heels.

Whether or not such exalted expectations have been fulfilled, our shores have proved inviting to great numbers of Swedish emigrants. The flood tide of this stream was reached in the 1880s. It was stimulated by the democratic ferment in a country then chafing under an aristocratic, burocratic government, suppression of freedom of assembly and compulsory military training.

Founding of the first Swedish colony in Delaware in 1638 is now being celebrated in a tercentenary observance which includes an extensive tour exhibition of the art of that country now being shown at the St. Louis City Art museum. Later there will be a visit to the United States by a delegation headed by members of Sweden's royal family.

Although the initial attempts to found New Sweden were abandoned after 30 years of disheartening experience, failure was not due to any lack in the character of the colonists, for they had the qualities of "enterprise, industry, and good order" which still distinguish our Scandinavian population. Their political contribution was a sturdy belief in the democratic principle. In the arts, St. Louis is particularly sensible of Swedish-American influence, for we are soon to have a fountain group by Carl Milles, sculptor also of the monument to be dedicated at Wilmington as a feature of the memorial ceremonies. Intelligent handling of economic problems in Sweden not only during the depression but for years previously has provided much material for study by the United States.

No better outcome of the tercentenary activities could be asked than a strengthening of reciprocal bonds between these two great democratic nations.

INSANITY.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The league of nations is not much of a force in the world, but it is all right on statistics. Consequently, what it said recently about the size and cost of present national armaments can stand some scrutiny from those interested in where their planet is traveling and why.

We thought before the world war broke that civilization was pretty heavily militarized. But according to the league year book those running things back in 1913 were pikers compared with the war lords of today.

The strength of the world's standing armies before the kaiser started his big storm was about 6,000,000 men. Today it is about 8,500,000 men.

The league experts estimate that in this year of grace 1937 the nations will spend $11,857,000,000 (old gold dollar value), or about three times as much as they spent in 1913.

Europe will spend 85 per cent of this total, or $7,682,000,000, which does not include outlay for semi-military organizations, nor the costs of construction of strategic roads and many airports serving military purposes.

Plainly the new day of wrath when it comes will make the last one seem like a small preliminary blast. Who will escape?

BEFORE THE CONCERT.

Jascha Heifetz and his accompanist, Emanuel Bay, were speeding in a taxi to New Trier High school to play a concert night before last when a Winnetka motorcycle cop stopped them.

"I told him we were in a hurry because we were playing a concert at New Trier, and told him my name, although I was tempted to say I was Bubinoff, thinking he might recognize that," Heifetz told his friends the Stanley Heymars [Ruth Breystpraak] afterward.

The officer did recognize the name of Heifetz, however, and said he would give him the courtesy sometimes accorded to distinguished strangers and let him go. He would rather hear him play than give him a ticket, he added. The taxi driver wasn't so musician-conscious.

"You sure got away with something there, mister," he told Heifetz as they drove off.

"Charles Lowe, having read that the Oriental Institute has 'fifty grand in cash' for excavations at Armageddon, breaks forth in deathless verse in your column:

"'So up we go and off we go
For millennial loot,
With a little technical advice
From the good old institute.'

"Mr. Lowe is cordially invited to share our ringside seat at the millennium. Our technical advice is as follows: Read Revelation, chapter 16, carefully. Don't be distracted if the kings of the whole world gather them together for war; they've been rehearsing for centuries. But watch carefully the flow of 'the great river, the river Euphrates, and the water thereof was dried up.' Until that happens, Mr. Lowe, continue to load your trusty derringer for ordinary terrestrial loot. We should be happy to give you further technical advice on the disposal of any terrestrial loot you may garner. Sincerely yours,

SUCCESSFUL ILLUSION.

Cornelia Otis Skinner is sole actress, producer, and playwright in her present vehicle taken from Margaret Ayer Barnes' "Edna His Wife" at the Harris. The opening night we overheard a man in the row behind us ask his companion at one point in the performance when Miss Skinner, as Edna, had concluded a conversation with an imaginary character:

"Was that her husband's business partner who just went off the stage?"

Miss Skinner doffed Edna's blonde wig and, dark-haired and lovely, wearing a metal cloth gown and gardenias, went up to the Cecil Barnes home after the opening night's performance. She immediately had a ring of admirers gathered round her chair by the fire. A witty conversationalist, one of her stories had to do with a visit she made last year to Alexander Woollcott's island off the New England coast. It was the grouse season, and a number of Woollcott's guests went off shooting. They were gone all day, but returned with game-bags empty, without a grouse or any other bird to show for their day's activities. Woollcott looked up from his backgammon game.

"I see the Audubon society is back," he commented.

DOES THE PHYSICIAN CURE DISEASE?

WHILE we may say with modesty that the rôle of the physician is to assist nature, yet there are times in which the remedies employed actually result in cure. In other instances, there are so many strings to the bow that it often becomes a puzzle as to which shall be "drawn" to propel the health-giving arrow. Of course, we rely on natural forces and the first effort in illness is to relieve the body of every handicap that is interfering with recovery.

But no amount of good nursing, bathing, food, etc., will cure syphilis. Certain drugs, properly administered, however, will do so. This we can say with almost absolute certainty if the malady is attacked early.

Physicians the world over now are using fever in treating a few ailments. While it cannot be utilized for every sort of ill, nevertheless in a limited number of cases it is helpful to a high degree.

Wagner-Jauregg, a young medical graduate working in an asylum at Graz, observed that whenever an individual afflicted with some form of psychosis was stricken with influenza or pneumonia—accompanied by a high fever—the mental condition improved markedly after convalescence from the acute attack. He waited for an opportunity to put this fever plan into practice. Then came a day when a soldier with malaria entered the wards and at about the same time there came a prominent actor with a type of insanity which sometimes will appear as an aftermath of syphilis.

With the consent of both parties the actor was injected with blood from the malaria patient and promptly came down with typical chills and high fever, which later were checked with quinine. No, it was not the malaria organisms which accomplished more than salvarsan could hope to do. It was the systemic reaction to the fever which performed the hitherto impossible. The actor returned to the stage quite himself—no longer forgetful of his lines.

Many cases of myasthenia gravis—in which the power over muscles gradually fades until strength leaves—are yielding to glycocol, prostigmine, ephedrin, and the use of potassium chloride. We cure diphtheria with antitoxin—that is, the dangerous poison produced by the bacteria is neutralized. If this is applied in time the patient gets well.

But after all we must not forget that nature is the great physician. Of the millions of minor illnesses that never come under the doctor's eye, cure occurs because the forces of the body, of their own accord, rally to drive out the invaders. We all get well quicker, however, if we give these powerful healing surges a chance. Sometimes through mistaken zeal we may do too much for the afflicted one, rather than too little.

But vast forests of ignorance still are to be explored. The problem of arteriosclerosis has defied medical science. Hardened arteries have been with us since the beginning of time and bid fair so to remain. We recognize the influence of wear and tear; of strenuous activity by day and sleeplessness and worry by night, and the one who observes a formula of moderation fares best in the long run. Some day we will stumble on to the chief causative factor.

But why be concerned about health and the behavior of the body? Well, we need not—much. We can, however, adopt well founded rules of hygiene that will spare us much suffering and a multitude of aches and pains. The wisdom of such a plan should appeal to every one as it preserves efficiency and well-being. Old Man River was "tired of living and fear'd of dying." A few of our elderly friends may be wearied of life. Fortunately, I do not know any such. Furthermore, I know none who is afraid to die. Strangely enough, as life advances each of us develops a type of philosophy in which we fear death not at all. We cannot help admiring the one who—with reasonable precautions as to his health; heeding the warnings of body failures—keeps going with spirit, accomplishing much.

FOR AIR SWALLOWERS.

S. M. writes: You have said on several occasions that those troubled with flatulence swallow air. But you have never explained how this habit can be stopped.

REPLY.

Keep the mouth closed while chewing; eat slowly; do not chatter incessantly. A sizeable bubble of air may enter the stomach ahead of or with each bit of food. Professional air swallowers suck in with a swish such liquids as tea, coffee, and soups.

PIMPLES, BOILS, ETC.

T. O. writes: What is the difference between a pimple, a cyst, a boil, and an abscess?

REPLY.

A pimple is a small elevation on the skin, containing no fluid or pus. A cyst is a sac containing gas, fluid, or semi-solid [cheesy] material. A boil is an inflammation of the tissue surrounding a hair follicle, resulting in pus formation and destruction of tissue. An abscess is a pocketed collection of pus.

EXERCISES MAY HELP.

H. D. writes: How can pigeon toes be corrected?

REPLY.

Unless the leg bones are deformed, special exercises will help. If one "toes in" slightly—the foot is in the most favorable position for walking.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—High living costs have hit titled Englishmen as well as everybody else, and more than one of them is trying to cash in on a title.

One went too far recently and got entangled with the law. Sir John Chubb, 33 year old baronet, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for trying to use his title as a "front" for a confidence trick.

In more innocent ways—still frowned on by social purists—a number of others are trying to make their titles help support them.

Chaperoning ambitious debutantes who do not move in quite the circles they would like to is a racket that has become so popular recently there have been strong hints an effort would be made to drop those doing it from exclusive social lists.

"Viscountess will chaperon a debutante or arrange parties and entertain for older woman," is a typical ad culled from the personal column of the Times. "Good credentials and remuneration necessary."

The address given is always a number, in care of the newspaper, and if an arrangement is made the girl in question appears as a distant relative or old friend.

Occasionally advertisments used to go so far as to specify that presentation at court was sought or offered. For just that reason scrutiny of the lists of those to be presented has been tightened up so that the advertisers no longer take the risk.

Discovery would mean that the climber could not be presented and the titled lady would probably lose the privilege of presentation for all time.

"Lady of title" is a typical example from the Times [Nov. 18, 1937, and other dates], "wishes receive lady as paying guest in her town house."

Or: "Peeress would receive and chaperon girl in her London house." [Times, 17 November and other dates.]

Or again: "Peeress will take out a girl or older woman socially either now or for summer season. Could reside with her. Write A. G., Box 3,208, Daily Telegraph." [Nov. 6 and other dates.]

One peeress who apparently is available at all times advertised on a number of occasions recently: "Peeress would chaperon girl or married lady Riviera, Jan. to March, or London season. Interview London now. Write Box E 208, The Times."

Some prefer to go into business openly, either accepting the loss of prestige or confident their standing is high enough to offset it.

Three peers recently went into the hotel business. Evelyn Francis Edward Seymour, seventeenth duke of Somerset, is the new chairman of Fleming's, one of London's most distinguished if old-fashioned hotels. With him on the board are Lord Cornwallis and Lord Middleton. Lord Cornwallis' title, though it sounds familiar to Americans, is not the one they know from revolutionary history. It was conferred on his late father in 1927.

Sir John Seton, a baronet, has had some difficulty financially and his affairs are now being discussed in bankruptcy court, though his status will not be decided until some time next month. In the course of examination he admitted that his share in the work of Sir John Seton & Co., promoters and brokers, for which he got about $25 a week, consisted solely in allowing the use of his name on the door. He testified that he joined a Mr. Dickeson in partnership last May. He said he had no capital and took no active part in the business, being merely a "sleeping partner" receiving £5 a week for the use of his name.

At the other extreme some members of the peerage who refuse to capitalize on their titles are having to give up family properties to cut expenses and get capital.

Norfolk house, historic London home of the duke of Norfolk, earl marshal and premier duke of England, is being sold, it is stated, and will be replaced by an apartment house.

It has long been understood here that nobody can hope for a peerage unless he has a good fat fortune to back it up. There are already too many impoverished peers.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

DIVORCE PAPERS.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Oct. 22, 1937, a divorce was granted in the Superior court. The lawyer was paid in full and promised the papers within a week, but as yet have not received them. Have not been able to get in touch with him either by mail or at his office. His phone has been permanently disconnected and I have not been able to locate his home. Is there any way I can get the papers or have duplicate ones made out and signed? G. M. S.

Finding the lawyer is a matter of following up clews in your possession. If you cannot do this we suggest that you try to get in touch with the court reporter who took the testimony and see whether he will write up the testimony and decree so that you can take it in court and have it signed. As the first step you might examine the court records to make sure whether your attorney had the decree entered. If the decree has been entered you can obtain a certified copy from the clerk of the court for a small fee.

BUILDING REPAIRS.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—There is an old dilapidated building next door which has been vacant for several years. The doors and windows are broken and now the window frames are about to fall out. The children of the neighborhood have been using this old building to play in all summer, and now that cold weather has come the boys are tearing the building apart to use as kindling wood. There is constant danger of fire breaking out from this building, as the boys go in there almost every night and play with fire. The owner doesn't seem to take an interest in the building, for he never comes around. I sincerely hope that something can be done about this building and will appreciate your referring it to the proper department. K. N.

The owner has been notified to board up and repair, or wreck and remove this building. If this work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice we will proceed according to law.

FLORIDA'S TAXES.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 6.—We have a number of residents of Illinois, particularly the Chicago area, who also own winter homes in this state, particularly at Miami Beach, and several of them have referred to me the article "Out of the Frying Pan," appearing in your paper under date of Dec. 30, by Mr. John S. Clark, tax assessor of Cook county.

Although we have an intangible tax law and obtain copies of federal income tax returns, as provided under the Costigan amendment, I wish to state that Mr. Clark is in error if he said that Florida levies a tax of 25 per cent on the principal of all intangibles whether they are paying dividends or not. The facts are Florida has an intangible tax of 2 mills under "classifications A and B" which include stocks, bonds, mortgages, etc., and 1-10 of a mill on properties not enumerated under "classifications A and B," that is, bank accounts, unsecured receivables, etc.

Further, inasmuch as the Tax Assessors' association of this state has agreed to assess all intangibles at 50 per cent of actual value, the tax is really a 1 mill tax on the fair cash value as of Jan. 1 of the year for which the assessment is made, that is $1 per thousand or 1-10 of 1 per cent. We do not desire to obtain new residents from any state by misrepresenting our situation; neither do we desire to scare any of them away by having the situation brought to their attention in a manner which does not represent the facts in the case. Unquestionably we will receive some new residents from Illinois this year since they are enforcing their intangible tax law. This is only reasonable, as we have received a great many from New York because of their state income tax, and from Pennsylvania and many other states because of their income or intangible taxes. If they do move to Florida we expect them to comply with the laws of this state, and inasmuch as we do not have any state income tax and our inheritance taxes are equal only to the amount returnable to the state under the existing federal inheritance tax laws, unquestionably Florida is attracting a great many new residents and will continue to do so as long as we do not change our laws increasing the taxes on the wealthy.

In south Florida we feel that it is very much to the interest of our state to keep our intangible taxes low in order to attract new residents, which unquestionably helps us in many ways, particularly through their inheritance taxes. However, when they become residents of Florida we expect them to comply with the provisions of our taxing laws.

THE SALES TAX SCANDAL.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—It is, of course, gratifying to read that the governor has permitted the bribery and corruption in the sales tax collection division to become public instead of attempting to cover it up. But is he deserving of any commendation when it is he who is responsible for the appointment of the director of the department and the seventeen grafting employés who have cheated the state out of millions of dollars of the people's money which should have gone for the relief of the destitute?

If the head of a corporation, responsible for the personnel in the various departments, so conducted the affairs of the institution that a considerable number of the employés of one of his departments were revealed as thieves and crooks who had over a long period of time systematically robbed the corporation, his resignation would be demanded by the board of directors forthwith.

ANOTHER WAR AMENDMENT.

Sterling, Ill., Jan. 14.—The Panay affair is closed and the Ludlow resolution is dead, but that does not prevent similar affairs occurring in the future or similar resolutions being introduced. Both should teach us a lesson. If we continue to stick around in danger zones we can expect trouble and maybe war, and the American people do not want war and are unwilling to again be drafted for service across the seas.

The following proposed amendment is, I believe, a step in the right direction both in limiting the use of the draft to national defense only, and in limiting the power of a President, as commander in chief of the army and navy, to send soldiers and battleships any place promiscuously and keeping them there even at the expense of jeopardizing the peace of the United States. While this proposed amendment leaves out the Philippines and much of South America, as far as conscripted forces are concerned, their defense, if it is desired, and other contingencies, such as removing Americans from danger zones, can be adequately taken care of by the use of voluntary forces. The proposed amendment follows:

"No person shall be drafted or conscripted for military service except for the defense of the United States or its territorial possessions, nor shall any person so drafted or conscripted be compelled to render military service outside the area bounded to the east by 30 degrees west longitude, to the south by the equator, and to the west by the international date line as now established. Neither shall voluntary military forces be sent or employed outside of the above designated area except by specific authorization of two-thirds of both houses of congress."

OWNERSHIP.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Is it not a good thing that there are people willing to own property? Most of us do not care about the ownership of property and the worry that goes with it. Property must be well managed. It must produce income or it ceases to be of value. The government wisely permits individuals to own and manage property. The individual who mismanages property loses it. Property well managed becomes an asset to the whole community.

Business management requires special skill and training. Most people in public life are unfitted for the successful management of property or business.

If the management takes more of the profits than it should have, the government takes it in the form of taxes for the public good. It is the income from property that most of us are interested in, not the property itself. We know that no one can take property with him when he dies. So long as the government can regulate the distribution of profits when it sees fit why should we worry about title or ownership?

HAMILTON C. BROWN.

WHY WAIT?

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 10.—When the New Deal shall have become a nightmare of the past and all our people are back in the safe harbor of representative self-government as established by George Washington and his associates, may some modern Jonathan Swift arise and create a great American classic—Gullibles' Travels! WILLIAM H. BARNHART.

LEADING SCIENTISTS.

Stevens Point, Wis., Jan. 10.—On Jan. 7, in a letter to the Voice of the People, Le Roy A. Bendien states that leading scientists have rejected entirely the evolution theory.

Would Mr. Bendien kindly name some of those leading scientists and give evidence of their leadership? CARL MOR.

SENATORS TELL ICKES' PLEA TO CALL OFF QUIZ

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Senators declared today that Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes had appealed to them to call off an investigation by the committee on public lands lest it become a smear campaign.

Gen. Walter L. Reed. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The committee is investigating the qualifications of Ebert K. Burlew, administrative assistant and right hand man of Secretary Ickes, who has been appointed first assistant secretary of the interior.

The senators to whom Ickes appealed privately expressed amusement over his fears. They also expressed doubt that the most partisan Republican in congress would resort to the sort of smearing indulged in by Secretary Ickes in his recent radio blast inveighing against "America's Sixty Families" and blaming the depression on a business sitdown strike.

Embezzling Details Aired.

The hearing today concerned itself with further details of the case of Reno E. Stitely, a $2,300 voucher clerk in the national park service, who embezzled $84,880 over a period of three years and eight months by obtaining government pay checks for a dummy list of CCC employés.

A confidential report by two members of the Ickes secret police, made public for the first time, placed responsibility for the strange defalcations over so long a period squarely upon the carelessness, laxity, and inefficiency of Ickes' accounting and administrative officials. The report was presented to the senate committee by Maj. Gen. Walter L. Reed, inspector general of the United States army, who was called as a witness because all vouchers for CCC employés are paid by the war department.

Ickes' Own Aids Critical.

Stitely, over the period of 3 years and 8 months, regularly made up the dummy list of CCC supervisory employés, had it certified by the proper officials in the interior department, presented the vouchers at the war department, received government pay checks, and cashed them. The report of Ickes' own investigators, signed by Agents Robert C. McCarthy and Cecil G. Miles, said:

"It is inconceivable that the national parks service would authorize any person connected with the voucher unit, engaging in the preparation of pay roll vouchers, to receive checks from the disbursing officer for delivery to the persons named in said pay roll vouchers.

"The records in the Washington office of the national parks service have not been audited in several years. Neither has a proper audit of ECW [emergency conservation work] funds been made, either in the Washington office of the national parks service or its numerous field stations.

Cite Need for Audit.

"It would require at this time at least six auditors the better part of a year's time to make a proper check of ECW funds paid for the department of the interior. Unless this check is made it will be impossible to ascertain the number of persons who have taken advantage of the opportunity to unjustly enrich themselves."

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] and Senator Gerald P. Nye [Radical, N. D.] sought throughout the hearing to make it appear that the war department disbursing office was negligent. Gen. Reed, however, said the army had orders to pay all vouchers presented in the proper form by persons authorized to present them and certified by the proper certifying officials.

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.] took the position that responsibility rested squarely upon the interior department and upon Ickes and Burlew, his administrative assistant.

130 More Ask City Liquor Licenses; Total Now 9,159

One hundred and thirty more applications for liquor licenses were received yesterday by City Collector Louis Rixmann, making a total so far this year of 9,159. During the last half of last year 9,430 liquor licenses were issued.

ONE SWIFT AND SAFE PRESCRIPTION FOR RHEUMATISM

One supremely good prescription for rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis and lumbago—when caused or aggravated by excess uric acid or other circulating poisons—and most of it is—is well and favorably known to live pharmacists all over America. Just ask for 3 ounces Allenru prescription and take as directed—it is swift and safe—often the pain and agony leave in 48 hours. Costs about 85c. Cut this out and save it.

PEOPLE WHO BACK SHOWS ARE CALLED ANGELS

THE BUSINESS OF AMUSING PEOPLE is so risky it isn't a business—just a gamble.

Veteran theatrical producers will have a run of hit shows, and make millions. Then a series of flops, and go broke—with the same casts, in the same theatres.

Successful actors start with natural talent, often take half a lifetime acquiring technique. They spend months rehearsing a new role or act; open with it, and often see the audience sit on its hands.

A film company turns out a string of four-star pictures, shows a fat profit; then with the same company, with the same authors, same stars, same studio staffs, does a series of duds, shows a red ink statement.

This fair country of ours is lousy with bands and dance orchestras—but name ten in the Big Time.

A song writer has a smash hit, rakes in the royalties; and you get tired hearing the song. But all his subsequent efforts may never get heard outside of Tin Pan Alley. Count all the successful living song writers you can think of; you won't even need your thumbs.

Seasoned sports promoters get a big gate with one proposition, lose their shirts on the next. Think of three who died wealthy.

Do you know the type of amusement enterprise that has the longest and most consistent success on record? The national magazines!

The magazines draw a gate of millions, hold the same audiences year after year, gather new customers every year. No other form of entertainment affords more satisfaction to more people. They are without exaggeration the Greatest Show On Earth All The Time!

IF YOU want to mix entertainment with advertising, give a cool thought to the risks of Show Business. You may be an unsung impresario, or maybe not. A good show is rare. Talent is limited, and high priced. Good scripts are hard to find. Good songs are few, and don't live long. Hit bands are scarce as hens' teeth, and come high. Production and props need a fat purse. Even a Shakespearean repertoire doesn't hold up for a whole season. And getting good time for your act is a problem!

The magazines, however, put on the program; the advertiser just rides. The magazines find the talent, supply the scripts, skits and novelties, pay for the production. The audience supplies the time—its own time. You just advertise, and stay out of Show Business.

If you are backing shows with money that should be spent to sell goods, you can do less spending and more selling in the magazines. People who back shows are called angels. Angels, you will remember, are pure spirits, uninterested in material rewards.

TWO SHORT CUTS IMPROVE TRIP TO EASTERN FLORIDA

New Routes Traveled on Tribune Trailer Tour.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The Tribune automobile, towing its trailer northward, has covered two short cuts in the route to the east coast of Florida. One became available this winter by the construction of new pavement. The other became accessible recently simply by shifting U. S. 41 markers.

In northern Florida, the road marked Fla. 28 has been completed between U. S. 41 at Lake City and U. S. 1 at Bunnell, which is a few miles north of Daytona Beach. It is a smooth road of bituminous macadam with few turns, curves, or towns to retard progress.

Tourists en route from Chicago to Palm Beach or Miami or thereabouts will use this new road in preference to winding route through the central part of the state where through trafic is stalled by parking congestion in the main streets of small cities. Central Florida will regret this loss of tourist travel.

New Markers Skip Macon.

In south Georgia the U. S. 41 markers no longer pass through the crowded business district of Macon. They now follow a direct route between Perry and Barnesville that only the well informed tourists knew about last winter, when it was marked simply Ga. 7. The distance between Perry and Barnesville by the new U. S. 41 is 54 miles, as compared with the 69 miles over the former U. S. 41 through Macon.

Last year Macon business men protested to the Chicago Motor club against sending its members over the Ga. 7 short cut. The Macon garages, hotels, and restaurants have lost tourist business because the city did not accommodate through motor travel. They are in the same situation as some central Florida communities will be when the new Fla. 28 becomes better known.

Chicago Situation Pointed Out.

The analogy could be carried to Chicago's elevated highway plans. Congested surface streets do not encourage motor visitors, yet in a comprehensive poll by the American Automobile association, Chicago ranked as the fourth city in the nation as a magnet for tourists. Washington, New York, and Boston held the first three positions. Los Angeles was sixth and Miami was eleventh.

By building elevated highways, Chicago could get a larger share of the annual expenditures by America's tourists of $850,000,000 for gasoline, oil, car repairs, and garaging; $1,000,000,000 for camping supplies, souvenirs, knickknacks, and other incidental purchases; $850,000,000 for lodging; $892,500,000 for meals; $340,000,000 for golf, theaters, and other amusements, and $255,000,000 for pop, hot dogs, and other refreshments. These money estimates were also developed by the American Automobile association's survey.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Furthering the campaign to eradicate venereal diseases, Gen. John J. Pershing, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur and Dr. Thomas G. Parran will discuss the need for control of syphilis in a broadcast over NBC and CBS at 9:45 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 2. All are members of the national anti-syphilis committee.

This broadcast comes on national social hygiene day and marks the start of a nation-wide drive against venereal diseases. The fact that NBC has announced its plan to broadcast this program indicates a modification of its attitude toward this subject. Recently Gen. Hugh Johnson's proposed discussion of syphilis was canceled by network officials at the last minute. Subsequently there was an announcement that NBC preferred to have this subject discussed only by experts.

Tom M. Girdler, the militant steel executive, will be heard over W-G-N-Mutual at 9 p. m. tomorrow, addressing the Lehigh club in New York City. Girdler is expected to reply to recent speeches of Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, in which he assailed "big business."

Dr. Forest Ray Moulton, noted physicist, at 6:45 o'clock tonight on WENR, is to begin a series of broadcasts titled "Science on the March," under the auspices of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, of which he is permanent secretary. Dr. Moulton will be questioned by a person representative of the inquiring public on recent scientific advances.

While on the subject of scientific advances, a radio burglar alarm which may revolutionize commercial wire burglar alarm systems now in general use, is being tested under authorization of the communications commission. The Howton Radio Alarm company, represented by former Senator C. C. Dill, has been granted an experimental license permitting the use of the system in ten cities now equipped with police radio systems.

The alarm—it isn't really an alarm at all so far as the burglar is concerned—automatically transmits on a given police frequency as soon as a circuit is interrupted and is picked up by cruising police. In tests conducted in Seattle, police cars caught the intruders within sixty seconds of the alarm. The burglar himself hears no noise or sound of any kind when he breaks the circuit.

Florence George, Chicago songstress recently called the most beautiful of Hollywood's ten starlets of the last year, will join the NBC Jamboree aired from local studios at 9:30 p. m. tomorrow, over WENR. Miss George will speak from Hollywood and will reveal some of the backstage secrets of radio audition booking. Don McNeill will be master of ceremonies and Betty Bennett and Joe Wolverton, guitar-vocal duo, Hal Olson, the Cadets and Harry Kogen's music round out the bill.

Repercussion No. X. to Mae West broadcast: Jane Storm, writer, has brought suit in Los Angeles Federal court against La West, Don Ameche, NBC, RCA, J. Walter Thompson agency, Standard Brands, Arch Oboler and a flock of John and Jane Does asking damages in excess of $10,000. She claims a portion of Miss West's "Mrs. Eve" was lifted from her own play "Love and Applesauce."

JUDGE RULES OUT EX-WIFE'S PLEA TO COLLECT $9,760

Judge Philip J. Finnegan ruled yesterday that Mrs. Dorothy McConnell Somer Mann, 211 East Delaware place, is not entitled to have her ex-husband, Alfred N. Somer, a bakery executive, held in contempt of court.

Mrs. Mann, who is 34 years old, charged that Somer owes her $9,760, representing the unpaid balance of a $10,000 settlement made at the time of their divorce Jan. 4, 1937. Somer stopped paying the settlement at the rate of $40 a week when his ex-wife married Philip Mann.

Judge Finnegan ruled that Mrs. Mann waived alimony at the time of the divorce, and that the settlement was an out of court agreement. She still has the right to sue to enforce this contract, he said, adding that the divorce courts in this case are not a collection agency.

Plan Benefit Show of Film of Chicago Fire

BY JUDITH CASS.

Interest in early Chicago is running high at the moment. An exhibit of the Victorian era and another of silver and china that survived the great fire of 1871 will open this week. And a motion picture dealing with Chicago's early history is coming to town. So the alert members of the board of Grove house have taken over the showing of "In Old Chicago" at the Apollo theater for the night of Saturday, Jan. 29.

The board met yesterday at luncheon in the Casino to complete plans for the benefit. Mrs. John M. Butler, chairman of the board, and her coworkers are planning to take over a club dining room or a café on the 29th for a big Dutch treat dinner. Some yesterday thought the Casino would be a perfect place; others voted for the Kungsholm because of its association with old Chicago. It occupies the house that used to be Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick's home. It may be that the board will arrange parties for both places, for it is thought that at least 700 north shore residents will want to dine in town that night.

Board Members Will Entertain.

Every board member will entertain at dinner that night, judging by the parties that were planned over the luncheon table yesterday. One of those at the meeting was Mrs. Francis P. Butler, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Hermon B. Butler, honorary chairman of Grove house. The elder Mrs. Butler and her sister, the late Mrs. James L. Houghteling, were the founders of Grove house, a home for convalescent women in Evanston. Mrs. Francis Butler's daughter, Miss Judy Butler, and Miss Eleanor Wilson will be in charge of a group of young women who will sell flowers the night of the benefit.

Miss Wilson's mother, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, is ticket chairman. She and her husband have as their guest for 24 hours his brother, Hugh R. Wilson, whose appointment as ambassador to Germany just has been confirmed.

The young women who will assist the night of the benefit will wear—the board members hope—some of the same costumes that will be seen tomorrow at the Art institute when the Antiquarian society has a tea to open a Victoria centenary exhibition.

Credit for the idea of making a benefit of "In Old Chicago" goes to one of the younger board members, Mrs. Stanley Morrill of Lake Forest. Her stepmother, Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, Mrs. John Stuart, Mrs. Frederick Colburn, Mrs. Charles T. Mordock, and Mrs. Howard R. Stone were among others at the luncheon meeting yesterday.

Survivors of Fire Will Attend Premiere.

Of all the thousands who will see "In Old Chicago," few will have a greater thrill than the prominent Chicagoans, all survivors of the great fire, who have been invited to its première next Thursday night. These will spend a day rich in memories, for they have been invited to luncheon in the Old Chicago room of the Palmer house, followed by a drive to the site of Mrs. O'Leary's house, and tea at the Chicago Historical society before going to see the film.

L. Hubbard Shattuck, director of the society, and Frank J. Loesch, its vice president, will be hosts at the luncheon. Mrs. Ferdinand W. Peck, Thomas M. Hoyne, William V. O'Brien, Carter H. Harrison, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Robert S. Gregory, Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler, Frederick B. Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. Frank G.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Take the Stand, Alice Faye

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.

Q.—You were born in New York City, weren't you, Alice?

Alice Faye in "Old Chicago."

Q.—A real west side kid, huh?

A.—I went to P. S. 84 over there and after school, in the wintertime, we used to go skating on a pond where Fox movietone is now. That's a plug for the company.

Q.—What did you enjoy most in school?

A.—Nothing.

Q.—Nothing?

A.—Nothing!!

Q.—Alice, that's hardly a lesson to broadcast to the children of America. Now think—English, history, arithmetic, spelling—what did you like most?

A.—Nothing. From the time I was old enough to know anything I wanted to be on the stage and out of school. I was 14 years old when I got my first job with the Chester Hale girls at the Capitol theater, New York.

Q.—Who were your stage idols or screen idols, Alice, at that time?

A.—Mary Brian, Buddy Rogers, Mary Pickford—you know the usual kid "crushes."

Q.—And then?

A.—On and off I worked at the Capitol for about two years, averaging about $35 a week. I was a chorine at the Palais d'Or, which is now the Cotton club. I worked for N. T. G., Jack Pomeroy—a lot of dance producers. Then I got my first show job as a chorine in George White's "Scandals."

Q.—I was in Atlantic City when it opened. Let's see, there was quite a cast—Willie and Eugene Howard, Ethel Merman, Everett Marshall, Barbara Blair, Joan Abbott, and——

A.—And Rudy Vallee, the fellow who gave me my start!

Q.—He really did, didn't he?

A.—Surely. After "Scandals" Rudy took me with his band as vocalist, and when he came to the coast to make his first picture, "Scandals," it was Rudy who persuaded George White to let me sing "Nasty Man." White was against it; he figured I was still a chorus girl. I owe everything to Rudy Vallee.

Q.—Then why the feud between you and Vallee?

A.—It's a one sided feud. I send him wires every time he opens any place, and if I'm in the town I make it a point to attend. But when he meets me he gives me a formal "How do you do, Miss Faye?" I'd rather he slapped me right in the face. It all goes back to Manhattan Beach and a date he was playing there. He advertised me to appear, the studio thumbed out all personal appearances, and he's been mad at me ever since, and I've felt miserable about it, because he did give me my start.

Q.—You're too sensitive, young lady.

A.—I know it, but there's nothing I can do about it. I can have a perfectly grand time and then have it ruined by overhearing one catty remark from somebody on the way out ot a place. Sure, it's silly, but that's no help.

Q.—How did it feel the other night, in New York, when you had a police escort to "Old Chicago"—and autograph fans mobbing you—on the same street where you worked as a chorine?

A.—It was grand, Ed, but I was thinking back to an earlier trip to New York when my father died. He and my mother had separated, years before, and, although I sent him money regularly, I didn't know he was ill until Bellevue hospital called and said that a man was there who had a picture of me in his wallet. The minute they said his name was Leppert I knew it was dad, because that is my real name. By the time I reached New York he was dead. So I was thinking, that night on Broadway, about him and how much I would have given if he had been there to see the mounted cops protecting me. You see, he had been a member of New York's finest, a cop.

Q.—What's been the greatest thrill you've ever had in this business, Alice?

A.—A lot of 'em. The first job with the Chester Hale girls at the Capitol; the first job in "Scandals"; the first time I sang with Rudy's band, but the biggest was——

Q.—What?

A.—"Sing, Baby, Sing." That was the first picture in which I got good notices from the critics, and it was the first time that I really felt I'd make good in the movies. Up to then I'd been neither fish nor fowl. And there was one other terrific kick I got, just recently.

Q.—What was it?

A.—The other night I met George White out here. And he asked me if I'd like to do a Broadway show for him—me, the former "Scandals" chorine. That really tickled me. It's a crazy business at that, isn't it?

Q.—What's been your favorite picture rôle?

A.—"In Old Chicago." It really is. I guess a girl never got the break that was handed to me in that one, with every type of thing to do. When they first suggested it I was scared to death, but now I'm glad they insisted. Mr. Zanuck has been darned nice.

Church Colleges Report 60 Per Cent Decline in Income in Decade

Whether church related colleges build superior student character over institutions run by state or secular agencies was questioned yesterday at meetings of leaders of church colleges of a half dozen denominations. The leaders also studied a 60 per cent decline in new income for higher education during the decade ending in 1935.

These meetings of denominational college interests were held yesterday at the Stevens hotel prior to today's opening of the national conference of church related colleges. That conference will merge today and tomorrow with the annual meeting of the American Association of Colleges.

The church college leaders learned of studies by the national council of education, which in addition to citing declining college income show an increase during the period of 1925-'35 of 800 per cent for tax supported colleges and universities.

The Rev. Dr. Paul Hutchinson, editor of the Christian Century, Chicago, said much that goes on in church colleges tends to wreck character and bring religion into disrepute. He spoke before a meeting of Methodist educators.

"If there is the slightest hocus pocus in the conduct of athletics the students know it," said Dr. Hutchinson as he enumerated character damaging effects.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Those who have listened long and interestedly to the radio program y-cleped "Hollywood Hotel" will be glad to meet on the screen the celebrities who have made it what it is.

They are—well, let's see——

There's lovely little Frances Langford, who can both sing and act.

There's Announcer Ken Niles, Singer Jerry Cooper, Columnist Louella Parsons, said to have been the originator of the "H. H." idea, Benny Goodman, Raymond Paige and their orchestras, the late and beloved Ted Healy, and a whole raft of entertainers such as have appeared on the program.

The story opens showing Mr. Powell as Ronnie Bowers, a saxophone player with a home town band, being seen off handsomely by his band mates . . . He is about to take a plane for Hollywood. . . .

Ronnie's life in the movie colony is hectic. He meets all sorts of people, and falls in love with the double of a handsome and temperamental lady screen star. . . . Misfortune attends his way till about the last reel when, of course, small town boy makes good. . . .

Mr. Powell gives a breezy account of himself. Rosemary Lane, as the double, is pretty and charming. Her sister, Lola, better known to movie fans than she, takes off the star with gusto. . . . Louella Parsons, looking very chic and assured, is in and out of the action as herself. . . . The bands play well—and too much. Mr. Healy's familiar brand of comedy is ingratiating. . . . I thought the most sparkling "bit" of acting was contributed by Glenda Farrell as the star's secretary and Allyn Joslyn as a publicity man. He was the reporter in "They Won't Forget." A Spencer Tracy sort of guy.

The film is lavishly staged.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

SYNOPSIS.

Poco St. Vrain arrives in the western town of Christian City, escaping a pursuing troop of cavalry. There Two-Way Hornbeck approaches him with a scheme.

INSTALMENT III.

GOLD ON A MOUNTAIN TOP.

Two-Way said, staring at Poco. "Did you shoot?"

"I didn't have to."

"Just a little touchy."

Two-Way threw back his head and laughed loud.

"Well, Poco," Two-Way began, "I've got something. If it goes through, we'll drown in gravy. You can buy and do and say what you want."

"I do anyway," Poco said.

Two-Way looked at him levelly. "You do, don't you? Well, I don't. I want money. I need it. You could use some, couldn't you? Especially if it was money taken from Abe McCandless, huh?"

A tiny light of interest leaped into Poco's eyes, but he said nothing.

"You've always wondered who fixed it up so that when you rode into Socorro after that big Wells Fargo holdup, you were arrested and identified as the robber." He paused and watched Poco's face. "Did you know that Abe McCandless was the only passenger on that stage, and that the driver and the guard were killed so they couldn't have identified you?"

"I heard it," Poco said.

Two-Way tongued his cigar with relish, then said, "Well, Abe McCandless, besides owning a dozen ranches, a couple of towns, a pack of tough gunmen and three sheriffs, owns a mine. It's up in the San Jons—way up on top of the highest peak. Know anything about mining?"

"No."

"Neither do I. Only I know that you generally don't find gold on top of a mountain range, because it washes down over a hundred miles of ground, is caught in some pockets, is found along creek beds and such. There's a dozen prospectors working that slope and they make good wages. But Abe McCandless is on top. Don't that tell you anything?"

"You mean the mother lode of that field is up there?"

"That's just what I mean," Two-Way said. "I know it!"

"How?"

"Last summer Abe McCandless hired a dozen men and the best mining man money could buy. He had tons of grub and tools freighted up to timber line. Then he set a crew to cutting timber. They built their shacks and started in and they stayed there all winter. Every one around here laughed at them, but they found gold. They found a hell of a lot. Roughly, it's worth more than a quarter million dollars."

"So'm I," he said thickly, "I c'n shoot."

"That's a lot of money," Poco said gently. "I don't believe it. If they did, all of Christian City and the whole army would move up and stake claims."

"They don't know it."

"How do you?"

Two-Way grinned. "A couple of weeks ago," he began slowly, "I had to leave Tombstone. I thought I'd come up here, so I took the stage. On the way we picked up a passenger, a young fella dressed in good clothes. Crossing the Mogollons, a storm hit us. It rained for three days. When we got down out of the mountains it was still raining. We couldn't make five miles a day, so when we came to the stage station at Apache Crossing, our driver gave up. We had to hole up in that single log shack and drink rotgut booze and play poker. When you're penned up with people like that, they begin to talk. This Jasper did. I found out that he was a field agent for a big insurance company. He told me he was on his way to a job up in this country."

Poco raised a hand and Two-Way stopped talking. There was a thundering knock on the door of the next room, then silence. Poco lounged erect and strode across the room to a door which let onto the next room. He palmed the knob and the door opened. Turning to Two-Way still on the bed, he put a finger to his mouth, then fisted his hand and pretended to drink from the thumb. Two-Way understood the pantomime. He reached over for the second glass, tucked it under his pillow and lay back, just as the same brand of knock racketed on his room door. Poco vanished into the next room and closed the door behind him.

The knock came again. Two-Way said thickly, "C'min."

The door opened and a blue coated cavalry trooper stepped into the room. Hanging down from his hand was a six-gun. He said, "I'm lookin' for a little fella with a red shirt."

Two-Way waved with an amiably drunken gesture and said thickly, "Fine. There's six of 'em sittin' on the foot of my bed.

The sergeant looked disgusted. "What's in there?" he asked, pointing to the door Poco had just stepped through.

Two-Way took a deep swig of whisky. "The school teacher. She's got boils."

The sergeant strode across the room. Two-Way heard the outer door of the next room open and he was waiting for the sound of shots. Then he looked up and saw Poco standing just inside the room. He streaked for the connecting door, and a second after he had vanished the sergeant stuck his head in the corridor door.

"You're funny," he said wryly. "I hope this gent shoots you in the back. He's bad."

Two-Way stared at him soddenly. Then he drew his own gun and waved it at the sergeant. "So'm I," he said thickly. "I c'n shoot."

The sergeant pulled the door shut hurriedly and Poco stepped into the room and leaned against the wall.

"What about this insurance agent?" he said quietly.

Two-Way wiped the sweat from his forehead. "You're a cool proposition," he said faintly, and began again.

"Well, I remember what he told me. When we got up to Silver City, I got hold of Tim Conaghan and arranged to—well, get his papers."

"Stickup."

Two-Way nodded. "Tim bungled the job, but he got the papers. I read them." He pointed to a sheaf of papers on the bed. "There they are. About the middle of winter, Shayne, this mine manager for McCandless, rigged up a pair of skis, put a man on them and shoved him down the mountain with word to the McCandless brothers that he had struck it. He said that the gold would have to be got out in the spring. He told McCandless to keep it a secret, that if word got out in this country that they were bringing the stuff down, all the hard cases above the border would gang up and take it. He's the one that told McCandless to write to this insurance outfit to send two good tough men to take it out secretly."

Poco looked at him curiously. "How do you know all this?"

Again Two-Way pointed to the letters. "It's all in there. Shayne's letter and a copy was to be given to the two insurance men as a way to identify themselves when they appeared at the mine. Shayne told McCandless to hire the men but not to interview them, because it might arouse suspicion. So you're clear there. You won't have to see McCandless. All you do is take these papers—all of them will identify you as Jake Finger—up to Shayne, get the gold and disappear."

Poco said quickly, "You said two men."

Two-Way nodded. "There's the catch. The other agent, as a matter of caution, was coming from El Paso. His stage was held up in the Tularosas by a gang and every passenger was killed. That happened last week."

Poco said gently, "Whose gang?"

Two-Way shrugged. "Whoever did it will send one man up there to pose as the insurance agent and he'll have the same papers you do."

Criticism of Manners Is Often Severe

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I don't know whether it's because, as adults, we have a trace of the dictator in us or because we long for perfection in our children, that we are more alert to their faults than those of grown people.

Take just the matter of manners as an example.

How many of us are above reproach in this respect? If our social behavior [either in the family or outside] were to be subjected to a critical appraisal, how many of us would achieve a rating of 100 per cent? You may be a person of concentration; I may lose myself in the enthusiasm of the moment; some one else may be really indifferent about forms, and so any one of us may interrupt, serve ourselves out of turn, or commit any other breach of etiquet. Among our grownup associates we wouldn't think of expecting a detailed perfection of manners—morning, noon, an night, at work, and at play. Yet many of us do expect it of children.

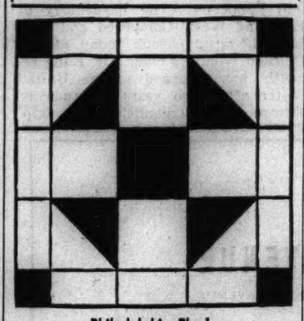
"We were looking at snapshots the other night and my boy took them before his aunt did. She called him an extremely rude boy. I am so upset. Do you think this was terribly inconsiderate of him? She says it was," reads one letter.

This is an example of what I mean.

Of course, we want our children to be mannerly, a mannerliness based on considerateness of the rights and comfort of others. And we achieve this gradually, little by little. But we have to realize, too, that children are vigorous, interested, unaware and direct, and tend to go straight to the point in thought and action. [That they are "little savages," too, many people like to add, which is only a semi-accurate statement.] This inevitably leads them at times to an unintentional disregard of the amenities. To be on the lookout for these slips, to pick each one up for reproof, to label a child rude is unwise, and going much farther than we would with any adult.

Personally, I'd hate to see a child so etiquet conscious, so eternally aware of social situations and other people's feelings and needs that he never could lose himself in the presence of grownups.

Philadelphia Is Inspiration for This Pieced Quilt



Philadelphia Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This pieced design of unusual interest and charm also is known as "Philadelphia Pavement." These "Philadelphia Blocks" are similar to designs in the entrances of the old homes in the eastern city. The patterns were inlaid by arranging little angular or square shaped blocks of different colors in an arrangement similar to mosaics. The simplicity of the design was typical of the Quakers themselves, and the colors varied, depending upon the flowers surrounding the homes. One of the original coverlets made before 1850 was composed of prints. The violet material contained black and white figures, while the yellow material had brown and white figures.

Logan, Mrs. Frederick T. West, Judge and Mrs. George A. Carpenter, and William S. Monroe will be the guests.

The homes of many old Chicago families have been temporarily stripped of silver and china that survived the Chicago fire to be used in a table setting display that is opening Friday at Field's. Mrs. Howard Linn has sent a set of pink banded china; Miss Mary Pomeroy Green and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick are lending tea sets, and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, Mrs. Jesse Mather Watkins, Mrs. Robert Harvey, and Mrs. John B. Drake are loaning articles.

David G. Crowell to Wed Eastern Girl.

From New York comes an announcement of interest, that of the engagement of Miss Virginia Slaven Lunsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Pierce Lunsford of Hilltop, Pompton Lakes, N. J., to David Gapen Crowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Alfred Crowell of Evanston. The wedding will take place on Jan. 27 in Bennington, Vt., immediately after the drama school of Bennington college finishes its midwinter tour and immediately preceding a three weeks' vacation the young Thespians will enjoy.

Miss Lunsford and Mr. Crowell both are students in the school and they intend finishing their courses; each has another year in the school. Bennington is primarily a girls' college, but there are some young men in the drama school.

The Crowells' elder son, Lucius Jr., married a Bennington girl, too, Miss Priscilla Bromley of Philadelphia, who finished her college course after she was married. Lucius Crowell Jr., who is an artist, and his wife now live in the country near Philadelphia, not far from where Mr. and Mrs. Crowell Sr. recently purchased a farm. The Crowell-Bromley wedding took place in December, 1936.

Miss Virginia Healy To Be Bride Today.

A wedding always is an occasion full of sentiment, but the marriage today of Miss Virginia Healy to Richard Page Sunderland will be doubly so. The bride will wear her mother's wedding dress and the day is the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Healy. The ceremony will take place at noon at St. Athanasius church, Evanston, the Rev. Thomas F. Burke of Winnetka officiating. A breakfast will follow at the Healy home in Kenilworth.

Mrs. Edward S. Hill will be her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Robert Taylor of Plainfield, N. Y., the former Georgiana Fowler of Winnetka, and Miss Betty Sunderland, the bridegroom's sister. Harry Neil will be best man and ushering will be William F. Healy Jr., Mr. Hill, and Albert Stemwedel.

Mr. Sunderland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sunderland of Hubbard Woods, and his bride will cruise to the West Indies on their honeymoon. They will live in Evanston.

Admiral Bailey Will Be Made Knight Soon.

The M. Scott Bromwells and his mother, Mrs. Charles Bromwell, were thrilled to hear earlier this month that Vice Admiral Sydney R. Bailey, whose wife is the former Mildred Bromwell, was on the New Year's honors list of King George VI. of Great Britain for a knighthood. The investiture will take place this month.

Admiral Bailey, admiral president of the Royal Naval college at Greenwich, England, was gunnery commander of the British fleet under the late Admiral Lord Beatty. It was while the naval officer was attaché of the British embassy in Washington that he met and married the former Miss Bromwell.

Mrs. Charles Bromwell, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. William A. Gardner, in Colorado Springs, is coming this week to spend the week-end with her son and daughter-in-law in Lake Forest. She will go on to Bloomington to visit friends and then will go to Washington and New York before sailing for Europe in March. She will spend the summer, as usual, with Admiral and Mrs. Bailey and their two children in England.

Old Mansion Will Be Opened for Meeting.

One of Chicago's fine old mansions, that of Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick at 20 East Burton place, will be opened for the next meeting of the American Friends of China. The house seldom is the setting for anything but small, private affairs, so it is safe to predict that as many friends of China as can arrange it will be there on Thursday, Jan. 27, to hear Dr. Hu Shih speak on "The Survival of Chinese Culture." He will speak at 4:30 o'clock.

The Friends of China are interested in a benefit performance of "Flower of the Han Palace," to be given by Chinese students of Chicago for Chinese civilian relief. The performance will be given tomorrow and Friday nights at 8 o'clock at Interntional house.

The entertainment, which will include the imperial wedding procession featured in the last St. Luke's fashion show, a Chinese fashion show, an ancient dragon dance, a travelogue of China, and classical Chinese music, will be followed by dancing. Kenneth Foster has written and is directing the spectacle.

"'Biocism' Versus International-ism" will be discussed by Dr. Hugo Simon this morning at 11 o'clock in the third of four talks he is giving. The talk will be given at the home of Mrs. Edward A. Leight, 2416 Lake View avenue.

At the annual meeting of the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins Mrs. Dan Peterkin Jr. was elected president, and a group of younger women, including Miss Marjorie Kimball Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mrs. Edward Robbins, and Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr., were elected officers. Mrs. Hedwig Plate who has been a member of the board for many years, is the new treasurer.

Stretches the Clothes Budget

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Does your wardrobe need a budget stretcher? We offer this versatile pattern as the answer to your problem. It creates both a street dress and a pretty frock for the home. Indeed, the "house dress" version of this design is so lovely that, made with silk, it might well make its appearance at informal social events.

At the left is a simple tailored frock with V and rever neckline and long sleeves that are puffed at the shoulders. Paneling achieves smart line and perfect fit, a narrow tailored belt encircles the waist, and braid finishes the neckline and hem. Pastel woolens and bright silks are A-No. 1 selections for this useful dress.

The same pattern, as we told you, fashions the dress at the right. It has a high neckline topped with a Peter Pan collar, the latter pretty in organdie with ruffled edge. The same trim might serve for the cuffs on the short puffed sleeves. A rather wide sash extends from the side panels and ties in a full bow in the back. Buttons trim the waist where the sash joins the frock. Large pockets are seen even on evening gowns these days, so why not on this informal and thoroughly charming dress, which is pretty in either cottons or silk?

Style No. 2053 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 2½ yards of ruffling.

Boys Dislike Being Pursued by Telephone

BY DORIS BLAKE.

There may be a bit of an eye-opener in the following communication for young women who telephone the boys' homes repeatedly.

Says Kay: "My brother, who is 21, has been going around with a girl of 17 for several months. He won't confide his reason to me for wanting to avoid her now, but he is trying to break off with her, that's sure. He told me that he informed the girl last week that they would not be going steadily together any more. If he changes his mind, he told the girl, he will call her, which ought to be hint enough that he wished she wouldn't ring his home number. The girl is on the phone continually. I have to do the dirty work and tell her that he isn't home when he is sitting right there in the same room.

"Sould I write the girl a polite letter to try to make her understand my brother is in earnest? I haven't anything against the girl, understand, so it isn't a disagreeable sister rôle I'm playing. She makes herself so ridiculous chasing a young man who wishes she would stop bothering him. I think if she were older and more experienced with boy friends she would know better than to make such a fool of herself."

We can't tell you how many mothers and sisters have reported to us their annoyance over the girl bent on tracking her man down by telephone. There are times, of course, when it is perfectly legitimate to call.

Hospital Heads Hear Plea for Better Meals

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Better meals for hospital patients was the plea last night of Dr. Logan Clendenin, author, and professor of medicine at the University of Kansas. He spoke before the second annual dinner of the Chicago Hospital council, Congress hotel. More than 350 Chicago hospital trustees, administration and medical staf members were guests of Charles H. Schweppe, president of the council.

"In my experience the food in hospitals is always bad and this is particularly distressing considering that you are dealing with sick and convalescent patients," said Dr. Clendenin.

Dr. Arnold F. Emsch, director of the council, outlined progress of the organization during the year. He stressed the development of the Plan for Hospital Care, low cost group hospital insurance for employed persons which was set up by the council under a separate nonprofit corporation. The plan, he said, now has more than 30,000 members, all of whom were enrolled since Jan. 1, 1937.

"A coöperative credit service was set up on June 1," said Dr. Emsch. This service, operating on a cost basis, is now handling over $90,000 in accounts and has credit information available to member hospitals.

The council also has a legislative reporting service which, in coöperation with the Illinois Hospital association, interprets current trends in hospital and medical legislation.

Just to prove that good dinners often come from cans, today's plan for the tired business woman goes completely canny. A canned cocktail, canned potatoes, canned meat, canned vegetable, and canned dessert.

Opening a row of five or six cans all at once isn't an extravagance, for much of the food contained will serve as part of a later meal. For example, part of the sweet potatoes opened for this meal may be served for a later dinner in another way. The string beans not used as vegetable may go into tomorrow's salad; the apple sauce cake later in the week; and the remaining condensed milk may form the basis for a good frosting for this cake.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S DINNER
Tomato Juice Cocktail [canned]
Glazed Sweet Potatoes [canned]
Browned Vienna Sausage [canned]
Canned String Beans with Cheese
Whole Wheat Rolls Jelly
Coconut Strips with Canned Apple Sauce
Coffee

It's possible to buy excellent tomato juice cocktail in bottles and in cans, and it's possible to transform the breakfast tomato juice into a cocktail by spicing it with a little lemon juice, celery salt, salt, and perhaps a little onion juice. Some of the canned tomato juices have cocktail recipes printed on their labels.

To glaze the sweet potatoes it's necessary only to heat them in a brown sugar and butter sirup. Add a third cup of water, or liquid from potatoes, to three-fourths cup brown sugar, and cook for three minutes. Add three or four tablespoons butter and heat the potatoes in the mixture, either on top of the stove or in the oven. If the potatoes are glazed in the oven baste them several times as they are being heated.

STRING BEANS WITH CHEESE.

COCONUT STRIPS.

Remove the crusts from several slices of bread and cut the bread into strips. Dip each strip into sweetened condensed milk and then into coconut. Toast in a hot oven or under the broiler until brown. Cool and serve while fresh.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Here's an item that will be appreciated by the housewife's husband. It's a neat, simple little metal gadget for pressing ties or clothes in a hurry. You simply plug it into any socket, AC or DC, and you're ready to remove the wrinkles from coat sleeves, lapels, trousers, cuffs, ties, gloves, and scarfs.

It is not an iron. It is made up of two metal leaves that open like a book and that are heated. You insert the article to be pressed, close the leaves, and the pressure does the rest.

This presser will not overheat and will not cause a shine. It's grand for the traveler, for it takes up little space. It works speedily, and is inexpensive.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Before a player can double intelligently he must thoroughly appreciate the mathematics of doubles and redoubles. It must be remembered that every time a contract is doubled there is the chance that a redouble will promptly follow. The higher the contract the greater "percentage" a redouble returns, this, of course, assuming that the contract will succeed, or fail, by a very close margin. Experts fully appreciate this matter of percentage, which is one of the reasons that they are extremely chary about doubling slam bids.

When you double six spades, let us say, and your opponents redouble, you actually are laying considerable odds that you will defeat the contract. Had you let them play six spades undoubled, if the contract succeeds they score 180 points below the line. If there is a double and a redouble, a fulfilled contract returns 720 points below the line. The difference is 540 points. Now let us see what happens if the contract goes down one trick. Without a double or redouble, you [the defender] would score 50 or 100 above the line, depending on vulnerability. A redouble increases this to 200 or 400 points. Thus, if the contract will either make or be defeated one trick, you are risking 540 points additional against a measly 150 points additional, not vulnerable, and 300 points additional vulnerable. Obviously you are laying too liberal odds. East received an object lesson in this connection in the following hand.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	2 spades	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

As may be noted, South bid his hand in such a way as to hide his distribution. With a definitly solid heart suit South saw no reason to disclose his club holding. His real interest was in locating, if possible, the spade ace. Had he done so by means of the four no trump bid, he then might have jumped to seven clubs, asking a choice from partner. But, upon finding that the hand was off the spade ace, South had to be content with a small slam, and then turned his efforts toward coaxing a double from the opponents. East "fell," and thereby cost himself and partner 540 points more than it was necessary to lose.

It may require restraint, when holding a hand such as East's, to pass meekly to a slam bid but, nevertheless, that is the only sensible course. Assuming that the player in the South position is not a novice, he must be given credit for knowing what he is doing. There would be no point whatever in his opening a hand with a two bid, and later going to six-odd in the face of partner's signoff to the four-five no trump convention, unless he were positive that his loss could be no more than one trick.

Spring Styles Presage Slim Line for Waist

You are asking for a slimmer waistline and you are smart about getting in early on the truly feminine figure. From the advance word on spring collections, you are going to be glad you got a few inches off the waist, for the wide sash belt is to be very popular.

Now you can get a slimmer waistline by exercise, and don't believe that you have to go on a rigid diet for it. But you can't be lackadaisical about the waistline exercises, either. Keep that sash belt in mind. Play up for it. Give yourself two months of exercise morning and night and I'll guarantee you results. Only don't come back at me if you cheat on the exercising! I am going to give you only four exercises. Wonder-workers, I call them. But, because you are given only four, you have to promise to repeat them 20, 30, and on up to fifty times as you get along with them. I do want you to get out your tape measure first and take your waist and hipline measurements. You needn't look again until the end of six weeks, when you should show considerable shrinkage.

Exercise No. 1, easy to do and infinitely worth doing. It is done in both standing and reclining positions. You might begin doing it lying down on the floor on your back with hands overhead. Now stretch your right arm up, stretching to fingertips and from the waist. At same time, stretch right leg down to toe tips from waist. In other words, you are stretching from tip to toe. Alternate, stretching left side same way. You can stand up later and go through the same stretching motions, rising on toe tips for the standing motion.

Exercise No. 2: Stand with feet apart, arms at sides. Raise arms to front and keep on raising them overhead and rearward, bending the knees and stretching down from waist through knees and up from waist to finger tips. If you had to do only one exercise for waist reduction, this is the one we'd recommend.

Exercise No. 3 will refine the middle-body thickness. Sit on the floor, but sit stretched tall from the waistline. Now, do a forward rowing movement with your hands, trying to reach your toetips. Go forward, back, forward, back ten times at start, increasing gradually.

Exercise 4 you can omit unless you are young and agile. Face down on floor, bring your legs back at knees and grasp ankles with hands. Now you simply ride "hobby horse." Just rock back and forth on your diaphragm, waist, and abdomen.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of our regrets is that we didn't get around sooner to the thoroughly enjoyable task of using a bath fragrance that found its way to our cabinets a couple of months ago. It's heavenly. The bottle is unpretentious and it doesn't have one of those ridiculously la-de-la names. It's just quality and beauty in a simple little flask.

A few drops of it [the bottle has a convenient shaker top, by the way] perfume the water, your skin, and practically the whole house. It's utterly impossible for us to describe the fragrance. It's got the languor of floral scents, and the beauty, but it's also got a nice spicy tang that makes it a good daytime perfume. When it's used in our house the whole place seems flooded with the charming scent. Every one likes it, which is much more than could be said for some of the bath perfumes we've inflicted on a long suffering family.

This rates as one of the pleasantest of bath oils for several reasons. If you're a shower addict you can oil the skin before or after your daily scrubbing. If your skin is extremely dry you can massage a bit of the oil in lightly after the bath. You'll find that the scent lingers all day—and you'll never weary of its elusive beauty.

The oil added to the bath water softens it but it doesn't leave a ring around the tub, another point in its favor. It doesn't break down into oily particles that annoy you and make you feel you're bathing in greasy water. It blends beautifully and the pervasiveness of the perfume, though you use so little, will astonish you.

If you love a luxurious bath and a perfume that's unusual we think you'll agree with us that this is tops as a bath dramatizer.

Unusual Items Presented by Duo-Pianists

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A Bach sonata which is virtually never heard in public. The Brahms-Haydn Variations in their original form. An English polka which sounds like "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?"

This was a part of the fare offered in Orchestra hall last night by Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, British duo-pianists. The occasion was the fourth concert in the Adult Education council's Musical Arts series.

The Bach sonata turned out to be the first of the trio sonatas for two manuals and pedals. Originally written for pedal harpsichord and now the exclusive property of organists, these sonatas possess a musical worth which would justify their introduction to a larger world.

Yet they will have to be introduced in a manner somewhat different from that of last evening if all of their original excellence is to be retained. Only in the second movement was the nobility of Bach fully apparent. The temptation to turn the final division into a fluency study proved too strong for flesh and blood to resist.

The familiar Brahms-Haydn Variations, heard nowadays only in the orchestral transcriptions which Brahms himself made, offer in their original two-piano form an invaluable opportunity to study the flow of musical thought without being distracted by the wealth of glowingly somber color in which the composer later clothed it. The orderly magnificence of Brahms' imagination is perfectly apparent in this much more ascetic version of the piece.

The polka mentioned in the first paragraph was written by Lennox Berkeley for Bartlett and Robertson. Its theme strongly resembles "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" yet lacks the finish and sparkle of the latter opus.

Despite eloquent and meaningful phrasing and a fair number of enchanting tonal effects, the performance as a whole did not seem to meet the standards set by these same artists when they appeared with the Woman's Symphony orchestra a year ago. Their tone is too often literal and forthright, deficient in that luminous quality, which is the chief glory of the piano.

And variety of tone coloring, so important to musical expressiveness, is not utilized to its full extent. An undistinguished gray receives far more than its proper share of attention.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr. announced today he had authorized the completion of Rockefeller Center by the construction of three more structures as evidence of continuing faith in the future of American business, and urged an expansion of building by private business and industry to meet the unemployment problem. The three new units will cost about $12,000,000 and will give 1,000,000 man-days of employment to workers in the building trades.

LOYOLA AND DE PAUL BATTLE IN STADIUM TONIGHT

BLUE DEMONS' DEFENSE FACES DIFFICULT JOB

C. Y. O. to Be Aided by Charity Game.

Ready for Action

LOYOLA.		DE PAUL.
O'Brien,f		Norris,f
Hogan,f		Howlett,f
Novak,c		Tollstom,c
Kautz,g		Neu,g
Lynch,g		Crowley,g

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Officials of the Catholic Youth organization, which is sponsoring the event, predict that the crowd will equal that of last year, which set a record for college basketball in Chicago. The paid attendance on that occasion was 10,179.

Although athletic rivalry between these schools has become traditional, their basketball teams have met only three times. Two of these encounters were in 1931, each winning one. In last year's meeting Loyola won, 46 to 43.

Practice at Stadium.

Both teams went to the Stadium yesterday to get accustomed to playing conditions and lighting. They worked at different times and spectators were barred while Coach Leonard Sachs of Loyola and Tom Haggerty of De Paul schooled the players in the maneuvers by which each hopes for victory.

De Paul will face a difficult task in stopping Wibs Kautz and Mike Novak, the only two members of last year's cast who will be on the floor during tonight's performance. Kautz, who led Loyola's scoring last season, is doing the same this year, having run up 122 points in seven games to date, for an average of more than 17 per game.

Novak, who is 6 feet 9 inches tall, has learned to use his great height to better effect this season. His clever maneuvering has enabled Loyola to pull itself together during many a tense moment in previous games. O'Brien, Hogan, and Lynch will complete Loyola's starting lineup.

Neu Scores 149 Points.

Bob Neu, De Paul's scoring leader, will get plenty of attention from the Loyola defense. From his position at guard Neu has dashed down the floor to score 149 points in 13 games this season, averaging 11 per game.

De Paul, which has been hard hit by injuries, will be able to put its regular starting lineup on the floor, but two of the reserves, Clem Naughton and Ted Skrodzki, will be unavailable. Each has a wrist fracture. Pat Howlett and Neu, who have been injured, and Ed Norris, who has been ailing with a cold, have recovered sufficiently to start tonight's engagement. Crowley and Tollstom will complete the lineup.

Loyola will go into the game with the more impressive record for this season, having been beaten only by Purdue so far. Among its victims Loyola includes California, which defeated some of the strongest teams of the country during its recent tour.

Fenwick vs. Mount Carmel.

Tonight's program will start at eight o'clock with a game between Fenwick and Mount Carmel High schools. Mount Carmel won the St George holiday tournament and Fenwick took the city and national Catholic basketball championships last season.

In predicting an attendance equal to last year's game, C. Y. O. officials pointed out that 6,000 tickets had been sold up to yesterday afternoon, which was a larger advance sale than that at a corresponding time last season.

Alexander Is Voted Place in Baseball Hall of Fame

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—To the list of baseball immortals in the hall of fame established at the game's birthplace in Cooperstown, N. Y., the official jury today added the name of Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the great right handed pitchers of all time.

Old Pete, who ended a brilliant but somewhat checkered career in 1930 after nearly twenty years in the National league, was the only star to qualify for the honor in the third annual poll of members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. A minimum of 197 votes, or 75 per cent of the total cast, was required.

Alexander was the choice of 212 experts among 262 participating in the poll. His elevation to the honor roll was forecast a year ago when he topped the list of players failing to get the necessary three-quarters vote.

Sisler Just Misses.

Finishing short of the total votes necessary were George Sisler, famous first baseman of the St. Louis Browns in the twenties; Wee Willie Keeler, great outfielder who spanned the century's turn in the National league; and Eddie Collins, second baseman with the Athletics and White Sox. Their totals, respectively, were 179, 177, and 175.

The only others to receive more than 100 votes were George [Rube] Waddell, southpaw who gained fame first with the Athletics, 148; Frank Chance, one time peerless leader of the Chicago Cubs, 133; Ed Delahanty, slugging champion of his day who finished with Washington after a long National league career, 132; and Big Ed Walsh, iron man pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, 110.

Joins Immortal Group.

Alexander becomes the ninth of the so-called modern group of superstars voted into the hall of fame. The Baseball Writers' polls have been restricted to players active since 1900, but no longer in competition at the time of the vote. The first five choices were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Christy Mathewson, Hans Wagner, and Walter Johnson. Last year Nap Lajoie, Tris Speaker, and Cy Young were added to the list.

Major league club owners, in joint session last December, voted to include the two most famous managerial figures of all time, Connie Mack and John McGraw, in addition to George Wright, pioneer player and manager; Morgan Bulkeley, first National league president; and Byron Bancroft Johnson, organizer and first president of the American league.

Alexander's right to join baseball's most celebrated company, for historical purposes, is a remarkable pitching record, spread over the period of 1911 to 1930 with the Phillies, Chicago Cubs, and St. Louis Cardinals. He came up to the big leagues by way of Galesburg, Ill., and Syracuse, N. Y., at a time when Mathewson was the king pitcher of the National league. Their paths crossed for three seasons.

FREDDIE WELSH'S WIDOW TO SEE BRADDOCK FIGHT

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—When Tommy Farr enters the Madison Square Garden ring Friday to fight Jim Braddock, the widow of Wales' last great boxer, Mrs. Freddie Welsh, will be present. But though Welsh was world's lightweight champion from 1914 to 1917, and is remembered as one of the most skillful boxers of all time, she will be on hand only because a local newspaperman found and invited her.

Fight Decisions

PIRATES DEMAND DEMAREE; CUBS ANSWER: HA! HA!

Ready to Trade, but Not with Frank.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Probably on the theory that no harm can come from a bit of idle talk, the Cubs and Pirates got together again yesterday. It was entirely informal and not prearranged, but at the conclusion of the session the principals were agreed that a deal between the two clubs was as far away as when the sparring started last October.

On one side of the table was Clarence Rowland, who is in charge of brewing trades for P. K. Wrigley's baseball organization. On the opposite side was William Benswanger, the Pirate president, who came to town on private business and decided that as long as he was in Cub territory he might as well stir up the ashes of the December meetings. President Bill still believes his ball team needs strengthening and, besides that, he suspects the Pittsburgh fans would appreciate a few new faces in the lineup.

They All Want Demaree.

Benswanger's No. 1 demand in a swap with the Cubs is the same one he made in December. It also is the one the Brooklyn club has made in the Cubs' efforts to land Van Lingle Mungo. Benswanger wants Outfielder Frank Demaree and Outfielder Frank Demaree happens to be one of a couple of fellows the Cubs positively will not trade.

What Benswanger would like to do is give the Cubs Outfielder Woody Jensen. The latter is a polished fly chaser, speedy afoot, and not a bad hitter. The Chicago club has no objection to ownership of the athlete who might be a handy man for left field, but nothing would be gained by taking Jensen and letting Demaree slip into a Pirate uniform.

Jensen recently was credited with an interview in which he advised his boss to quit baseball and return to the insurance business and, although the statement subsequently was denied by the player, Benswanger is said to be slightly hot under the collar because of the incident.

You've Heard of Paul.

The name of Paul Waner, the Pirate outfielder who needs no introduction as a hitter, also was mentioned. Waner, as a warmup for his usual holdout rôle in the spring, already has broadcast to the world that, in his opinion, the Pirates don't seek new men but cheaper ones. But even though the Waner blast was a bit severe, Benswanger isn't ready to admit the player is on the block.

As soon as Benswanger had finished painting Jensen as the man the Cubs must have to assure a pennant, Ambassador Rowland sprang an idea of his own. He conceded that Jensen was a good man but that the Cubs would prefer to talk business about Johnny Rizzo, an outfielder who batted .358 at Columbus, O., last season. The Cardinals recently traded Rizzo to the Pirates for Catcher Padden and First Baseman Cobb. Benswanger refused to nibble on the Rizzo suggestion.

Mungo Talk Goes On.

The Cub-Brooklyn argument over the latter's Mungo is still on and will come to a head for the steenth time during the National league schedule meeting in New York Feb. 1. It is reported that if the Dodgers give up demanding Demaree in the deal they will ask in his stead a couple of pitchers the Cubs cannot afford to lose. Brooklyn already has hinted that it would "consider" Bill Lee along with Rip Collins, Augie Galan, and Clay Bryant.

Benswanger moved on to St. Louis last night and while there will try to talk business with the Cardinals. President Bill still has an idea that he would like to have Dizzy Dean, for whom he offered a bag of money and players a year ago.

Robert Nipper of Butler, one of the original officials assigned to the Indiana-Iowa basketball game Monday night, has canceled his entire Big Ten schedule because of criticism of his work during the Illinois-Purdue contest a week ago in which the officials called forty fouls. . . . Nipper is reported to have told Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner, that he "didn't have to take that kind of abuse from any one." . . . John Schommer then was appointed to work the Indiana-Iowa game, but he withdrew and it was explained he had been called to Springfield by Gov. Horner. . . . Stan Feezle of Indianapolis finally was lined up by Coach Dean of the Hoosiers to handle the encounter. . . . Mrs. Ellsworth Vines will accompany the touring pro tennis troupe as far as Florida. . . . Reason: she wants to skip over to Havana to learn the rhumba. . . . Weather.

Without the weather folks would lack
A subject whereon tongues may clack.
None lack concern, or so it seems
In this, the most discussed of themes.

All social levels find one plane.
Prognosticating when 'twill rain,
Or if perchance we may have snow,
Or whether fair or foul below.

No erudition is required
When sage prediction is desired;
The plowboy may as oft be right

Thus conversation widely ranges
To cover all the season's changes,
And so while weather shifts without
We'll have something to talk about.

If he should be seen
As the guest of Green
Or spend a day

Well, why not, why not?

Why heckle him so, and vex?
Why not grant the ex-king

Referees—Babe Dye and Clarence Campbell.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A goal by Mush March, with the aid of Doc Romnes in the second period, was all the Chicago Blackhawks could do in the way of an offensive tonight and the Bruins, National Hocky league leaders, won, 5 to 1.

It was Boston's 17th victory of the season.

Ten thousand, the smallest home crowd of the season, saw the game in the Boston Garden.

The Bruins stepped into a one goal lead a minute and thirty-five seconds after the game opened when Bill Cowley took a pass from Ray Getliffe and rammed it past Goalie Mike Karakas, who had another one of his increasingly frequent futile evenings in the Chicago net. Cowley also provided Boston's final goal late in the third period.

Good Old Mush.

March's goal was his third of the last two games and those three represent the Hawks' total output in that time. Mush scored while Dit Clapper was resting in the penalty box tonight. The Hawks had five forwards in action at the time and March connected after taking a puck that was batted out of a face-off by Romnes.

The Blackhawks' next port of call in their current tour will be Detroit, where they meet the Red Wings, last year's Stanley cup winners and this year's cellar occupants, Thursday night. The Chicagoans maintained their five point margin over the Wings, who were idle tonight.

Bruins Go to Work.

Shortly after the game opened Jack Portland stopped a Chicago rush, carried the puck back, and fired into a corner. Getliffe recovered and passed out to Cowley, who lashed a drive from 20 feet out past Karakas.

After five minutes of action in the second period Flash Hollett and Roger Jenkins, his former Boston teammate, crashed against the sideboards and came out fighting. They drew major penalties.

A few seconds before the battlers were freed Woody Dumart sped down the left lane and blasted a high angle shot through Karakas to put the Bruins into a 2 to 0 lead.

Then came March's goal for the Hawks.

The Hawks lost MacKenzie after five minutes of the third period. He was banished for interfering with Bobby Bauer. The visitors held firm until they regained full strength, but then Art Wiebe was sent off for interfering with Goldsworthy.

It Becomes a Slaughter.

Goldsworthy was robbed of an earned goal when Karakas turned in a sparkling save on a close-up shot but the Boston winger came right back at him, in combination with Clapper and Art Jackson, to ring up the third Boston goal, at 14:57 of the third period.

Two more Boston scores were registered during the 17th minute of play, the fourth resulting from a solo rush by Bauer. The fifth was slammed in by Cowley, who jumped off with Getliffe and took the latter's forward pass just over the Chicago blue line, with the Hawks trailing by ten yards.

New York Deals Venturi Suspension of 120 Days

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Enrico Venturi, knocked out in his nontitle bout with Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong in Madison Square Garden last Wednesday, was suspended for ninety days today by the New York state athletic commission which decided the bout had an "unsatisfactory ending." Carmine Tarrentino, Venturi's manager, drew a like suspension and in addition was given thirty days for letting his man weigh in at more than the 135 pounds called for in the contract. Venturi automatically was suspended for thirty days when he failed to make the weight.

Holdout Talk Joke to Baugh; Ready to Sign

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Sammy Baugh, forward passing star, set at rest rumors of his alleged $25,000 salary demand today by announcing he probably would sign a three year contract with the Washington Redskins within a few days.

Baugh said he had no intention of becoming the Dizzy Dean of the gridiron and was anxious to sign his contract as soon as George Preston Marshall, the Redskin owner, arrives in Dallas this week-end.

Baugh said he had conferred with Marshall and that he had two safary alternatives. One calls for a flat one year contract at "between $13,000 and $14,000," while the other is a three year renewal of his old terms.

The Boy Looks Ahead.

"One year's football at $13,000 or $14,000 is considerable money," Sammy said, "but I'm a pretty frail boy, you know, and I'm liable to go out any time. Suppose I signed for a one year term and got hurt. I'd be through. Under the terms of the three year contract I am protecting myself for that length of time—broken leg, smashed career or not."

Baugh and the Redskins will play an exhibition game against the Chicago Bears here Sunday.

"Me get $25,000? Who ever heard of such a thing? It's the bunk—just publicity," Baugh continued. "Salaries just don't come that high in professional football. The amount I made in my first year was very good for a youngster."

He Wants to Be a Coach.

Baugh said he still had his plans pointed toward a coaching career.

"Sure, I'm going to keep right on playing," he said. "It doesn't hurt to keep your name before the public when you are shooting for a coaching job. I'm learning more football all the time. There is a bunch of pretty fair football players in that league."

Steinberg announced that the club expects to make extensive improvements this year, and may install a swimming pool and tennis courts. The club will hold a get together stag at the La Salle hotel Jan. 27.

FARRAGUT AND MANLEY JUNIORS WIN; KEEP LEAD

Tilden Beats Harrison; Lindblom Loses.

The Manley and Farragut junior basketball teams kept the lead in the central section of the City High School league yesterday by winning their third round games. Harrison dropped to a tie for second place with Tilden when it lost to Tilden, 35 to 32.

Manley had little difficulty beating Phillips, 37 to 20, but Farragut was forced to come from behind in the last quarter to defeat DuSable, 22 to 19. Farragut trailed, 17 to 16, at the end of the third period. Free throws were the deciding factor, the winners making ten to DuSable's three.

It was the third loss for Phillips which shares the cellar with Lindblom. Lindblom lost to Kelly, 38 to 24.

Weber Wins on Early Lead.

The Weber seniors piled up a 33 to 15 lead over St. George during the first three periods of their Catholic league game, then hung on during the closing period to win, 36 to 29. St. Philip beat St. Ignatius, 40 to 37, by scoring eight free throws to the losers' five.

De Paul scored five points in the closing period while holding St. Patrick to a free throw and won, 33 to 30. Leo beat Joliet, 47 to 41, also coming from behind in the final quarter.

Mount Carmel, outscored from the field, made good on three more free throws than De La Salle to win, 26 to 25.

La Grange, Glenbard Win.

In West Suburban league heavyweight games, La Grange outscored Downers Grove by three points in the final quarter and won, 35 to 32. The score was tied, 24 to 24, at the end of the third quarter. Glenbard beat Maine, 35 to 29, while York rolled over Riverside, 41 to 11.

The Safeway's are regarded as one of the most versatile teams in the game. They switch from the deliberate, pivot play, short passwork and the set blocks of the professional teams to the fast breaking Collegiate style. They are directed from the bench by Everett Shelton.

Gary's Steel Men Back for Golden Gloves

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This may not be news to Gary, Ind., but the other Golden Gloves centers, including Chicago, which will compete in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium next month, should be warned. The boxers from the Inland Steel company in Indiana Harbor, Ind., who last year won the team championship in the tournament sponsored by the Gary Post-Tribune, are ready to defend that honor with a stronger and better squad.

Then after winning this championship, according to Mickey Patrick, the professional light heavyweight whom Chicago knows quite well, the boys are coming to Chicago to show the other forty-five teams that the Inland team is the best among all amateurs in sixteen states which will compete in the Stadium.

All Inland Steel Employés.

"All of our boys," Coach Patrick said in extended explanation of why he thinks his team will be successful in the coming campaign, "are employed by the Inland Steel company. The majority have clerical jobs. Two work in the mills, and one is a mail boy. The company executives have taken an interest in development of boxing and the entire plant turns out for a show. At our annual show last summer 10,000 attended.

"Joe Benna, who was an alternate on the 1937 Chicago Golden Gloves team, will compete for us in the middleweight class. We have two fine heavyweights, Walter Schramm and Otto Fischel. The light heavyweights are Mike Preizarke and Dale Hull. Mike Sopkout is the other 160 pounder.

"Others are Al Kaffra, 147 pounds; Steve Horvat and Stanley Ketchell, lightweights; Ray Ferrand, featherweight, and Syeve Drozich, bantamweight. These boxers were finalists in the intraplant tournament last week. Our team already has beaten Acme Steel in a dual meet, 5 bouts to 2."

Gary Is Always Strong.

The Gary sectional Golden Gloves team always has been one of the strongest in the Tournament of Champions despite the handicap of the size of the city in comparison with such centers as Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Oklahoma City. Development of amateur boxing by the industrial companies in the Calumet district is an obvious reason for this strength.

It is apparent that Chicago this season, the eleventh that amateur boxing has been sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will be hard pressed to hold its position of prominence in the Tournament of Champions. Several of last year's outstanding stars have graduated into professional competition.

Skaters Turn on Lights for Race Carnival

The first speed skating Derby to be held this season under lights is scheduled for tonight at Tuley park, 90th street and South Park avenue, where the Southtown Sportsmen will present a card of twenty-three events open to skaters of the Illinois Skating association.

Races range from those for class A men and women down to midget boys and girls, and distances from 200 yard dashes up to the feature five mile open for all skaters over 18. Stars in the five mile race include Bob Heckenbach, 1938 Silver Skates champion; Tony Neberz, former national five mile title holder; Bernie Cannata, Bob Sherman, Ray Doersam, and Eddie Schroeder.

New girl stars may take the spotlight from Eleanor Theil-Dyer, Shirley Jameson, Elaine Bodga, and Genevieve Sweirkos, who have been dominating the women's class A events. Helen Sweirkos, Genevieve's sister, is one of the major threats.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A throat infection has sent Irl Tubbs, University of Iowa head football coach, to Universal hospital.

Physicians at the hospital said they did not know the exact nature of Tubbs' illness, but they did not consider it serious. He is improving.

Tubbs is the second University of Iowa coach to go to the hospital since the Christmas holidays, Otto Vogel, baseball coach, having been a patient there while suffering from a throat infection several weeks ago.

FIGHT ON PROFITS TAX IS PUSHED AT HOUSE HEARING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18. [Special.]—Witnesses before the house ways and means committee continued today to urge outright repeal of the undistributed profits tax instead of the moderate revision which the committee contemplates.

C. D. Laylin, counsel of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, said his organization favors repeal of the tax, and the imposition, if necessary, of a slightly higher normal corporate tax rate.

"Business men have come to believe that the tax is an evil thing," he said. "Anything short of repeal may fail to renew business confidence."

Trucking Counsel Is Heard.

J. N. Beall, counsel for the American Trucking Association, Inc., declared that 99 per cent of all trucking operations would be affected by the tax recommended on closely held corporations.

"We would like," he said, "to preserve the individual status of the thousands of individual proprietors in the trucking business. The only way this can be done is to permit them to put back the earnings, if any, into the business. That cannot be done if there is to be placed a penalty tax on undistributed profits."

The Association of American Railroads, through R. V. Fletcher, associate general counsel, urged the committee to exempt railways from the undistributed profits tax.

Urges Change in Category.

Fletcher asked that the law be changed to put railroads in the same category as insurance companies and banks, making them exempt from the surtax on undistributed earnings.

A flat 16 per cent levy on banks and insurance firms has been recommended. For large corporations in general a 16 to 20 per cent undistributed profits tax has been proposed.

While recommending special treatment for the rail carriers, Mr. Fletcher said the subcommittee's tax plan would considerably ease the present tax on them as well as on corporations in general.

Fletcher went on to explain that railroads are "semi-public" institutions and, he said, are subjected to "all sorts of minute regulation"—perhaps to a greater degree than banks and insurance companies.

Publisher Asks Changes.

Frank Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., newspaper publisher, suggested to the committee that the tax laws be amended to encourage corporations to disburse "wage dividends" to workers. He said he had put such a plan into operation with his employés.

"But I find that in declaring this wage dividend," Gannett said, "we will have to pay 3 per cent tax. We are taxed for giving the employés this reward for coöperation in making operations profitable."

CALLS COAL ACT A $1,800,000 CHICAGO BURDEN

Hoskins Says Labor, Trade Will Suffer.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Enforcement of the minimum price provisions of the Guffey-Vinson act will add about $1,800,000 annually to the fuel bill of industries and large buildings in the Chicago area, J. C. Hoskins, president of the Hoskins Coal and Dock corporation, declared yesterday.

Hoskins is opposing the act on the ground that it deprives Chicago of some of the natural advantages it holds as the result of its proximity to coal fields and its key position in transportation, both rail and water. He announced recently that he proposes to test the constitutionality of the act in the courts but he cannot do this until after the national bituminous coal commission acts on specific complaints.

Warns Labor Will Suffer.

Labor in the long run will suffer from the enforcement of the act, Hoskins also said, because under the minimum price provisions it no longer will be advantageous for industry and large consumers to buy coal during the summer. Summer purchases in the past have kept many mines operating, thereby creating employment, Hoskins said.

Hoskins based his estimate of the addition to Chicago's fuel bill on a price boost which he said would average about 60 cents a ton on approximately 3,000,000 tons of steam coal, or screenings, a large part of which comes from the southern Illinois field. This is a stoker coal.

Hoskins said that in addition to this type of stoker coal, the price of about 2,000,000 tons of domestic Pocahontas mine run coal used annually in the Chicago district will be increased indirectly, although there will be no apparent change in the price asked.

Explains Indirect Cost Hike.

He explained that the boost will be accomplished through the reduction in the amount of coarse coal in each ton to be sold hereafter. Hitherto, each ton of such coal has contained from 60 to 65 per cent of coarse coal. Hereafter, he said, each ton will contain from 35 to 40 per cent coarse coal.

The coarse, or lump coal, is higher in heat units than the fine coal, he explained. Consequently, a reduction in the amount of coarse coal automatically reduces the value of the coal while the cash price is not changed.

"One of the most unfair things about the Guffey-Vinson act," Hoskins said, "is that it penalizes the efficient coal producer to help the inefficient one or one possessing fewer natural advantages than a competitor.

Tells Policy in Past.

"In the past large industries and coal buyers bought from mines which had low production costs, thereby getting substantial savings over prices charged by mines which had higher production costs. Savings thereby effected were passed on to consumer. Under the Guffey-Vinson act, the efficient mine must charge the same amount as the mine with higher production costs.

"Further, because prices will be the same summer or fall, the purchaser who decides to buy during the summer will have to keep his money tied up in coal held in storage without getting any price advantage to offset this.

"I know of no mine in this country that possesses storage facilities which would enable it to carry on production during the summer and store the coal for future demand. Previously, the coal has moved out as produced for storage in private establishments. Failure on the part of large consumers to make purchases during the summer will result in mines being closed during that period."

ASSAILS PRICE FIXING

Pittsburg, Kas., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The natural economic advantage of the coal producer operating near the large consuming centers is being destroyed by the minimum prices imposed on the industry under the Guffey-Vinson act, Carroll B. Huntress, St. Louis, an official of the Republic Coal and Coke company, said in a speech here tonight.

Prices of some grades of coal have been advanced unreasonably at the expense of the consumers, Huntress asserted. He pointed out that mine properties close to the Chicago and St. Louis markets now find new competition from producers who formerly were unable to compete economically because of their distance from the market.

Many coal men, Huntress asserted, admit that the price fixing of the national bituminous coal board is "lousy economics" but have supported the board for selfish financial reasons.

Gov. Earle Asks U. S. Buy Hard Coal Mines

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Federal ownership of eastern Pennsylvania's anthracite fields was advocated tonight by Gov. George H. Earle and leaders he summoned to solve the ills of the depression-ridden industry.

Gov. George H. Earle.

Earle said the conferees who agreed that purchase of the hard coal property by the federal government was the "only enduring" solution were two large operators, two union leaders, one independent producer, and the governor's own anthracite investigating commission.

The next move, Earle said, would be to enlist President Roosevelt's support for such a program. He said he would visit Roosevelt next Monday or Tuesday.

Would Regulate Marketing.

Under the plan favored at the conference the federal government would regulate marketing but would not operate the mines. An effort would be made to purchase the land "at a reasonable price," Earle said. If this failed the properties would be condemned. Operators would obtain leases from the government and would continue to operate the mines.

"The anthracite industry, properly regulated," Earle asserted, "could bring lower priced fuel to approximately one-third of the homes in the nation."

Largest Hard Coal Producer.

The mountainous five county district in eastern Pennsylvania is the world's largest producer of hard coal. Thousands of miners in the valley and mountainside towns have been thrown out of work by sharp decreases in anthracite production in the last few years.

The unemployed miners have pockmarked the anthracite laden hills with makeshift coal holes and have reworked abandoned holes on company owned property. Producers have fought this unauthorized mining.

Company spokesmen have said the diggings of free lance miners close to company operations is a threat to the safety of regularly employed miners and that coal illegally mined, trucked to market, and sold at low prices has undermined the normal sale of anthracite.

Studies Earle Charges.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A study is being made to determine what action, if any, shall be taken concerning charges by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania that "monopolistic practices" exist in the anthracite industry, President Roosevelt said today. He made this statement at his press conference when asked if legislative or court action was contemplated.

COUNCIL HOUSING COMMITTEE WILL DRAFT PROGRAM

The new city council housing committee, headed by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], asked Gael Sullivan, Chicago secretary of the Federal Housing administration, yesterday to draft a tentative program in approaching the Chicago housing problem.

Sullivan suggested that vacant school board property be leased to the FHA, which then might be able to interest private capital in a joint housing venture. Thus the school board would receive revenue and the city taxes on property now idle, he said.

Sullivan said that dwelling construction in Chicago is hindred by faulty finance, burdensome taxation, haphazard foreclosure laws, inadequate zoning, an obsolete building code, short sighted city planning, and exorbitant material and construction costs.

Southern Pacific Seeks to Issue $7,660,500 Bonds

The Southern Pacific railroad yesterday asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue $7,660,500 of first refunding mortgage bonds. It proposes to sell the bonds to the Southern Pacific company, holding company controling the railroad, at par. Proceeds would be used to reimburse Southern Pacific company's treasury for expenditures made in 1937 in paying maturing securities. The holding company, in a companion application, asked permission to pledge the bonds as security for short term notes it may issue.

PLEADS STOCKS HELD ON MARGIN ARE NOT TAXABLE

Stocks held on margin are not taxable as personal property, because the holder does not have complete control of them, it was contended yesterday before the board of tax appeals. The contention was made by Attorney William J. Jennings, appearing for Patrick J. O'Connor, 1323 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, on a complaint against O'Connor's 1937 personal property assessment of $723.

Paul Drymalski, member of the board of appeals, indicated that he would uphold the assessment, but continued the hearing until Jan. 25 to permit Attorney Jennings to cite law on the question.

The board heard 209 complaints yesterday, all but twenty of which, filed by corporations, were on small individual assessments. Assessor John S. Clark filed nineteen corrections of original assessments, reducing his appraisals by a total of $48,356. In almost all cases where he did not admit error the appeals board upheld his assessments.

Detroit Edison Proposes to Spend $18,000,000 in '38

Detroit, Jan. 18.—[Special.] — The Detroit Edison company is planning to spend $18,000,000 on new construction this year, or the largest construction budget since 1930—this compares with a planned expenditure of $13,500,000 and an actual expenditure of about $14,000,000 in 1937. The increased expenditure is being made on the theory that the recession will be of limited duration.

L. E. MICKLE, Vice-Pres. and Treasurer

24 OFFICES IN 7 STATES

N. Y. Exchange Group to Ask Paid President

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A paid president for the New York Stock exchange, a reduction in the number of governors, a chairman to act as adviser to the president, and the transfer of administrative functions from committees to a paid personnel will be major recommendations continued in the report which the reorganization committee of the exchange is expected to make by Feb. 1.

Carle C. Conway.

This was learned in authoritative quarters today, although the committee, which is headed by Carle C. Conway, has issued no formal statement as to its findings and recommendations.

It is also understood that the committee is considering the advisability of recommending election to the governing committee of a few outsiders to represent the public as well as companies whose securities are listed on the exchange.

Membership Will Vote.

These matters will have to be put to a vote of the membership, because they involve amendment of the constitution of the exchange.

If a paid president is approved, steps to be taken would embrace election of a more compact board of governors and chairman, who then would select the new president. The committee will propose that the president be elected either from within the membership or from the outside.

It is assumed that the new president would have the job of building up the executive personnel for the administration of the exchange, aided by the chairman and the board of governors, who would act in the capacity of directors.

By tradition the exchange president has served without pay. Charles R. Gay is now president.

Job May Pay Up to $100,000.

Some brokers who have been campaigning for a paid executive said a yearly salary of anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000 would not be too much for a man who could run the exchange to the satisfaction of members, the public, and the federal Securities and Exchange commission. The SEC has demanded that the exchange put its own house in order or be forced to change its practices. William O. Douglas, chairman of the SEC, recently attacked the exchange's policies.

If the program is approved, it is believed likely that the paid executive personnel of the exchange will be augmented as the duties of many committees are transferred to new operating departments.

The vote by members on the proposals of the reorganization committee is expected some time early in March.

The committee has completed hearings of the views of many members and others interested in the exchange administration.

CERTAIN-TEED STOCK PURCHASE APPROVED BY CELOTEX HOLDERS

Stockholders of the Celotex corporation at their annual meeting yesterday approved a proposal to buy 9,496 shares of preference stock and 109,360 shares of common stock of the Certain-teed Products corporation from the Phoenix Securities corporation, a New York investment company. Of the 268,685 Celotex shares outstanding, 92,790 were voted, of which 73,011 were for the proposal and 19,779 were against it. The 61,044 shares held by the Phoenix company or interests identified with it were not voted, nor were the 27,000 shares held in a voting trust for the family of Bror Dahlberg, Celotex president.

Under the plan, Celotex will pay to Phoenix 43,744 Celotex common shares and $569,760 in cash for a 17 per cent interest in Certain-teed. The plan has been opposed by Distributors Group, Inc., New York underwriter, which last March underwrote a $4,000,000 issue of Celotex debentures. The opposition said that Celotex would pay a cash premium of $518,097 over current market values.

FEDERAL DEFICIT FOR 6½ MONTHS TOPS 795 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The treasury reported today its deficit Jan. 15—after 6½ months of the fiscal year—was $795,726,970.

President Roosevelt estimated two weeks ago that the deficit for the fiscal year would total $1,294,345,300. In the first 6½ months of the last fiscal year, the deficit was $1,504,482,147.

The treasury report showed both receipts and expenditures were continuing to run ahead of the previous fiscal year. Income since last June 30 totaled $3,352,118,844, compared with $2,321,732,756 in the comparable period of the previous year. Expenditures in the same period amounted to $4,147,845,814, compared with $3,826,214,903.

On Jan. 15 the public debt was $37,400,274,815, compared with $34,462,877,181 a year earlier.

GASOLINE STOCKS AND OIL OUTPUT SET NEW MARKS

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Crude oil production and gasoline stocks both increased to record highs for this season in the week ended Jan. 15.

Estimates by the American Petroleum institute today indicated crude flow jumped 39,800 barrels daily to 3,476,900 barrels, 9 per cent above a year ago. Finished and unfinished gasoline stocks rose 1,616,000 barrels to 80,947,000 barrels, 21 per cent above the corresponding 1937 week.

The bureau of mines in Washington, D. C., forecast that a daily average of 3,438,200 barrels of domestic and crude oil would be needed to meet the February market demand, 31,400 barrels higher than the January estimate. The bureau figured the domestic motor fuel demand for February at 32,550,000 barrels, 2 per cent higher than the apparent demand last February.

ERIE RAILROAD FILES PETITION TO REORGANIZE

Takes Step After RFC Refuses Aid.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The Erie railroad, operating a 2,284 mile railroad system between Chicago and New York, today began reorganization proceedings under the federal bankruptcy act because of its inability to meet immediate obligations totaling about $2,000,000.

Decision to file proceedings under section 77 of the amended bankruptcy act was announced after a special meeting today of the road's directors. The action was taken by the road after the refusal of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to advance it further credit.

Will Continue Operation.

Federal Judge Samuel H. West signed an order permitting the present management to continue operations during the reorganization. He ordered that the road's books be closed as of tonight and a new set opened tomorrow. Judge West set Feb. 14 for a hearing to consider the appointment of trustees.

Securities of the railroad dropped sharply on the New York market after the announcement of the board's decision. The system's general lien 4 per cent bonds fell $7.50 to $25.50 and the first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, due 1996, dropped $5.25, per $100 par value, to $50.75. Erie common stock tumbled $1 a share to $3.

Plight of Railroads.

The bankruptcy action today brought into relief the dire financial condition of many of the country's railroads which are now seeking authority to advance freight rates 15 per cent. The Erie is the first important carrier to seek financial refuge in the federal court since the New Haven filed reorganization proceedings in October, 1935. Nearly one-third of the country's railroad mileage is now under jurisdiction of the courts.

The reorganization petition estimated that the road's revenues to March 1, 1938 would be $8,465,000 under the amount needed to meet maturities, interest and operating expenses. The principal obligations maturing consist of leased line rentals, equipment trust payments and interest.

Dispute with RFC.

A dispute between the RFC and the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, which controls the Erie, preceded today's bankruptcy action. The RFC, already a creditor of the Erie for $16,000,000, refused to advance an additional $6,006,000 needed by the road, unless the C. & O. would guarantee payment or supply additional collateral. The C. & O. refused to meet these demands.

Both roads are units of the "Van Sweringen" system. Two other roads of the system, the Missouri Pacific and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, are undergoing reorganization.

The Erie has about $85,000,000 of bonds held by the public and an additional $2,500,000 of equipment trust certificates. The carrier is one of the historic American roads, being the first rail link between the Atlantic and the Great Lakes.

Approves $3,500 a Month Trustee Drawing Account

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday approved a drawing account of $3,500 a month for Willoughby G. Walling, trustee of the Utilities Power and Light corporation. A payment of $10,000 on account to Walling's attorney, Melvin Hawley, was approved. Hearings will be continued today by Judge Holly on the right of the Webster Security company to vote the 130,000 shares of Utilities Power stock which it holds.

BROOKE ELECTED BY NICKEL PLATE, PERE MARQUETTE

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—George D. Brooke, who recently was elected president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company, yesterday was elected president of the Nickel Plate and the Pere Marquette railroads, subsidiaries of C. & O. He formerly was executive vice president and a director of both roads.

Brooke succeeds W. J. Harahan, who died last Dec. 14, as president of the three railroads.

Directors of the Nickel Plate elected Robert R. Young of New York and W. J. Stevenson of Cleveland to fill vacancies on the board.

The Chesapeake and Ohio today reported December net income of $2,817,077 after all charges, a decrease of $1,670,755 from December, 1936. For the year ended Dec. 31, C. & O. reported net income of $34,034,268, a decrease of $9,461,823 from 1936.

INVESTING FIRMS' ASSETS REFLECT SECURITIES DROP

Reflecting the drop in security prices in the latter part of 1937, several additional investing companies yesterday reported sharply lower net asset values as of Dec. 31, 1937, compared with the end of 1936.

The Incorporated Investors, Boston, reported that net resources at the end of 1937 at market values amounted to $47,659,549, equivalent to $15.90 a share, on 2,996,694 shares of capital stock. This compared with net resources on Dec. 31, 1936, of $77,305,950, equivalent to $25.77 a share on 3,000,000 shares. Net income for the year was $2,082,593, exclusive of $1,645,497 net gain on sales of securities, against net income of $2,069,183 and profit on sales of securities of $7,115,482 in 1936.

The General Capital corporation, Boston, reported net asset value at the end of 1937 was equivalent to $27.62 a share, against $43.84 a share on Dec. 31, 1936.

Walter E. Vincent, president of Central Illinois Securities corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday the net asset value of the preference stock on Jan. 15 was $13.75 a share against $11.90 on Dec. 31, 1937, and $18.26 on Dec. 31, 1936.

WIDELY VARIED MANUFACTURING AIDS CHICAGO

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

A highly diversified group of major manufacturing industries, many of them still maintaining pay rolls at or close to the 1937 average level, has served to minimize the effect of the new depression in the Chicago industrial area.

Many of these industries, dependent chiefly on farm production and income for their activity, have felt only mild repercussions of the new busines slump, which has had a drastic effect in many specialized industrial centers like those of Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.

Chicago's industrial greatness to a big extent is dependent on agriculture. This city is the most important food products center of the country and a large part of its factory output goes to agricultural consumers. Cash income of farmers in 1937 was

Large Farm Production.

Within a radius of 500 miles from Chicago nearly one-third of the country's agricultural output is produced. In the same radius there is produced almost one-fifth of the manufactured goods, one-fourth of the iron ore and one-sixth of the coal. The same area transacts 17 per cent of all wholesale trade.

The balance goes further than that between manufacturing, agriculture and trade. Each of the three divisions has its own broad diversification, notably manufacturing.

There are six major industries in the immediate Chicago industrial area, each of which employs upwards of 25,000 workers, a survey shows. No one industry employs more than 15 per cent of total factory workers and in combination the six account for about 64 per cent of the total factory employment.

The six leading industries are steel, food products, machinery, printing and publishing, clothing, and agricultural implements. The steel mills and food products plants together employ more than 125,000 wage earners.

Many in Printing Field.

In and around Chicago there are approximtely 40,000 workers in the printing and publishing and allied industries, 25,000 in agricultural implement plants, 50,000 in electrical and other machinery establishments and more than 30,000 making men's, women's and children's clothing.

There are upwards of 25,000 work-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Stock market prices closed irregularly lower today after fresh selling caused reaction from a firm opening and chopped fractions to around 2 points from active shares. Volume for the day was 779,060 shares, the smallest full day's turnover since Dec. 1.

A sharp drop in Erie railroad and liquor stocks featured the day's dealings. The weakness in the Erie followed the disclosure that the road was seeking reorganization under section 77B of the federal bankruptcy act. The common, first and second preferred issues of that road broke to new lows for the 1937-'38 period with losses of 1 to 1¼ points. Turnover in these shares increased precipitately.

The weakness in the distillers' group also weighed on the rest of the list. Sharp losses were registered by National Distillers, Schenley and Distillers-Seagram, reflecting the overnight announcement by National Distillers Products corporation that it was canceling its price maintenance contracts. Traders feared a price cutting war was likely to result.

Indecision was the dominant note in the remainder of the industrial sector. Steels were actively traded and closed fractionally lower for the most part.

Coppers gave up fractions in relatively heavy supply.

Gold mining stocks were buoyant. Homestake made a new high.

Selling in public utility shares subsided and the group closed unchanged to slightly lower.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Railroad issues were the target of heavy selling in the bond market today. News of the Erie bankruptcy released selling orders that caused losses in a wide range of carrier bonds.

United States government bonds advanced again on the heaviest transactions recorded in several weeks. Gains ranged from 1-32 to 17-32 of a point. The trend in other bonds was mixed.

Erie bonds showed the biggest losses in the railroad list. Issues of other "Van Sweringen" lines were sympathetically weak, including liens of the Nickel Plate. Among the Erie issues which dropped sharply were Erie and Jersey 6s, which closed 13 points lower at 61; Erie 1st 4s which fell 7½ points to 48½, and the general lien 4s, which closed 7½ lower at 25½.

Nickel Plate 4½s fell 7 points to 45 and the 5½s of the same line closed 14 points lower at 55. Southern Pacific 4½s were down 4¾ at 57¼. The 4½s of the Great Northern dropped 1⅛ to 87½.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved lower yesterday on a trading volume of only 19,000 shares, against 21,000 on Monday and 31,000 a week ago.

The Tribune average of 20 stocks stood at 10.69 at the close, down 0.20 from the preceding close. Of the 80 issues traded, 36 declined, 26 were unchanged, and 18 advanced.

There was active trading in Chicago corporation preference stock, which declined ¾ to 32¾ on sales of 1,550 shares. Chicago corporation common, with a volume of 550 shares, closed at 2⅜, unchanged. Commonwealth Edison dropped ⅛ to 26⅛ on trading of 2,360 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Except for First National bank shares, which declined again, Chicago bank stocks were generally steady yesterday. First National was quoted at $224 bid, $228 asked, off $4 a share from Monday. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company stock was quoted at $104.50 bid, $106.50 asked, up 50 cents a share. Stocks of other loop banks were unchanged.

For the six months ended Dec. 31, 1937, the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit system, including Brooklyn and the Queens Transit system, showed net income of $689,082, or $2.76 per $6 preferred share, compared with $2,-23,177, or $2.41 a common share, in the corresponding 1936 period. Net income for the system in December mounted to $192,516, against $529,938 in December, 1936.

Underwriter Reports Loss.

The First Boston corporation, securities underwriter and distributor, reported for 1937 a net loss of $2,484,-04, after taxes, interest on bank loans, and adjustment of the book value of securities to market value as of Dec. 31. Superpower Systems.

The prefix "super" as applied to a certain type of electric power enterprise does not necessarily imply an unusually large plant. It is used to express certain characteristics. The most important of these are [1] the use, in production, of strategically located and highly economical generating plants, and [2] distribution current by means of transmission lines connecting the various stations such a way that excess output of the plant can be shunted instantly any point where another plant is overloaded by or unable to meet a sudden large demand.

A superpower system may generate its current either from steam produced by coal or from the force of falling water. Plants operated by falling water are called hydro plants; the others, steam plants.

The amount of current demanded consumers varies greatly from hour to hour and season to season. vestment and equipment must be tensive enough to meet the maximum demand. The hookup of several onomical stations not only assures equate reserves of power or potential power, but is advantageous such technical reasons as reduction in fuel consumption per unit of wer sold and reduction of invest nt cost for a given unit of capacity. Fly Kidnap Slayer of Charles Ross to St. Paul—Show How Motorcycle Rider Delivered $50,000 Ransom

Here is a re-enactment of the delivery of the Ross ransom money as told by George Kukovac Jr., motorcycle messenger who tossed $50,000 into a ditch near Rockford. These pictures tell a mysterious story of daredevil speed, eerie signals, and, in the end, a prearranged smashup of the motorcycle to prevent the messenger from following the kidnapers' car.
